BJD engaging govt officers for party-related work: Odisha Congress

Bhubaneswar (KCN): The Odisha Congress Friday alleged that the ruling BJD is engaging a section of state government employees, including senior bureaucrats, for party-related work.

OPCC campaign committee chairman Bijay Patnaik said “those employees” were under the Congress scanner, urging them not to act as political party leaders.

“You were either

selected by UPSC, OPSC or other recruitment boards. You were not recruited by the BJD. Therefore, you have no reason to be afraid of the ruling party,” he told reporters here. “Such government officers should not go beyond their limits and act as political party leaders. They are under the Congress scanner,” Patnaik said.

BJD leaders could not be contacted for comments. Patnaik claimed that some district collectors in Odisha were “gathering donations for the BJD”, while IPS officers have been threatening opposition party leaders. “We will bring this to the notice of the Election Commission if they do not mend their ways,” he said.

Patnaik, who is also a former chief secretary of Odisha, however, said that the number of such government officials was very small, and the majority of them have “maintained their dignity”.

“If these officials continue to work for the ruling party, the Congress will hit the streets, besides making their names public,” he added.

Bigg Boss Tamil 7: Vanitha Vijaykumar Allegedly Attacked By Evicted Contestant Pradeep Antony's Supporter

Popular south actress and former Bigg Boss Tamil 3 contestant Vanitha Vijaykumar has reportedly been attacked by a man who claimed to be a fan of actor Pradeep Antony, the evicted contestant of the ongoing Bigg Boss Tamil Season 7. Vanitha took to her X (formerly known as Twitter) handle and dropped a shocking photo of her injured face. Her post showed her injured eye, and visibly swollen and discoloured face. The actress, in a series of posts, alleged that she was attacked by a mysterious man in the middle of the night and suspects a 'Bigg Boss Tamil 7' connection. She alleged that the attacker was apparently unhappy with the fact that she supported the red card issued to Pradeep in the Kamal Haasan-hosted reality show. 'Bigg Boss Tamil' season seven is currently in full swing on Vijay TV and Disney Plus Hotstar. Vanitha's daughter Jovika is also one of the contestants. Vanitha, who reviews the show on a daily basis, had a late-night dinner and went to park her car at her sister's place when the unfortunate incident happened.

"Ni support vera (You escaped) and hit me hard on my face and fled away. I was in so much pain bleeding in my face and yelling. No one around was around 1 am. I called my sister to come down she urged me to go report this incident to police but I told her I lost trust in the process (sic)", she further wrote.

She continued, "I took first aid and left home with rage and not able to identify my attacker. He laughed like a lunatic which haunts my ears. Taking a break from everything as I am not in a physical condition to appear on screen. For those who support disturbed ppl danger is just a feet away (sic)." Vanitha, who has been active on social media, continues to express her thoughts and comments on the controversies around the 'Bigg Boss 7 Tamil'. Actor Pradeep Antony recently got expelled from the Bigg Boss Tamil 7 over reportedly his inappropriate behavior towards female co-contestants. Ever, since his exit from the show, the actor has been hitting the headlines for his social media posts. "It is my personal space which I use to share my happiness with my very close ones and not be judged. I hope you understand my situation," he shared.

Prime Video's Maitri: Female First Collective Hosts Its First Session In Chennai

Prime Video released the latest session of 'Maitri: Female First Collective', hosting its maiden discussion in Chennai. Launched last year, the collective is an endeavour to create a safe space where women from the Indian media and entertainment industry can come together to discuss their experiences, challenges and successes, and offer their perspective on bringing about a positive shift. The session featured 8 eminent women from India's various entertainment industries, ranging from award-winning prolific actors who have worked across languages like Malavika Mohanan, Aishwarya Rajesh and Madhoo, to women who have left an indelible mark behind the camera, like creator, writer, showrunner & producer Reshma Ghatala, writer & director Swathi Raghuraaman, and cinematographer Yamini Yagnamurthy, in addition to Aparna Purohit, creator - Maitri & head of India Originals, Prime Video, and Smriti Kiran, creator and curator of Maitri & founder, Polka Dots LightBox. Sharing personal anecdotes, the participants discussed the existing gender dynamics in the film industry, the challenges faced by female professionals, including stereotyping, colourism, ageism, and much more.

