

Statement of Hon'ble Chief Minister on the Motion of Thanks on Hon'ble Governor's Address

Odisha played major positive role in saving people's life across the country by providing Oxygen to 17 States

Bhubaneswar, (KCN): I welcome the speech of Honourable Governor on this august house. One of the major challenges faced during this tenure was the Global pandemic Covid. I am satisfied that the state could put its best efforts and worked as a team and we ended off with one of the lowest fatality rate in the country. From testing to treatment everything was provided free of cost to the people of Odisha and we were perhaps one of the few states who have done it. The oxygen produced in Odisha was helping saving thousands of lives throughout the country. Oxygen was supplied to more than 17 states in the country. It's a heartening moment for people of Odisha that our state played a major positive role in saving people's life across the country.

In this term we conducted Hockey World Cup both in Bhubaneswar and Rourkela as venues. It was my Government's tribute to the Hockey loving people of Sundargarh that hockey world cup was conducted in Sundargarh for the first time. World class stadium was created in record time and hockey fans throughout the world experienced the professionalism of Odisha in hosting such world class events. I feel so blessed that during this tenure the Parikrama project of Lord Jagannath was completed with HIS blessings. As the Gajapati Maharaj said in five hundred years this is the first major work taken up in Shree Mandira for improving devotees experience. I am so grateful for all those who have helped in this project. In addition to Shree Mandir, Maa Samalei Project was also dedicated recently. Almost all the major temples, across the State are being renovated and restored. In addition to these Churches, Mosques, every religious institution of importance are getting renovated. In every Panchayats two or three temples and religious institutions are getting renovated under Ama Odisha Nabin Odisha initiatives. I believe in honouring people's faith and that is the motivation behind taking up renovation and restoration of religious institutions throughout the State cutting across religions. On the day our Ministry took oath I announced the 5T principles of Governance for my Government. I am happy to say at the end of this term that this has been one of the biggest game changers in governance not just in Odisha but throughout the Country. Almost all the High Schools in the State have been converted in to smart High Schools under the 5T initiatives. Almost all the Colleges and Higher Secondary Schools are being transformed under the 5T initiatives. In fact, almost every higher education institutions of Government or Government aided is getting covered under 5T and students have great atmosphere for learning. This is one of the biggest achievements in this term. By implementing 5T principles we have achieved a great deal of irrigation coverage helping the farmers from Lower Suktel to Kanpur irrigation Anandapur barrage and many projects which have been pending for years have all been completed. In addition to that Gangadhar Meher Irrigation Project has been completed in a record time.

PRIME MINISTER OF THE CO-OPERATIVE REPUBLIC OF GUYANA CALLS ON THE PRESIDENT

New Delhi, (KCN): The Prime Minister of the Cooperative Republic of Guyana, H. E. Brigadier (Retd.) Mark Phillips called on the President of India, Smt Droupadi Murmu at Rashtrapati Bhavan today (February 7, 2024). Welcoming Prime Minister Phillips and his delegation, the President said that despite being geographically distant, India and Guyana are connected by virtue of our colonial past; our diverse and multicultural societies; and the strong bonds of culture, traditions and language with the sizeable Indian diaspora community that has made Guyana its home for nearly two centuries. The President said that there is a need to further diversify our bilateral trade basket. There is also immense potential to improve collaboration in the fields of Ayurveda, bio-fuels and agriculture - especially in millets. She added that by working together in these areas, we can address the challenges posed by climate change and by food insecurity. She congratulated Guyana on assuming the rotating Presidency of CARICOM, as well as this month's Presidency of the United Nations Security Council. As leading members of the Global South, she said that both our countries are strong advocates for reformed multilateralism.

The President also appreciated Guyana's efforts and leadership in the areas of climate change, green energy, and sustainable development.

PM Modi Launches Scathing Attack On Opposition

New Delhi, (KCN): In a scathing attack, Prime Minister Narendra Modi asked the Congress why they are questioning the BJP and its policies when they themselves never took a decision to strengthen India's economy when in power.

"In 10 years, we brought the country to no. 5 and Congress wants to preach about economy," PM Modi said while addressing the Rajya Sabha.

"That Congress trying to lecture us? Congress allowed separatism and terror to grow for its own purpose, the congress that gave away a large part of the court... did not allow modernisation of army... is now giving us lectures on security," he added.

Replying to the debate on the Motion of Thanks in the Rajya Sabha, PM

Modi said the Congress party has "outsourced" its work and expressed his sympathies over its downfall.

