9-year old girl recovers from acute liver failure at SUM Ultimate

Bhubaneswar, Aug. 6 (KCN): Astute handling of a critical case of liver failure using Plasma Exchange has helped a 9-year-old girl recover at the SUM Ultimate Medicare (SUMUM) here.

The girl was brought to the hospital recently complaining of jaundice caused due to viral infection and got admitted under Dr. Ayaskanta Singh, Senior Consultant and Head of department of Gastroenterology in the hospital.

The patient was subsequently shifted to the NICU under Dr. Pradip Kumar Dey, Head of the department of Pediatrics and Neonatology, as her condition deteriorated. As the patient was experiencing respiratory distress it was decided by the team of doctors to go for Plasma Exchange, also known as liver dialysis, as the liver transplantation option was not available.

"This process is not generally attempted in case of children," Dr. Gadadhar Panda, Associate Consultant in the department of Gastroenterology, who was leading the procedure, said.

"The death rate in such cases is close to 90 per cent," Dr. Dey said.

Dr. Sambit Bhuyan, Associate Consultant in the Gastroenterology department said the procedure was conducted on the patient after explaining the risk factor and benefit to the parents. Dr. Singh described Plasma Exchange as a rare procedure. After four cycles of the procedure supported by medical management, the patient became conscious with her liver functioning much better. She was subsequently shifted to the hospital in a stable condition. She was able to consume normal food, Dr. Panda said.

Mohammed Nasim, father of the patient, said that though he had taken his ailing daughter to several hospitals, she was not provided the required treatment. Her problem was properly diagnosed and treated at SUMUM leading to her recovery, he said.

'CTRL': Ananya Panday plays content creator in Vikramaditya Motwane's Netflix thriller

Netflix's upcoming thriller 'CTRL', starring Ananya Panday and Vihaa Samat, is set to release on October 5. Directed by Vikramaditya Motwane, the film's first look was unveiled on October 4. Vikramaditya Motwane's upcoming film, 'CTRL' promises to break away from traditional storytelling, and make you question how much you rely on technology. Starring Ananya Panday and Vihaa Samat, the film will premiere on Netflix on October 4.

Ananya Panday plays Nella Awasthi in 'CTRL' and Vihaa Samat is Joe Mascarenhas. They are a couple who create content together and have a good following on social media. However, after their breakup, things take an ugly turn. The first-look teaser of the film was shared on the official Instagram handle of Netflix India. "Think again. CTRL releases on 4 October, only on Netflix!", read the caption which sounded more like a warning.

After 'Kho Gaye Hum Kahan', this is yet another Ananya Panday film, which will turn the spotlight on the side effects of social media. Ananya Panday, who is thrilled to collaborate with Vikramaditya Motwane and Nikhil Dwivedi for this film, said in a statement, "CTRL is engaging, impactful and definitely makes you wonder if you are truly in control of your life. I truly believe that this film is for everyone, given the exponential advancement in tech and our rising dependency on it. What better platform to reach the audience with a narrative as compelling as CTRL than Netflix?" Director Vikramaditya Motwane added, "With the amount of time we spend on our devices, screen time is now redefined as screen life! The question is, are we actually in control of all the digital extensions of our life, or are we being controlled? That's the answer CTRL tries to explore. For a concept as new-age as this, we not only needed a cast who lives such a life, but a medium like Netflix that's relevant."

'CTRL' will offer a glimpse into a future that could be closer than we imagine. It is set to begin streaming on Netflix from October 4.

'Rautu Ka Raaz' Review: Nawazuddin Siddiqui film has the right amount of thrill

'Rautu Ka Raaz' Review: The film highlights Nawazuddin Siddiqui's role in a thrilling cop drama, set in a small Uttarakhand village. Some films run on good storylines. Some, on star power. But when you see Nawazuddin Siddiqui headlining a project, and that too, a cop thriller, you can't help but take note. That's where Zee5's latest offering, 'Rautu Ka Raaz' comes in. Set in the small, picturesque village of Rautu Ki Beli, the film is about a lazy murder investigation with sharp twists and even sharper turns. Let's decode if the film is worth your time.

Rautu, a small town in Uttarakhand, has witnessed no murders in the last 15 years. As a result, policemen in the village are extremely laid-back. One fine morning, a sleepy Nawazuddin Siddiqui (SHO Deepak Negi) gets a call from Rajesh Kumar (sub-inspector Dimri) about the murder of a warden at a boarding school for the visually impaired. What they initially took for a natural death, turned out to be a never-ending rabbit hole with suspects, murders, disturbing incidents, politics and power.