Surprisingly, the women noted how the issues were similar irrespective of whether they worked in front of the camera or behind it, or whether they worked in production or corporate roles. The core discussion also touched upon the true essence of feminism and empowerment, what gender-equality really means for the trailblazers gathered in the room. An interesting insight that was shared by all was that true equality can be achieved when the industry stops tagging a particular role, a narrative or a job as woman-oriented or male-oriented. The group as a whole agreed that age-old conditioning often restricts the personal and professional growth potential of women, and can be changed only if it is internalized in one's home and social environment. The interaction also highlighted the critical role that streaming was playing in improving female representation, creating new opportunities for actors, regardless of their age, body size, or skin colour, and for creators to tell all kinds of unique stories.

"Equal representation opens up a new world for young girls to draw inspiration from, making it all the more important to have women in positions of influence, where they can provide a platform for newer voices and open up doors for more women," said Aparna Purohit, creator - Maitri & head of India Originals, Prime Video. New global disorder and Poly Crises

India is a large and complex economy that faces many challenges and opportunities in its quest for growth and development. The country has undertaken various reforms to address its challenges and leverage its opportunities. India is one of the fastest-growing economies in the world with population of over 8 billion and global GDP amounted to about $84.96 trillion. However the country also faces many economic challenges and has taken various reforms to address them. In comparison to other country now the Japan once the most highly rated economy, is officially in recession, with its GDP shrinking for two consecutive quarters. United Kingdom, currently a pale shadow of its past glory and long discounted as a major economy, has also just landed in recession posing questions about

Uma Shankar Prasad

P.M. Rishi Sunak's economic policies. Underlying all Japan's problems is its shrinking population. Japan is showing the changes that overcome a country when population is shrinking rapidly. The once dominant industrial sector is facing shortages of hands. Domestic consumption is down by close to 1% year on year in the last qtr. The Japanese Yen is eroding. It went down by 6.6% over last year, against the US dollar. Germany, which is currently number three economy in the world in terms of its GDP size, is facing deep uncertainties on many fronts. German economy is rather uncomfortably dependant on exports for its survival. Its benchmark industry, automobiles, is facing existential threat from Chinese auto makers. As the world is drifting fast towards electric vehicles, the big German cars are ill-suited to change over to electric traction from international combustion engines. The electric cars demand better technology for energy storage and these need specialised metals. Battery technology so far as not one of the strong

The latest in the punishment schedule has been the head of the securities market in China. The Chinese stock market was going through a rough patch and the markets slid. The foreign investors had also withdrawn funds from the Chinese market. Even in the midst of an early recession, the observers believe the Japanese economy will climb out of a recession shortly. Nikkei, the Japanese stock market index is at record high at 38k and the index is rising still. There is currently every reason why the global economic situation should turn turtle and nose-drive into a deeper fall. After all, wars are raging in Europe and in the Middle East. America and China are having skirmishes in the South China Sea and over Taiwan. Some analysts are describing that the world is facing "poly Crises", some are describing it as the 'new Global Disorder'.

MAKE GOD YOUR FRIEND

Prof. Dr. Umesh Chandra Patra

The moment you try to make them to realize about truth of life, positives about spirituality and God. Most unfortunate is, when one is penny less, all the friends would ditch you out from their company. Have the money and honey you see butterfly are hovering around you.

Such friends are migratory. It is difficult to find a true friend who would support one during his sorrow as well be a partner of one's happiness. God is a very strong and supportive friend. One needs to surrender to HIM for all the help. One can talk to God. God listens every one. At time HE helps. Accepting God, as a best friend one is at peace of mind and satisfaction. Friend, friendship is a relation with love. Spiritual love is eternal. One's heart would be full of bliss. Oh! God, could you be my friend?