"The Congress' thought has become outdated and it has outsourced its work. We are not happy at such a downfall of the party and we express our sympathies," he said. In a veiled reference to Congress MP DK Suresh's 'separate country for South India' remark, PM Modi also accused Congress of attempting to create a "north-south divide." "The Congress party killed democracy and that party who dissolved elected governments is creating narratives to divide the country. The Congress is aligned with those trying to break the country and is now talking about breaking south," he said.

Bhubaneswar, (KCN): Ahead of twin Polls in Odisha, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw has fulfilled a long standing demand of people from Western Odisha specially Bolangir district to set up a wagon workshop at Kantabanji, which was announced in 2010. The Ministry of Railways has given the green signal for the establishment of a Wagon Periodic Overhauling (PoH) facility at Kantabanji, following the approval of Rs 244.77 Crore by the Railway Board.

This significant development comes after thorough consideration of a Detailed Project Report (DPR) submitted in September 2023. The proposed Wagon PoH workshop, with a capacity for 200 wagons, will be set up on the vacant land available with Railways at Kantabanji. This decision comes in response to the fervent demands of the local people, including public representatives, who have long advocated for such a facility in the region, railway officials said today. Recognizing the critical need for such a workshop, Shri Vaishnaw had assured local people of his commitment to their aspirations. The approval from the Railway Board underscores the Government's dedication to addressing the needs and concerns of citizens, they said. The establishment of the Wagon PoH workshop holds several key benefits: It will increase the freight traffic in this region, regular Overhauling of Wagons will be maintained well for safe train operations. The life span of wagons will aid in rectifying the wagons which will lead to cost saving on replacements, the officials claimed. These apart, the wagon maintenance will improve efficiency and reliability, resulting in better performance and reduced downtime. The establishment of the Wagon PoH workshop at Kantabanji underscores the Government's commitment to enhancing railway infrastructure and ensuring the safety, reliability, and cost-effectiveness of the railway system.

Ruckus In Odisha Assembly Over Parboiled Rice Collected By Arpan Raths

Bhubaneswar, (KCN): The Opposition BJP members created a ruckus in the Odisha Assembly over the use of parboiled rice as Mahaprasad in Puri Srimandir. Unable to run the House, Speaker Pramila Mallick adjourned it thrice till 4 pm on Wednesday.

As soon as the House assembled for the day in the question hour on the third day of Odisha Assembly budget session, opposition BJP MLAs stormed into the well of the House carrying placards and shouting slogans against the BJD-led government over the alleged use of parboiled rice as Mahaprasad in Puri Srimandir collected during the visit of Arpan Raths in the villages by the Odisha government on the occasion of the Shree Mandira Parikrama Project inauguration. To counter the opposition BJP, the BJD members also raised the minor girl Pari rape and murder issue being politicized by the saffron party. Unable to transact any business due to the chaotic scene in the Assembly, Speaker Pramila Mallick adjourned the house till 11.30 am. When the House reassembled, the Opposition BJP members continued their protest forcing the Speaker to again adjourn it till 12.30 pm. The house was subsequently adjourned till 4 pm by the Speaker due to stiff protest by the Opposition BJP members over the use of parboiled rice in Mahaprasad of the Holy Trinity. The BJD members said

Soon after the house was adjourned, the BJD MLAs gathered at the Mahatma Gandhi statue inside the Assembly premises and demanded an apology from Union Minister Dharmendra Pradhan and BJP Chief Whip Mohan Majhi for politicising the sensational Pari murder issue. On Tuesday, the Special Children Court, Nayagarh sentenced one accused, a juvenile to 20 years of rigorous imprisonment in the sensational rape and murder case of Nayagarh. Orissa HC Directs Govt To Include Public Representatives In Nabin Odisha Project Selection Cuttack, (KCN): The Orissa High Court today directed the State Government to give priority to Sarpanches and other elected public representatives in the selection of projects under the "Ama Odisha Nabin Odisha" programme. However, the court refused to interfere in the project implementation.

Several people's representatives at the grassroots level approached the High Court alleging that the government is ignoring them during the selection of projects in the "Ama Odisha Nabin Odisha" programme. In this regard, about 42 cases were filed in the Orissa High Court from various parts of the state.

As per the guidelines, the developmental works to be executed under 'Ama Odisha Nabin Odisha' are being done by any department engaged by the government or any agency engaged by the BDO or the District Collector. # Temples Of Khajuraho

India is known to have more than 2 million Hindu temples. These temples reflect the variety of Indian culture and way of life. Temple architecture in India has always embodied an underlying vision. It is a representation of experience, space and time.