Nawazuddin Siddiqui leads the ship by playing the rowdy SHO Deepak Negi. By rowdy, we don't mean the typical Bollywood masala film rowdy. He is intelligent, witty, knows when to say no, can get things done, disobeys seniors by standing firm on his grit and is unabashedly himself. He surely takes the bigger piece of the cake. Nawazuddin's comic timing, dialogue delivery, and demeanour have always taken him places. Thankfully, that continues in 'Rautu Ka Raaz' too.

The film shines, thanks to its stellar star cast.

India's Workforce: Employment, Unemployment, Sectoral Shifts

India's workforce is nearly 56.5 crore, with more than 45 per cent employed in agriculture, 11.4 per cent in manufacturing, 28.9 per cent in services, and 13.0 per cent in construction, highlights the Economic Survey. As per the survey, in terms of employment status of workers, 57.3 per cent of the total workforce is self-employed, and 18.3 per cent is working as unpaid workers in household enterprises. Casual labour comprises 21.8 per cent of the total workforce, and regular wage/salaried workers are 20.9 per cent of the total workforce. Gender-wise, the female workforce is shifting to self-employment, while the male workforce's share has been stable. Unemployment remains a significant challenge for India's economic landscape. As one of the world's most populous nations with a diverse workforce, variations in the unemployment rate have profound implications for the country's growth and development. The India Employment Report 2024, produced collaboratively by the Institute for Human Development and the International Labour Organisation (ILO), indicates that India's working-age population rose from 61 percent in 2011 to 64 percent in 2021 and is projected to reach 65 percent by 2036. While the Labour Participation Rate (LPR) rose to 41.4 per cent in June 2024 from 40.8 per cent in May and up from 39.9 per cent in June 2023, the rural unemployment rate rose to 9.3 per cent in June from 6.3 per cent in May. The urban unemployment rate climbed from 8.6 per cent to 8.9 per cent. LPR is made up of people working or willing to work and actively looking for a job among the total working-age population (15 years of age and above). Employment growth in India witnessed a remarkable transformation, with stagnation up to 2019, followed by an upward trend. During 2000-2012, employment grew sluggishly at 1.6%

Prof (Dr.) S N Tripathy

CMIE's Consumer Pyramids Household Survey shows that female unemployment reached 18.5 per cent, exceeding the national average, in June 2024. This is up from 15.1 per cent in the same period last year. At the same time, male unemployment stood at 7.8 per cent, slightly higher than 7.7 per cent in June 2023. The onset of the COVID-19 pandemic sparked a substantial increase in employment, particularly in the agricultural sector, outpacing the growth in agriculture GVA. Capital deepening and technological progress drove labour productivity, leading to a shift from low-productivity agriculture to higher-productivity non-agricultural sectors. While employment in agriculture declined steadily from 2000 to 2019, the construction and service sectors experienced significant growth. However, this transition reversed post-2019, with a resurgence in agricultural employment attributed to economic slowdowns induced by the pandemic.

annually, while gross value added (GVA) surged at a faster pace of 6.2%. This disparity intensified between 2012 and 2019, highlighting the disconnect between GVA growth and employment expansion. However, the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic sparked a substantial increase in employment, particularly in the agricultural sector, outpacing the growth in agriculture GVA. Capital deepening and technological progress drove labour productivity, leading to a shift from low-productivity agriculture to higher-productivity non-agricultural sectors. While employment in agriculture declined steadily from 2000 to 2019, the construction and service sectors experienced significant growth. However, this transition reversed post-2019, with a resurgence in agricultural employment attributed to economic slowdowns induced by the pandemic.

The construction sector exhibited high employment elasticity, albeit dominated by low-wage and informal jobs. Despite robust GVA growth, manufacturing struggled to generate significant employment opportunities, with most jobs being regular or self-employment types. Conversely, the service sector emerged as the primary driver of India's growth, creating productive and decent employment, especially in modern service domains like software, I.T., and financial services. According to the National Sample Survey Office's (NSSO) time use survey, women in the working-age group spend an average of more than two and a half times (7.2 hours) daily on unpaid domestic work compared to men (2.8 hours).

The underrepresentation of women in the workforce is a complex issue triggered by various socio-economic ingredients. Social norms and cultural expectations significantly limit women's participation in the labour market. Traditional gender roles often confine women to domestic responsibilities, making it challenging for them to engage in paid employment. Furthermore, increased enrollment rates in higher education for women have paradoxically led to lower FLFPR in some instances, as many educated women choose to remain out of the labour force due to the lack of suitable job opportunities that match their qualifications and aspirations.