Why cannot we make God as our friend? Friends are like migratory birds but not God. Have money and walk on the path of negatives-life, you would have many friends. They will force you to accompany them for all activities which go against self, society and nation.

impossibility was made possible, to win over the evil. Friendship is indeed a good guide and helps to solve many problems during the individual journey, the life. The human mind is full of feelings and emotions. A friend helps support of one's inner necessity of emotional disturbances. Sharing sorrow, sorrow reduces and happiness increases in many fold.

On the journey of earthly life, people take some wealth for expenses and when they finish the journey and reach the goal, they hand over the balance to some trusted friend and sleep soundly. Everyone brings the wealth of love from the moment of his birth. In the field of activity, that is the world, it is difficult to safeguard the wealth of love. Then only you can taste the sweet juice. That is why the Vedas describe God as the Essence of Juice.

By pure love, you should establish unity with Divine[god]. The path of love is the straight forward road to realise Divine. The human life is a journey from I to We, from the individual self to the state of merger with the Divine.

Role of Spirituality & Mental Health

abuse and alcoholism when the person tries to seek a high from the low of depression by these addictive substances and gets hooked to them. Is there a spiritual dimension in the causation or management of depression? The answer is an unequivocal 'Yes', something corroborated by individuals, spiritualists and international scientific bodies of mental health professionals. The World Psychiatric Association — the umbrella body of 130 psychiatric societies across the world having more than 200,000 psychiatrists as members — has a section on religion and spirituality in mental health. There can be acute or chronic, mild, moderate or severe manifestations of depression; essentially consisting of sadness, lack of interest, fatigue, feelings of doom, insecurity about the future, feelings of guilt about the past, ideas of worthlessness, hopelessness and helplessness, ideas or plans of self-harm and lack of purpose along with inability to carry out day-to-day functioning.

Depression is also very closely linked to substance medication or therapeutic interventions the person may require.

Spiritual management could help prevent future symptoms, improve well-being, promote emotional and spiritual health as well as build resilience. Spirituality can create a connection with God as a source of strength, guide and companion. It may also help if one believes in the afterlife, thereby giving meaning and purpose to life. The belief of events happening with a purpose and sense of benevolence in the universe, helps one deal with internal and external stresses. These are not seen as the 'end, but as a bend' which may take us to a new experience. Positive role models and learning by experience, a spiritual lifestyle, apart from support of a spiritual group are all protective and promotive forces. It also helps focus on gratitude for that which is still fine in life and receiving grace from the universe and higher power. It helps to become aware of karmic patterns in life and the acceptance of the world as play or drama.

Spirituality helps us focus on forgiveness — self and others; past or present — a key component in handling depression. The core issue in depression is faulty and negative thinking and distorted perceptions for which cognitive behaviour therapy (CBT) has been found to be very useful. Spiritually augmented CBT is the process of modifying one's thinking, belief systems, perceptions and behaviour through spiritual belief systems. Some useful principles are learning to put a 'full stop' to the past or recurring thoughts; 'letting go' of negative thoughts, situations or persons; 'checking and changing' disturbance of the mind; 'being a witness' to events and remaining a little detached; 'being a trustee' and not take excessive, sometimes self-burdening responsibility; 'SOS' (stepping back, observing and steering the negative into positive) and being cognisant that whatever the thoughts or situation, 'This too shall pass'.

There is now a lot of research into the effect of prayers, focused breathing and pranayama, mantra chanting and spiritual music for mental health promotion. There is also research, indicating the positive role of hope, empathy, compassion, contentment, unconditional love and selfless service for overcoming depression. A spiritual way of life can be very useful for family members and caregivers, including healers and medical professionals, to overcome their own stress and compassion fatigue.

Intense, inward looking meditative practices for those in severe depression can be dangerous. One also needs to guard against imposition of religious and spiritual beliefs or exploitation of a depressed person, including guilt-inducing, or involvement in violent means to an end. This is neither spiritual nor should be acceptable by sects or religious organisations and societies.