The art and architecture involved in the construction of Hindu Temples is well defined in the Shilpa Shashtra. It mentions three main kinds of temple architecture in India: Nagara or the Northern Style, Dravida or the Southern style and Vesara or the Mixed style.

The defining features of a Nagara style are Garbhagriha (Sanctum Sanctorum), Shikhara (Curvilinear tower), and Mandapa (Entrance Hall). The Nagara style developed gradually as the earlier temples had only one Shikhara, while the later temples were constructed with multiple Shikharas and the Garbhagriha can always be found under the tallest tower.

The Temples of Khajuraho are a magnificent example of the Nagara style of temples as the temples consist of a sanctum, a narrow ante-chamber (antarala), a transept (maha mandapa), additional halls (ardha mandapa), a mandapa and a nave and an ambulatory reflect the four goals of life in Hinduism, viz, dharma, kama, artha, moksha.

The monuments built by the Chandellas were famous for their architectural and sculptural glory. The Chandellas were also said to have been inclined towards Vaishnavism and Jainism as well.

The carvings at the temples seem to be predominantly about Hindu deities and mythology. The architectural style also follows Hindu traditions. This can be validated by various factors. A predominant feature of the construction of a Hindu temple is that the face of the temple should be towards the direction of sunrise. All the temples of Khajuraho have been built with this in mind. Moreover, the carvings

These sculptures are believed to reflect the idea of female beauty and fertility. Other scenes depicted on the walls of the temples are a part of the Narathara (the human life cycle) signifying how sexual procreation and kama are an essential aspect of human life.

The major focus of the study of the Temples of Khajuraho have been on the sculptures. The walls of these temples have some of the best sculptures of the time, making Khajuraho a representation of excellent artistic features. It is believed that the temples constitute five different sets of sculptures:

the parivara, parsva and avarana devatas the apsaras and the surasundaris secular sculptures of miscellaneous themes (dancers, musicians, disciples and domestic scenes) mythical creatures (vyalas, sardula and other animals)

These sets of sculptures and erotic images represent scenes from day to day life. Quite a few stories revolve around the history of these temples. One theory posits their construction can be understood as a part of the proliferation of the Siva-Sakti cult. The other theory is that the temples are a representation of the devadasis who were once a major part of the temple activities. The most beautiful women were brought from Magadha, Malwa and Rajputana to be trained as devadasis in Group, the Eastern Group and the Southern Group. The architecture of the Temples of Khajuraho is very complex. The main components of these temples are:

The Garbhagriha (sanctum sanctorum) with antarala, a narrow antechamber

The Maha Mandapa, a large hall

The Ardhya Mandapa and a mandapa, which are smaller additional halls

The Pradakshina Path, a circumambulation path.

A few temples at Khajuraho are of the Panchayatana type, with four shrines dedicated to the divinities and often another shrine in front of the portico dedicated to the vahana (vehicle) of the principal deity.

The Temples of Khajuraho are believed to have been built of light-coloured sandstone imported from the quarries of Panna, from the east bank of the Kank River. Iron clamps are also freely employed in the construction of the temples. A few other smaller temples are built partly of sandstone and partly of granite.

Western Group of Temples -

The Western Group of Temples are situated on the west of the Bamitha-Rajnagar road on the banks of Sib-Sagar.

They comprise six major edifices and are dedicated to the Shaivite and Vaishnavite cults.

1) Chausath Jogni Temple

- This temple stands on the low rocky eminence to the south west of the Sib-Sagar Lake. This is the only temple in Khajuraho which is built entirely of granite and is oriented north-east and south-west. The temple stands upon a massive plinth and comprises a courtyard which is 104 feet in length and 60 feet in breadth. The temple premises consisted of 65 small cells, out of which one cell was dedicated to Goddess Kali and the remaining 64 were dedicated to the Yognis, or the female attendants of Goddess Kali, after whom the temple is named. Out of the 65 cells only 35 have survived. No images remain on any of the cells. The cells are roofed with small spires or sikhara, the lower part of which are adorned with triangular ornaments in imitation of the chaitya windows. There is no dated inscription to show the precise age of the temple 2) Kandariya Mahadeva Temple - Largest of all the temples in Khajuraho, it dates back to the 10th century CE. It is 109 feet high and 60 feet wide. The interior arrangement of the temple differs from the usual construction of a Hindu temple as it has an open passage around the sanctum, thus forming a high altar at the inner portion of the temple.