Another critical issue is the quality of employment available to women. Many employed women work in the informal sector, characterized by low wages, job insecurity, and poor working conditions. The gender wage gap persists, further diminishing women's appeal to enter the labour market. Ensuring better job quality and fair wages is crucial for improving women's participation in the workforce.

Most of the workers in India originate from seven states, Bihar, Jharkhand, Odisha, Tripura, Uttar Pradesh, and West Bengal, which, despite their large populations, need more sufficient job opportunities. However, government initiatives are in place, they often fail to be valued by the market during the hiring process, and it is only when wage levels rise that customers begin to demand training, underscoring that without an apparent demand for specific skill sets from end-customers, investment in skilling remains limited, resulting in only a tiny percentage of workers who have undergone government-sponsored training finding sustainable employment. By excluding gig and platform workers from the Code on Wages Act, the government has effectively removed them from the scope of minimum wage laws, equal pay for equal work, Employees' Provident Fund, Employees' State Insurance schemes, and gratuity.

He was welcomed at the airport by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and her entire cabinet. The national anthems of both countries were played at the airport. Thousands of Delhiites were waving to him along the route from the airport to Rashtrapati Bhavan. It is understandable that Sheikh Hasina loves Delhi.

New Delhi(KCN): Eric Trump, son of former US President and current Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump, has slammed British royal Duke Prince Harry and Duchess of Sussex, Meghan Markle, calling them "spoiled apples", and suggesting that his father could deport them if he won the presidential election. "You can happily have those two back," said Eric. "We'll happily send them back from America. You can have them back over here, but I'm not sure if you want them anymore. We might not want them anymore; it feels like they're on an island of their own."

In March, GB News presenter Nigel Farage asked Donald Trump about Harry admitting to using illegal drugs like cocaine and cannabis in

Sheikh Hasina's India stay may be extended, preparations made: Sources

New Delhi(KCN): Security agencies are gearing up for both the short and long-term stay of former Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina in India amid the ongoing violent protests and unrest in the neighbouring country, sources told India Today TV.

Officials have indicated that India is preparing for the possibility of hosting her for an extended period, given the international opposition she faces. The Indian government is working on securing asylum for the 77-year-old Awami League chief in a European country, but her travel plan has hit a roadblock over some 'uncertainties' and she is unlikely to move out of India for the next few days, sources added.

The security agencies' drills also included preparations for Hasina's possible meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, detailing where and how such an encounter would take place.

National Security Advisor (NSA) Ajit Doval is closely monitoring the situation and giving regular updates to PM Modi about Sheikh Hasina's stay plans and over her possible asylum in a European country. Hasina, who landed at the Hindon airbase on August 5 in a C-130J military transport aircraft, is currently residing in a facility nearby, but will be relocated to a more spacious and secure location, sources added. The Indian government is extending all the protocols befitting a Prime Minister or Head of State to Sheikh Hasina.

"The Air Force and security agencies have conducted special drills from Hindon Air Base to Safdarjung and Palam airports in Delhi, considering potential long-term arrangements for Sheikh Hasina. This speculation is strengthened by the presence of her niece, Tulip Siddiq, who resides in north London. Siddiq, the daughter of UK passport holder Sheikh Rehana, serves as a Labour Party Member of Parliament representing Hampstead and Highgate and holds the position of junior minister in the Treasury department.

However, it is also noteworthy that as per asylum procedures, those who need international protection should claim asylum in the first safe country they reach as the fastest route to safety, indicating Sheikh Hasina's extended stay in India. The death toll in the anti-government protests in Bangladesh on Tuesday climbed to 440, with 100 more deaths reported after Hasina fled the country. However, local media reported efforts were on by the Army to bring the situation under control in the violence-hit nation.

Potato From Punjab!

Bhubaneswar(KCN): To control the potato price hike, the State government today said it is planning to procure the tuber from Punjab, even after bringing the kitchen essential from Uttar Pradesh.