Kolkata's 'Unnamed' Wins Best Experimental Film at Asian Talent International Film Festival 2024

Kolkata (ADVAITA SETH): In a moment of recognition for the burgeoning young talent in Kolkata's experimental genre, "Unnamed," a film crafted by a young crew, has recently been honoured with the Best Experimental Film award at the Asian Talent International Film Festival 2024. The festival, held in Aurangabad and organized by the Asian International Cultural Centre, featured over 700 films from 23 countries, with only 100 films officially selected for the 10 main competitive categories, and "Unnamed" stood out among the top contenders.

Scripted and directed by Sauvik Pandit, an alumnus of the esteemed Satyajit Ray Film & Television Institute (SRFTI) in Kolkata, "Unnamed" had already garnered acclaim by winning the Best

Experimental Film award at the West Bengal International Film Festival. This recent recognition at the Asian Talent International Film Festival further solidifies the film's unique position in the realm of experimental cinema. "Unnamed" is a 63-minute black-and-white film that pushes the boundaries of film form, language, visual grammar, and non-diegetic sound. The experimental narrative weaves a complex structure, exploring the never-ending journey of the protagonist, portrayed by Aadesh Gupta, in a non-linear fashion. The film delves into the conflicts of a character on a quest for identity, intricately tied to an enigmatic antagonist, played by Aarshi Roy Chowdhury. The narrative unfolds as a tribute to world cinema, incorporating visual and textual references from various films. The film's synopsis reveals a psychological journey where the protagonist, Aadesh Gupta, embarks on a quest to rediscover his identity. Along this journey, he encounters the antagonist, Aarshi

Chowdhury, who leads him through intricate psychological conflicts. As the protagonist seeks resolution to his existential crisis, he discovers that the journey is incomplete without the presence of the antagonist. The narrative evolves into a loop of time and space, where each ending marks a new beginning, creating an eternal unnamed journey. "Unnamed" was crafted on a modest budget of 5,000 INR, showcasing the filmmakers' dedication to pushing the boundaries of experimental cinema without the need for extravagant production costs. The film's success at the Asian Talent International Film Festival 2024 underscores the potential and innovation within Kolkata's emerging experimental genre, setting the stage for more groundbreaking productions in the future.

"Don't Give Another Competitive Country Veto Over Our Policy Changes": S Jaishankar

New Delhi (KCN): External Affairs Minister, S Jaishankar on Friday said that India should not give power to other countries to influence its policy changes and should be confident enough to "leverage the international system to create the best possible outcome" for itself. "Today, when I say think through your own solutions is don't give another country which is clearly a competitive country a veto over our policy changes. Unfortunately, in past, it has happened. We should be confident enough to leverage the international system to create the best possible outcome," he said while participating in a panel discussion at the Raisina Dialogue 2024 in the national capital.

Addressing a question on India-China bilateral relations, the External Affairs minister said that the biggest challenge for both the countries would be that instead of getting caught up in "mind games", India should harness other factors to get better terms to arrive at an equilibrium and then maintain it.

He said that the immediate issue between India and China was the latter's decision to make a departure from border agreements put in place in the late 1980s.

"There was a departure after almost after 30 years, a departure on their side in terms of how they behaved on the border. And there is a pushback from our side. So, I think arriving at equilibriums then maintaining those is going to be one of the biggest challenges for both countries. It is not going to be easy," Mr Jaishankar said.

"The mind games which were being played, would be just between the two of us (India and China), there is nobody, other 190 odd countries in the world don't exist in our relationship. That will be the mindgame which will be played. I don't think we should play it. Because if there are other factors out there in the world, which can be harnessed by me to get better terms on an equilibrium. Why should I forgo that right," the minister said.

Mr Jaishankar said further, "Now, the international relations version of that issue would be if both of us are moving vice versa each other or vis-a-vis the world. How do we construct an equilibrium? There will be occasions when one or the other would want to change to do something to press form a particular advantage, the other will resist." On February 19, India and China held the 21st round Corps Commander level meeting at the Chushul-Moldo border to defuse tensions along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Eastern Ladakh since the standoff between the two countries in May 2020.

"The discussions built on the previous rounds, seeking complete disengagement in the remaining areas along the LAC in Eastern Ladakh as an essential basis for restoration of peace and tranquillity in the India-China border areas," an official statement read.