Bade Miyan Chote Miyan- Akshay Kumar & Tiger Shroff Give Jordan A Taste Of Bollywood

The sprawling desert, with its red and yellow dunes surrounded by myriad shaped mountains nestled underneath a clear blue sky with plump clouds, was the chosen spot by filmmaker Ali Abbas Zafar to shoot a song sequence with Akshay Kumar and Tiger Shroff for the much-awaited Bade Miyan Chote Miyan. The filmmaker says "It's a visually stunning place, raw yet majestic. It is untapped and just so enchanting".

In open-air jeeps racing across the sandy expanse, with gusts of sharp cold winds hitting our bare faces, we made our way to the set of the film nestled atop one of Wadi Rum's sandstone peaks. Huddled and swathed in our woollens one could not but applaud the actors (Akshay Kumar, Tiger Shroff, Alaya F and Manushi Chiller) who along with background dancers effortlessly swayed to the beats of the music, and steps choreographed by Bosco Martin, Tiger Shroff sporting a vest which perfectly showed off his chiselled abs, laughed "Fit hone ka faida uthaya jaa raha hai". But jokes apart both Akshay Kumar and Tiger Shroff perhaps of the most disciplined and fittest actors answered in unison, that though used to shooting in varied temperatures, the expanse and beauty of the location made it worth the while. Inviting 50-odd journalists from across India to be part of the film's shoot as well as explore Jordan, Producer Jackky Bhangani reminds us it is 25 years since the first Bade Miyan Chote Miyan (Amitabh Bachchan, Govinda) produced by his father Vashu Bhangani and Pooja Entertainment released. "We wanted to create a mood where those who write on cinema can experience the film set for what it is. Over the years one felt the relationship had become a bit clinical, we all meet during promotions, talk and discuss the film and it is all forgotten. We wanted everyone to experience what went behind the making of a film, as well as explore this amazing place (Jordan). By bringing everyone here we are also creating memories," says Jackky Bhangani. The Peter O Toole and Omar Sheriff Academy award-winning film Lawrence of Arabia (1962) was one of the first films to be shot in Wadi Rum. Its dramatic landscape and its similarity to the surface of Mars made it a huge draw for filming science fiction as well as space related films. Star Wars: The Rise Of Skywalker, Dune, and The Martian were some of the films shot here.

After the set visit, we headed to Aqaba, where we were given a sneak peek into the making of the film at the wrap-up party. High octane action spread across continents, the makers have left no stone unturned in giving us a larger-than-life extravaganza.

The coastal city of Aqaba is arrestingly beautiful, its coastline is divided into four countries Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Israel. One gets a confluence of the many cultures in its food, from succulent Mansaf (a lamb dish) to the mouth-watering Egyptian dessert Umm Ali, it is a gastronomic delight. Though you can lounge along the beaches of the Red Sea at Aqaba, one should not miss the opportunity to take the Dead Sea tour and soak in the natural yet simple beauty of Jordan.

Can Artificial Intelligence Replace Human Intelligence?

Vijay GarG

Artificial intelligence (AI) used to be something we've all heard of but didn't exactly understand or know its real-life applications. But, as free and easy-to-use AI tools like ChatGPT, Midjourney, or Whisper AI become available online, a new AI era has begun. Now, users can generate copy, long content, images, presentations and even websites using simple commands and instructions. It's mind blowing!

But, as it's natural, many wonder, "Can artificial intelligence replace human intelligence?" The short answer is no. AI cannot replace human intelligence entirely. While AI can perform certain tasks more quickly and accurately than humans, it lacks the same level of general intelligence, creativity, and social understanding humans possess. In this blog, we will explore what AI is, its limitations and its possibilities.

What is AI?

Before we dive into the question of whether AI can replace human intelligence, let's first define what we mean by AI. At its core, AI is a technology that enables machines to perform tasks that would typically require human intelligence, such as recognising patterns, making decisions, and processing natural language. AI is often powered by machine learning algorithms, which allow the system to learn and improve over time.

While AI has been around in some form for several decades, recent advances in computing power and data analysis have led to a rapid acceleration in AI development. Today, AI is used in various applications, from self-driving cars to virtual personal assistants.

The Limits of AI

But, despite AI advances and possibilities, it's important to remember that there are limits to what it can do. One major limitation is that AI is only as good as the data it's trained on. If the data is biased or incomplete, the AI system will reflect those biases and limitations.

AI is also incapable of true creativity or innovation. While AI can generate new ideas and solutions based on existing data, it cannot think outside the box and create original ideas. This is because AI is based on algorithms and patterns, whereas human creativity is driven by intuition, inspiration, and imagination. Therefore, AI can be a valuable tool for augmenting human ingenuity but can never replace it.