The price of potato has increased in Odisha due to inadequate supply from neighbouring West Bengal. "We cannot be blackmailed for bringing potatoes from Bengal. So, for self-respect, we are now procuring potatoes from Uttar Pradesh. If needed, we will procure potatoes from Punjab," Food Supplies and Consumer Welfare Minister Krushna Chandra Patra told media persons here today. He rubbished the reports that the potato from UP is not as good as West Bengal. It is not true that the potato from Uttar Pradesh is not of good quality. The UP potato is much better than Bengal and the price difference due to transportation cost is also maximum one rupee, Shri Patra said. However, to meet State consumers' need, Odisha can procure potato from any other state, he added. The government's action came after the prices of potatoes brought from both UP and West Bengal continue to sell potato at a price range from Rs 40 to Rs 50 a kilogram in Chhatra Bazar, a major wholesale market in Cuttack city on Monday morning. Earlier, Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi had met his West Bengal counterpart Mamata Banerjee in New Delhi on July 27 and requested her to streamline potato supply to the state. However, the price continued to remain high in Odisha markets due to the "erratic supply of potatoes from West Bengal", sources said

Almonds Food for Fitness

Bhubaneswar: Engaging in exercise promotes a healthful lifestyle, but even when performed correctly, exercise causes fatigue and muscle damage. Recovery from exercise is important because it leads to muscle gain and improved fitness over time. A new study involving people who exercise occasionally (less than three times per week) demonstrated that snacking on almonds reduced feelings of fatigue and tension, increased leg and lower back strength during recovery, and decreased muscle damage during the first day of recovery. David C. Nieman, DrPH, FACSM, Professor and Principal Investigator, Human Performance Laboratory, Appalachian State University, led this novel research, supported with funding from the Almond Board of California. Dr. Nieman's team wanted to see if an almond snack compared to a high-carbohydrate cereal bar snack would improve inflammation and recovery in adults engaging in 90-minute exercise sessions. "What we found tells us definitively that almonds should be added to sports nutrition strategies to help people recover better from exercise," explained Dr. Nieman. "Almonds are food for fitness. Carbs get most of the attention when it comes to fueling for exercise, but almonds offer a nutrition package, including good unsaturated fats, the antioxidant vitamin E, and proanthocyanidins (class of polyphenols, which are protective compounds in plants) that help explain the beneficial outcomes in our study." One serving of almonds (28g) has 13 g of good unsaturated fat and only 1 g of saturated fat.

that. Meanwhile, BCB officials said that they are also waiting to see whether they can start their preparation for the upcoming tour of Pakistan that was hampered due to country-wide curfew. On Monday (August 5), the Bangladesh Army announced the formation of an interim government after Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina resigned and fled away from the country in the afternoon.

"We will see the situation for the next two days and later take a decision on our next course of action as far preparation of the national team for the Pakistan tour is concerned," a top BCB official told Cricbuzz on Monday.

It is understood that BCB president Nazmul Hasan, who is current member of the Parliament from Awami League and also the Sports Minister of the country, has also left the country. BCB is yet to determine their next course of action as several board directors who had backed the Awami League government have currently left the country to be in safe places. R Sridhar backs Shubman Gill to be an all-format leader after Rohit Sharma has backed Shubman Gill to be India's all-format leader after Rohit Sharma. Notably, Gill was appointed as the vice captain of the Indian T20I and ODI team for the ongoing tour of Sri Lanka. The youngster pipped several senior players in line such Hardik Pandya and KL Rahul to be awarded the vice captaincy.

Gill recently made his captaincy debut on the tour to Zimbabwe where he led a young team to a 4-1 win in the five match series after losing the first T20I. The opening batter also finished as the highest run scorer of the series with 170 runs to his name from five innings. Commenting on the recent performances of Gill and Yashasvi Jasiwal, Sridhar said that the duo have justified their selections in both ODIs and T20Is. He further called Gill an apprentice to India captain Rohit Sharma and said that he will lead India in all formats after 2027 ODI World Cup. "On current form and going back to the potential they showed in the India-England Test series and even in the ODI games, I think these two are nailing their position in two formats, that is T20Is and Tests. Shubman Gill for me is an all-format player and I think he would be the apprentice to captain Rohit Sharma in Test matches and ODIs. I am sure India will see him as the captain post 2027 World Cup in all formats," told Hindustan Times. Gill announced his arrival in style in Tests with a

New Delhi: Former India cricketer and head coach Rahul Dravid reminisced his fondest memories at the MA Chidambaram Stadium in Chennai during his visit in the TNPL final. Former India cricketer and head coach Rahul Dravid recalled his favourite memories at the MA Chidambaram Stadium in Chennai on his recent visit to the stadium. Notably, Dravid was present during the final of the Tamil Nadu Premier League (TNPL) 2024 between Lyca Kovai Kings and Dindigul Dragons on Monday, August 5. During the game, he got involved in a fun chat where he spoke about his memories of the stadium. Recalling his early days, the 51-year-old spoke about playing league cricket with friends and some fantastic Tests against Australia and England. Lots of matches come mind, winning the World Cup game against Australia, so there are a lot of things that come to my mind at this ground," said in an interview during TNPL final.