Mumbai kick-start title defence with stunning last-ball heist

NEWDELHI: S Sajana marked her debut with a first-ball six of her Women's Premier League career and a last-ball six of the WPL 2024 opener, which powered Mumbai Indians to a winning start in the campaign against Delhi Capitals at the M Chinnaswamy Stadium in Bangalore on Friday. Needing five runs to win off the last ball, Sajana tonked Alice Capsey over the long on boundary to seal a 4-wicket win for her side.

A sluggish start for DC Put in to bat, Delhi Capitals got off to a watchful start, and lost Shafali Verma early, knocked over by Shabnim Ismail, who was also marking her debut for the franchise. Meg Lanning and Alice Capsey took some time to get going on a track where the ball wasn't coming on easily early on. They managed to score only 26 runs in the powerplay - the least by the franchise.

Lanning, Capsey accelerate

While Capsey took a few chances early on, especially against Nat-Sciver Brunt, Lanning stayed at the other end for most parts of the powerplay. She cut loose eventually against S Keerthana in the seventh over, taking advantage of the fraction of room provided on the offside. She even went down the track against Amelia Kerr and eventually helped DC go past the run-a-ball rate by the end of the 10th over.

The pitch eased out for stroke-making in the second half of DC's innings, and after Lanning departed, Capsey sustained the attack and even used some unconventional strokes to play around with the field. DC pick up in the death Jemimah Rodrigues was put under pressure early on by Pooja Vastrakar and Saika Ishaque, managing only four runs off the first eight deliveries before she sliced the left-arm spinner over the inner ring on the offside and found a mistimed boundary. However, she too found her groove as the innings progressed and smartly worked around the gaps and the boundary dimensions to get a more regular flow of boundaries. In the last 40 balls, DC scored 78 runs. Much of that was aided by a series of poor efforts on the field - misfields, overthrows and three dropped catches. Capsey's 53-ball 75 and Rodrigues's 24-ball 42 eventually paved the way for DC's competitive 171 for 5

DC strike early

Marizanne Kapp ensured the late momentum with the bat was carried through to the bowling as well, starting off with a wicket maiden. Hayley Mathews was caught behind off an inswinger off the second ball and Sciver-Brunt was at sea against the South African seamer early on. Shikha Pandey also bowled a couple of tight overs, but it didn't take much time for Sciver-Brunt and Yastika Bhatia to assert their dominance. They took the attack on and piled on 50 runs in the powerplay. Yastika keeps MI's chase smooth Arundhati Reddy struck off her first ball of the day, cleaning up Sciver-Brunt - whose attempted 'Natmeg' failed and she yorked herself. Nonetheless, Yastika joined forces with Harmanpreet and kept the attack going. She powered along to a 45-ball 57 and it forced Lanning to hold back Radha Yadav, the premier spinner, till the 11th over of the run chase.

With dew coming in a bit, the role of the spinners was negated, and with the pacers leaking runs, Lanning was forced to use up the overs of Kapp earlier than she would've liked. At the end of the 12th over, MI were well-placed at 105 for 2, with two set batters in the middle. However, Reddy returned to the attack and dismissed Yastika, who miscued an offcutter to Kapp at deep mid wicket. It allowed DC to bring themselves back into the contest.

Harmanpreet was busy in the middle, picking up quick singles and twos, and also latched on to opportunities to pick up boundaries in the company of Amelia Kerr.

The late drama
Needing 22 to win off the last 13 balls, Kerr was undone Shikha Pandey's cross-seam delivery which hit the stumps as a low full toss. It turned the tide of the contest. Annabel Sutherland followed up with a fine penultimate over, bringing the equation down to 18 off 7 before Harmanpreet ended it by smashing a low full toss for a six towards wide long on.

Devon Conway withdrawn for final T20I; Warner ruled out

NEW DELHI: Wicketkeeper-batter Devon Conway has been withdrawn from New Zealand's T20I squad for the final fixture following an injury he sustained in the second game on Friday (February 23). Tim Seifert has been brought in as Conway's replacement.