Additionally, AI is not capable of empathy or emotional intelligence. While AI can recognise and analyse emotions, it can't truly understand them or respond to them in a meaningful way. This means that AI can't replace human relationships or social interactions, as these require a deep understanding of human emotions and behaviours. Therefore, while AI can be a powerful tool for many applications, it's important to remember that it's not a substitute for human intelligence, empathy, and creativity.

The Potential of AI

Despite its limitations, AI has enormous potential to transform many industries and solve some of the world's biggest challenges. As

Andrew Ng, co-founder of Google

Brain and founder of deeplearning.ai, puts it

"It is difficult to think of a major industry that AI will not transform. This includes healthcare, education, transportation, retail, communications, and agriculture. There are surprisingly clear paths for AI to make a big difference in these industries."

AI can help us make more informed decisions by analysing vast amounts of data and identifying patterns and trends humans might miss. This can be especially useful in healthcare and finance, where making accurate predictions and diagnoses can have life-changing implications.

But perhaps one of the most important use case of AI is that it can help us automate repetitive and mundane tasks, freeing up time and energy for more creative and meaningful work. This can improve efficiency and productivity in many industries, from manufacturing to customer service.

Additionally, AI can enable us to create new products and services that were previously impossible by combining data and insights in new and innovative ways. Overall, the possibilities of AI are vast and exciting, and we have only scratched the surface of what this technology can do.

The Importance of Human Input

While AI has enormous potential, it's important to remember that it's not a silver bullet. AI systems require human input and oversight to perform appropriately and make decisions in ambiguous situations.

Ultimately, AI is not a replacement for human intelligence, it's a tool that can help us achieve our goals, but we need to ensure that we use it responsibly and ethically.

Furthermore, humans bring a wide range of experiences, creativity, and intuition to the decision-making process that AI cannot replicate. While AI can process vast amounts of data and identify patterns that humans may miss, it cannot replace the value of human intuition and creativity in decision-making.

It's important to understand that AI isn't a replacement for human intelligence. It's an extension of it. It can help us to make better decisions and to be more productive, but it can't replace the value of human intuition and creativity.

The Future of AI and Human Intelligence

So, what does the future hold for AI and human intelligence? AI will likely continue to advance and become more sophisticated, enabling it to perform an even wider range of tasks. However, there will always be tasks and problems that require human input and creativity.

Supreme Peace and Eternal Happiness

of that unceasing and eternal soul." Realising this we should exert for those pursuits whose affects are far reaching and lasting.

While we seek happiness in acquiring more material prosperity, we just give more importance to external glamour. When pursuing this goal we just disregard internal and more enduring things.

We remain obsessed / judgemental about our external wellbeing. Being judgemental is just the enemy of our happiness. We surround ourselves with material objects that make us feel comfortable, yet show and get obsessed to getting this fructified even at the cost of anything. This should always be borne in mind for acquiring the traits of eternal happiness.

While everyone wants to be happy and no one wants to suffer, very few understand the real cause of happiness and suffering. We spend almost all our time adjusting to the external world, and trying to make it conform to our wishes. We judge others by external pump and we do not find pure and lasting happiness. This quest for happiness is as old as humanity itself. Happiness is a state of mind marked by joy, contentment, freedom, and absence of misery. Human beings dedicate most of their energies to realize this objective. If we study this subject from the scientific angle, we will observe that it is our mind that experiences happiness, misery and other emotions. Therefore, the crucial thing from the point of view of attaining true happiness is to compassion, find ways to empathy and control and benevolence. The persistent and silent pursuit of mind. This is also the message of Vedanta, which teaches a number of ways to attain enduring joy.

Peace shouldn't be mistaken as absence of distressing thoughts, emotions or dominating desires. It is rather a perfect state of equanimity and joy more profound and eternal. It can be cultivated by practicing meditation and executing simple human virtues like acceptance, forgiveness, mindfulness, integrity,

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor

Our children need to look up to us in a way that we do very interesting positive work to protect and conserve our already highly fragile and endangered ecosystems and environments. We need to provide them with something which they explore while growing up to be very important, interesting and connected to their lives directly and indirectly. Only then will our next generation be very happy to see that apart from securing wealth, social status and prosperity; their parents have done or achieved something big or significant into meaningful giving back to the society and our environment. When we continue to ignore the poor and our planet earth, both at our own peril... one cannot just only think about oneself always selfishly; and behave like a narcissist without thinking long term and more importantly in terms of sustainability.