2024 Women's T20 World Cup: India among alternate venues on ICC's radar

has emerged as a strong contender.

"The ICC is closely monitoring developments in coordination with the Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB), their security agencies and our own independent security consultants. Our priority is the safety and well-being of all participants," a spokesperson for ICC said on Monday, hours after reports emerged that the country's Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina has fled the country.

Ten teams are scheduled to play 23 matches, over 18 days, at two venues in Bangladesh, the Shere Bangla National Cricket Stadium in Dhaka and the Sylhet International Cricket Stadium in Sylhet from October 3 to 20. But in the current scenario holding the tournament looks difficult and ICC may opt for a country in the same time zone as Bangladesh. Apart from India, UAE and Sri Lanka also fit the requirement.

"All places with favourable weather will be in the mix if it becomes clear that we can't play in Bangladesh. That may or may not be the case," said an ICC member in the know of the developments. After the recent conclave in Colombo, ICC officials had told Cricbuzz that while they were monitoring the situation in the country, there was a sense of optimism that things could get normal soon and there was enough time for the World Cup. But the latest situation has turned serious.

The ICC is expected to speak to the Bangladesh Cricket Board officials (BCB) very soon over the feasibility of holding the tournament in Dhaka and Sylhet. Inputs from the BCB officials will be important but the ICC Board, expected to meet soon, can also take a call that is not necessarily in order with the BCB feedback.

Need to understand why it has happened twice in a row: Nayar on wobbly batting

New Delhi: India's assistant coach Abhishek Nayar admitted there was necessity to head back to the drawing board, and identify the reason for two wobbly batting performances in the ongoing ODI series in Sri Lanka. In the first ODI, India were cruising at 80 for 1 in the 15th over, in chase of Sri Lanka's 230 for 8 before falling to 132 for 5. The lower-order continued to crash and burn as they ended up with a thrilling tie. The second ODI, on Sunday, followed an eerily familiar script as India fell from 116 for 1 to 133 for 5, before falling 32 runs short in chase of Sri Lanka's 240 for 9. "We want to go back and understand, and rectify, why it happened twice in a row. The day before yesterday, we were able to stitch partnerships. But today we lost quite a few wickets in a bundle," Nayar said, in the aftermath of the defeat which gave Sri Lanka an unassailable 1-0 lead in the three-match series.

Nayar even went to the extent of terming the defeat a 'surprise' as the 2023 World Cup finalists succumbed to spin. Jeffrey Vandersay, who replaced the injured Wanindu Hasaranga, spun a web around Indian batters, picking each of the first six wickets to fall. Nayar admitted in conditions that are so conducive to spin, it isn't rare for games to be turned around so dramatically. "Was it a shock? I would say yes, there is a surprise. But you anticipate and understand that in these conditions the game can turn on its head because there is so much spin on offer.

"Even if you look at the last game, it was relatively easy to score against the new ball. As the ball got older, the conditions when batting second got slightly tougher. Sometimes in tough conditions, especially in the 50-over format, this happens," he added, before tipping his hat to the 34-year-old spinner who finished with figures of 6 for 33 in 10 overs. "They bowled well - I think Vandersay bowled the ideal length in these conditions. In such conditions, when the ball is turning and the way Vandersay bowled today, used his finger, and bowled stump to stump - you get these phases when there is assistance from the pitch. I feel today we should give more credit to Sri Lanka." "The last two T20 prepared for it," Nayar opined.

Once Vandersay broke the opening stand with Rohit Sharma's wicket in the 14th over and followed it up with Shubman Gill's in the 18th, India tweaked their batting order a little. Out came Shivam Dube at No.4 ahead of Shreyas Iyer. This however, Nayar revealed, was done to keep the left-right combination going through the middle.

"We lost wickets in the middle phase, which means every middle order batter batted where he was supposed to. It was not as if the middle order batted towards the end. When you look at numbers, sometimes in your head it can play games, if you look at it as No 4 or No 5 or No 6... but if you look at the situation of the game, because we lost wickets, everyone batted in the middle-order."

"So I don't really feel changes... It is perceived as a change but it's more a left and right combination, keeping in mind the conditions, keeping in mind that they had an off spinner and a leg spinner. So the thought process was right. But sometimes when you don't get the result, you kind of question it. But the think tank and the thought process has been about having the left-right combination so that we can capitalise on the conditions," Nayar said.

games assisted spin. When we came here and practised as well, we kind of understood that there will be turn on offer, there will be help and assistance (for the spinners). It wasn't a surprise and we had