Conway suffered a thumb injury while keeping and couldn't bat during New Zealand's chase. He will now return home to Wellington and see a hand specialist to ascertain the extent of the injury.

Seifert himself was not part of the squad because of being ruled out with a torn abductor, but has since passed a fitness test in Hamilton to be able to join up with the squad for the last T20I in Eden Park. New Zealand will also have fast bowler Jacob Duffy joining the squad as cover for the bowling group. Meanwhile, Rachin Ravindra, who missed the second game through a left knee injury will be monitored over the next 24 hours before deciding on his availability for the last game on Sunday (February 25).

New Zealand are expected to also add an additional batting cover as precaution, the announcement of which is expected later on Saturday (February 24). David Warner ruled out. In the Australia camp, opener Warner has been ruled out of the last game of the series due to an adductor injury. Cricket Australia stated however, that it will not affect his participation in the upcoming season of the IPL in March and the T20 World Cup that follows. In the absence of Warner, Steve Smith will get another game at the top of the order alongside Travis Head. Australia are also expected to rest Pat Cummins and Josh Hazlewood for Sunday's fixture. The visitors have already pocketed the series 2-0.

Rohit Sharma - the astute leader on assault mode

New Delhi: A highly respected Indian cricket legend recently made a distinctive observation about four of the most celebrated Indian batsmen from different eras. He stated, "Sunil Gavaskar knew how to score centuries, while GR Viswanath did not. Virat Kohli knows how to score centuries, but Rohit Sharma doesn't."

It's essential to note that this remark was not intended to disparage any of these batsmen. The legend did not mean to criticize them. Nevertheless, he preferred to remain anonymous when sharing his thoughts during the India-Bangladesh game in Pune recently. Shortly after this conversation, Virat Kohli managed to achieve a century in the most unlikely situation during the match, after Rohit Sharma had laid a solid foundation for the victory as if to prove the point that legend was making.

"It's not like I just have to go and swing the bat. I have to swing it well, play well and keep the team in a good situation. This is my mindset," Rohit replied, stating that he has inherent advantages being an opener. "I have that advantage or you can call it a benefit that I am starting the batting and there is no pressure of wickets because everything is 0-0, so when you have to start like that, you can be fearless and you can play the way you want to play," Rohit explained in a tone that only reflected an assertion that he is only doing his job. Rohit has scored 398 runs at an impressive average of 68, including one century and two half-centuries. His ability to provide a strong platform for other batters has been instrumental in India's unbeaten record throughout this campaign. In five out of the six games played, these strong starts whatever the situation demands at that time, I try to play according to the situation," he elaborated on his approach to the batting. Batting apart, it was also obvious that his captaincy stood out during the World Cup so far, and that is something that did not miss the outside attention. "His leadership style reflects the way he bats," remarked MSK Prasad, a former chief selector who has closely observed Rohit's growth as a leader. "He is an assertive and aggressive captain, focused on swiftly finishing things."

MSK went on, "For instance, in today's game between South Africa and New Zealand, he wouldn't have allowed the match to drag on as exceptional, and he stands by players it did. Rohit is also an astute and a cerebral leader, displaying intelligence in making strategic bowling changes. I've heard he excels in understanding the nuances of player match-ups. He actively participates in team meetings covering various aspects such as bowling, batting, and fielding."

Kiran More, another former chief selector who had the opportunity to observe Rohit's development as a captain while being a part of the Mumbai Indians set-up, was equally effusive in his praise. More stated, "We often talk about (MS) Dhoni's cool demeanor, but in reality, Rohit is just as composed. His management skills are even when they haven't performed well. I've witnessed this at the Mumbai Indians team. Whether it's a victory or a loss, Rohit remains equally cool, and his unwavering attitude inspires his players. He may not rely heavily on technology, but his leadership is characterized by simplicity and uncluttered thinking."

But Rohit said the calls he makes are what he thinks are in the best interest of the team. "I totally believe that whatever calls we make on the field, it is in the best interest of the situation of the team and what is going to happen from here on now, next five overs or 10 overs.