We have to bring up our future generation to be a conscientious human being, that is the need of the hour. It is not just important to get good education; but, truly develop the full potential as a human being. We have to be patient and work seriously and sincerely to see how far our children can move forward with that. We need to have the humility to understand that we are fortunate enough and must share the gratitude to not take our privileged life lightly. It is important to discuss and learn what it takes to protect our planet from our own selfish actions, since this is very impressive and worth exploring in my mind. Protection and conservation of precious natural resources is of paramount importance. Our poor, ignorant, but hard-working farmers at the ground level need to be trained and guided properly. Booklets in their languages may be helpful for the farmers.

Thanking you
Sincerely yours

'PSUs In Odisha Will Be Privatized If Modi Comes To Power In 2024': Jairam Ramesh

Rourkela (KCN): Congress leader Jairam Ramesh while addressing a press conference on the sidelines of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra in Rourkela said the Public Sector Undertakings (PSUs) in Odisha will be privatized if the PM Modi comes to power in 2024.

"Rourkela has significance when it comes to industrialization in the country. In 1950s and 1960s, the public sector played a major role in shaping the country. Units of NALCO and NTPC were established in Odisha. Today, the public sectors are in danger because of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's intention to sell these. While Congress has formed the country, the PM is trying to sell it to selected industrialists. If the PM comes to power for the third time, Rourkela will be sold too. NALCO will be sold as well," said Ramesh. Alleging that the BJP and the BJD are working unitedly, he said, "Only the Congress party will oppose the privatization as the BJP and the BJD are two sides of a coin. The BJD always supports the BJP in Parliament. Whenever I go to talk to the leaders of the BJD, they tell me that they received orders from Bhubaneswar to support Modi." "The two parties are engaged in shadow-boxing. Congress is the only party which fights against the ideologies of the BJP and RSS," he added. Earlier in the day, Rahul

Gandhi had come down heavily on Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik during the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra. Addressing a gathering at Panposh Chowk here, Gandhi said, "In Odisha, Naveen Patnaik and Narendra Modi are running a BJD-BJP partnership government. They work unitedly. I

New Delhi (KCN): Uncontrolled borrowing by states would affect the credit rating of the whole country and the fiscal edifice of Kerala has been diagnosed with "several cracks", the Centre has told the Supreme Court on the issue of limits imposed on the state's borrowing capacity. In a note submitted before the top court, Attorney General R Venkataraman submitted that public finance management is a national issue. Venkataraman said if the State indulges in reckless borrowing to finance unproductive expenditure or poorly targeted subsidies, it will crowd out private borrowing from the market.

"Debt of States affects the credit rating of the country. Moreover, default by any State in debt servicing would create reputational issues and will have a domino effect endangering the financial stability of the whole of India," the note said. The AG said uncontrolled borrowing will lead to an increase in the borrowing costs of private industries and adversely impact the production and supply of goods and services in the market.

"Increases in the State's debt servicing liabilities as a consequence of higher borrowing by it will reduce the availability of funds for development, leading to impoverishment of people and loss of State income, and hence also loss of national income. It may also engender various social and other problems," said the note. Venkataraman stated that all States require permission from the Union government to borrow from any source. He said while giving this permission, the Union government keeps in mind the overall objectives of macroeconomic stability of the country as a whole and fixes a borrowing limit for the State seeking its permission, under Article 293(4). The borrowing limits of States are fixed in a non-discriminatory and transparent manner guided by the recommendations of the Finance Commission, he said. The top court had earlier asked the Centre to respond in two weeks to a suit by the Kerala government accusing it of interfering in exercise of its "exclusive, autonomous and plenary powers" to regulate the state's finances by imposing a ceiling on net borrowing. On January 12, the top court sought the Centre's response on the suit filed by the legislation. Article 131 of the Constitution deals with original jurisdiction of the Supreme Court in any dispute between the Centre and states.

The suit referred to the letters dated March 27, 2023 and August 11, 2023 issued by the Centre, through the Ministry of Finance (Public Finance-State

Rahul Gandhi Targets BJD Govt, BJP On Day 2 Of His Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra In Odisha

Rourkela (KCN): Senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Wednesday took a jibe at the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and Biju Janata Dal (BJP), alleging that there is a partnership between them.

While addressing a massive gathering during Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra at Panposh in Rourkela, Rahul Gandhi said that the BJP and RSS are spreading hatred which is affecting the country. He suggested to open 'Mohabat Ki Dukan'.

"There is a partnership between CM Naveen Patnaik and Prime Minister Narendra Modi. There is a partnership government in Odisha. I also see in the Parliament that whenever the PM needs BJD's help, the members of the latter start harassing us on Modi's instructions. It is only the Congress which is fighting against the BJD-BJP partnership in Odisha," said Gandhi. According to the parliamentarian, around 30 lakh people from Odisha have migrated and working as labourers in other parts of the country as the state government is not doing its work. "About 30 industrialists and billionaires from outside have come to loot the resources of Odisha. All the industries have been closed and there is highest unemployment in the state and other parts of the country, Gandhi added.

Man Charged With Raping, Impregnating His Teenage "Wife"

"States' Debt Affects Country's Rating": Centre On Kerala Borrowing Curbs

Kerala government. In an original suit filed under Article 131 of the Constitution, the Kerala government has said the Constitution bestows fiscal autonomy on states to regulate their finances under various articles, and borrowing limits or the extent of such borrowings are regulated by a state legislation. Article 131 of the Constitution deals with original jurisdiction of the Supreme Court in any dispute between the Centre and states.

Division), Department of Expenditure, and the amendments made to section 4 of the Fiscal Responsibility and Budget Management Act, 2003.

It alleged that the Centre "seeks to interfere with the finances of the state by (i) imposing a net borrowing ceiling on the plaintiff state in the manner deemed fit by the defendant Union, which limits borrowings from all sources including open market borrowings..." It also gave the figure of dues as on October 31, 2023 which had accumulated over the years because of the financial constraints stemming from the ceiling imposed by the Centre on borrowing. It said the suit "squarely raises a dispute as to the right, power and authority of the defendant Union (of India) to interfere with the exclusive, autonomous and plenary powers of the plaintiff state to regulate its own finances under several provisions of the Constitution".

The suit claimed the Centre's actions "fall foul of, and violate the federal structure of the Constitution".

It said the borrowing limits or the extent of such borrowings are regulated by the Kerala Fiscal Responsibility Act, 2003 as amended from time to time. The suit said the ability to determine the borrowing of the state in order to balance the budget and make up for the fiscal deficit is exclusively within the domain of the states.

"I'm extremely excited to be joining the Washington Freedom in 2024. Cricket is really on the rise in the US and I'm looking forward to being involved in Major League Cricket. I've been impressed by everyone involved at Washington Freedom, and, while it's a bit surreal to be replacing my mate Greg Shipperd, there's probably no one better to

"Reflecting on the success of MLC's inaugural season and the aspiration to elevate cricket in the USA, we are poised to build upon the foundations laid last year. ## Jansen, Baartman put Sunrisers in SA20 final again

New Delhi: Marco Jansen and Ottiel Baartman's four-wicket hauls put defending champions Sunrisers Eastern Cape in the final of SA20 once again as they beat Durban Super Giants in the first qualifier at Newlands. Despite posting an average total of 157/8, Sunrisers got the job done as Super Giants were shot out for just 106. Opting to bat first, Dawid Malan got Sunrisers going with a couple of boundaries off Wiaan Mulder but at the other end, Reece Topley's miserly start where he conceded only 3 runs from his first two overs, kept the batting side under check. Jordan Hermann then broke free with a six over long off but was dismissed soon after the powerplay by the skipper Keshav Maharaj. Rain then arrived to play spoilsport for almost two hours before play finally resumed with no overs lost.

Three balls post resumption, Maharaj struck again, this time to trap Tom Abell lbw. Malan and Aiden Markram were then forced to rebuild with the opener managing a vital half-century in the process. The left-hander then smashed a four and a six off successive deliveries against Maharaj to up the ante but then found the deep midwicket fielder in the next over to depart at a crucial stage. Thereafter, it was all one-way traffic as Super Giants kept striking at regular intervals to deny the batting side momentum as Sunrisers only managed 47 runs from the final six overs. The bowlers then more than made up for that finish by reducing Super Giants to 13/3 in the chase. Tony de Zorzi edged behind to the keeper whereas Baartman struck twice in an over that also saw Markram take a stunning catch. The disastrous start ensured the chasing side made only 18 in the powerplay as they had a lot of catching up to do. While Quinton de Kock and Mulder did attempt to fight by knocking off 29 from four overs post the powerplay, Sunrisers struck again. De Kock hit a low full toss back to Liam Dawson just after the halfway mark and by this stage, only a Heinrich Klaasen special could bring Super Giants back into the contest.

Even though Klaasen did smash a couple of sixes, Baartman returned for his final spell and got rid of the dangerman when the chasing side needed 58 off 21.

New Delhi: Zimbabwe Cricket (ZC) have said they will host India for a five-match T20I series in July. All the matches will be played in Harare and kick off within a week after the conclusion of the T20 World Cup.

The matches will be played on July 6, 7, 10, 13 and 14 at the Harare Sports Club.

Jamieson, Santner wrap up comprehensive win

New Delhi: The new-look South African side was handed a tough initiation into Test cricket as New Zealand wrapped up a comprehensive 281-run win at the end of the fourth day in Mount Maunganui. South Africa will perhaps believe they got better as the game went on but even that was grossly insufficient in the end. Kyle Jamieson picked four wickets and Mitchell

Santner bagged three as South Africa were bowled out for 247 in the chase. New Zealand, who had opted against enforcing follow-on and piled on their lead, declared overnight to ask South Africa to chase a daunting 529 in the remaining six sessions. An all-round bowling effort - led by Jamieson - ensured the home side needed a little less than half of that to take a 1-0 lead. The day began with Tim Southee cleaning up his opposite number Neil Brand with a lovely inswinger that went through the left-hander's defence and crashed the stumps. Matt Henry then got Edward Moore to drive away from his body and nick one to Devon Conway. Raynard van Tonder and Zubayr Hamza arrested the early slide and remained unscathed until lunch. But they couldn't keep their defiance up in the post-lunch session as Jamieson broke through early. Jamieson tempted Van Tonder with a full ball outside the off-stump and the batter took the bait - attempting to drive away from his body and nicking to Tom Latham at first slip. In his next over, he sent Hamza packing with a short ball that the batter miscued to Southee at mid-on.

David Bedingham and Keegan Petersen then forged an alliance to drag their side out of trouble. Bedingham even took on Southee towards the end of the second session, hitting him for three sixes and two fours across a couple of overs from the New Zealand captain.

India edge past South Africa in Benoni thriller to reach summit clash

New Delhi: At one point in the match, it didn't look like India would get over the line. They were 32/4 chasing 245 against quasi hosts South Africa. But then came the magical 171-run partnership between captain Uday Saharan (81) and Sachin Dhas (96) that set the current defending champions on course to a stunning come-from-behind win by 2 wickets. The result guarantees a ninth final appearance for India, and the fifth in a row. Opting to chase for the first time this tournament, the decision to do that didn't take too kindly to India, who lost Adarsh Singh first-ball to an unplayable delivery from Kwena Maphaka. Tristan Luus then put in a show, bowling with fire to have both in-form Musheer Khan and reliable Arshin Kulkarni edging to second slip. India's total of 26/3 at the end of the PowerPlay soon became 32/4 when Priyanshu Moliya edged a drive behind to the keeper. The bowler? Luus again, the pacer finding good shape in the air and troubling the Indian batters right through his six-over spell. The captain's run out followed the run out of Murugan Abhishek and double strikes by Maphaka, who came back into the attack and massive stand between Dhas and Saharan that ensued was the highest for the fifth wicket in the history of U19 World Cups. Dhas was the more aggressive of the two, hitting 11 fours and 1 six en route to his 95-ball knock. Saharan played the anchor's role but his 124-ball knock, featuring 6 fours, came to an end with a dramatic run out during the closing moments in the game, which saw India lose a cluster of wickets once again. The captain's run out took all of one ball to remove Dhas. But even amidst the panic, India kept finding the odd boundary, with Raj Limbani's six off the first ball he faced standing out. It all finished with a glorious cover drive from the pacer, with seven balls still left in the match. "My dad also used to play similarly; slowly and taking the game deep," Saharan said after India won the game. "The ball was seaming early on but once the ball got old, it started coming onto the bat better." The seam movement that Saharan spoke of was offer in plenty for Limbani, who struck twice inside the first PowerPlay to pick up the wickets of Steve Stolk and David Teiger. Lhuan-dre Pretorius (76) and Richard Seletswana (64) then added 72 runs for the third wicket but India managed to keep the scoring rate down in the middle overs. Musheer Khan broke that stand and then struck later to account for Oliver Whitehead's wicket too. Luus (23* off 12) and

Juan James (24 off 19) upped the challenge for India in the final overs, helping South Africa add 81 runs in the last 10 overs. But the middle overs hurt them, both with the bat and ball, and made the difference in the match. It was a nervous victory for India but it was a victory nevertheless. Now they will face the winner of Australia vs Pakistan semi-final in the title clash. Brief Scores: South Africa 244/7 (Pretorius 76; Limbani 3-60) lost to India 248/8 in 45.5 overs (Dhas 96, Saharan 81; Maphaka 3-32, Luus 3-37) by 2 wickets
