Later the magazine became "Health World" which had a wide circulation for related health professionals to laymen and news stands around the globe. When internet became popular, Dr. Pati stopped publishing Health World and started an Ayurvedic and nutritional health supplement company called Best Nutrition Products Inc.

books on Ayurveda, herbs, and dietary supplements, some of the titles include "Vitamins and Herbal Medicinal Plants of India, Fruits of the World, Alternative Health Guide, What is Ayurveda etc.

Dr. Pati when asked about Ayurvedic food supplements and its global demand and importance; mentioned that "We can not get everything from food we eat. The RDA or the Recommended Daily Allowance of minerals, amino acids, vitamins are not sufficient from the different vegetables, protein and cooked food we consume each and everyday. Therefore we require certain amount of minerals and other food supplements including Chinese, Ayurvedic and other herbal supplements." The Ayurvedic food products are getting more popular now in world wide particularly in USA. Dr. Pati suggested, "We can not say that Ayurvedic supplements are medicine or Ayurvedic drugs. Ayurvedic supplements are described as food, natural and important nutritional herbal supplements. Supplements to lower blood pressure, anxiety, weight loss, depression, joint pain, arthritis, menopause and many other health problems could be prevented, treated and cured with supplements."

Dr. Pati elaborated that the demand of Ayurvedic supplements are growing in India, South East Asia, Europe and North America. The total Domestic Market and export of Ayurvedic supplements products could be over even 50 Billion Dollars which is more than the total market of Yoga which is 25 Billion. The name of the era is inbuilt while it is scripted cherished in Universities and intellectuals' minds, rather philosophies and ideologies are the untold out cry of all living human beings existing among masses or found among multitude living below the poverty line including many rich and well to do citizens. In India, I believe more than 20 percent of the population are landless. Together, women occupy less than 5 percent of total private lands of the entire nation. Food and Health of more than 20 percent of the population is under the grace as well as will of governments. 10-15 percent Children below 14 years would be out of school. Children 0-5 of Muzahari of Bihar, Hoo of Jharkhand, Kutia in Kalahandi, Odisha would be over 70 percent and are under the clutch of malnutrition, stunting, wasting and are underweight. Excluding few, lion share of SCs, STs and SEBCs are suffering from un-touchability, deprivations and discriminations of different kinds in public and private life.

Deprivations and discrimination are not only in recruitments and political platforms of many political parties, also in bus stops, trains, hospitals, hotels, offices, villages, towns and cities. Opportunities of health, education and livelihood is not known to over 30 percent due to illiteracy and lack of information, data, census report, and knowledge and lack of availability, affordability, accessibility and quality of information from formal sources of the country, though we are in the age of digital revolution. Right to information is out of free and fare use and it is beyond the reach of common mass so far its use and impact is concerned. FIR is not received and FIR copy is not given back instantly, is a regular complaint. Under such situations, the nation sees, voices of personalities like Subramanian Swamy, Raghuram Rajan, Arvind Kejriwal statesman and academician or pandits of Universities are stamped as against the government. Mohua Moitra, Rahul Gandhi etc, faced suspension from parliament, and it is renounced as, "the bulldozer is working well". Statue of Sardar Patel, New Parliament VISTA, Ram Mandir New, are the Historical monuments of this age to be remembered in the History along with the names of the present regime with Human Development Report on India. But I am afraid the current Era will also be remembered with Pulwama, Manipur, Hathras, Jawahar Nehru University along with the plight of 74 primitive tribes including Malto, Mushari, Hoo, Kutia. It's an era, the media is in the hands of corporates. The highest number of editors and journalists resigned from media houses. It's an era when national appreciations, trophies, accolades and awards are surrendered back by artists, sports persons and intellectuals of distinctions. Beauty lies in the beholder. Jay Shri Ram, Modi Mantra, Har Har Mahadev, Safron color are the media High lights of this era. The majority likewise these symbols and slogans in this era. The names that are condemned mostly in this era are, Mohatma Gandhi, Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru, then Mughal and British Empire. Eras are branded and admired with socio-economic prosperity. Eras are also branded and admired with art, architecture, techniques and technologies. Development experts have promulgated development theories based on socio-economic principles, philosophies, systems and structures and have named them like socialism, capitalism, marxism etc. States and governances are branded like, egalitarian, democratic, theocratic, military, dictatorship, totalitarian etc. Approaches are promulgated like philanthropy, welfare, development, empowering etc.

The current Era 2014-2024 is likely to continue for another ten years or more and this period of India will be defined by to come.

The judgement

Kashmir, Ram Mandir and Babri Masjid will be ever remembered. The legislations made on women, children, farmers, laborers and electoral system, i.e. the vote share of elected governments, may be 31 to 38 percent in a multi-party democracy, but it impacts the entire 100 percent.

Sir

By declining the invitation to take part in the Ayodhya Ram Mandir event the Congress party, many including congress supporters feel that the leaders at the helm has made a blunder and the repercussions it has to face in the days to come will be many. Especially when election is at the threshold, this refusal will turn into a litmus test for the grand old party. The Sangh parivar wanted this to happen and it is as if the leaders of the Congress party has moved a pawn in a spot which could put the party into trouble in the days to come. The Congress was already in a dilemma regarding the participation as many of its allies in the I.N.D.I.A bloc had decided they will never attend the event. By declining now the Congress has exposed itself that it is not a secular party as it claims so, but one that believes that it can survive only on minority appeasement. It also goes to show that it is fully dependent on its allies and unable to take a decision on its own.

'No disciplinary issue' for Ishan; in the fray for specialist keeper's role for England Tests

New Delhi: The 25-year-old, currently on a cricket break, could return for the five-Test series against England © AFP

The Indian team might opt for a specialist wicketkeeper for the Test series against England, bringing Ishan Kishan into consideration.

Ishan, embroiled in a debate over his exclusion from the T20I series against Afghanistan, may express his availability for the upcoming Test series. The 25-year-old wicketkeeper-batsman, currently on a cricket break, eyes a return for the five-Test series commencing in Hyderabad on January 25.

Adhering to the team management's policy, led by Rahul Dravid, which insists on a domestic game before an international return from a long break, Ishan may make himself available for Jharkhand's next fixture against Services in Delhi from January 19 to prove his readiness. Ishan last played for India on November 28.

Contrary to speculations, Dravid refuted claims of Ishan's exclusion due to indiscipline, stating it was a voluntary break requested by Ishan himself. The coach clarified that Ishan has not made himself available for selection as of yet, dismissing reports of disciplinary issues. Cricbuzz had earlier highlighted the intrigue surrounding Ishan's non-selection.

"Absolutely no disciplinary issue. Ishan Kishan was not available for selection. Ishan requested for a break, which we agreed in South Africa. We supported it. He has not yet made himself available. When he is available, he will play domestic cricket and make himself available for selection," Dravid said on the eve of India's first T20I in Mohali.

In line with the specialist keeper approach, KS Bharat has been asked to play in the A series against England Lions in Ahmedabad, preparing him for the wicketkeeping role. Ishan Kishan remains a potential candidate in this specialized capacity. The five-Test series starts on January 25.

the challenges of keeping wickets in the turning Indian pitches. The management intends for Rahul to focus on his batting and avoid undue strain, considering his recent back surgery. Rahul kept wickets in both Tests that India played in South Africa recently.

Rahul has also been advised to rest, skipping the Ranji Trophy.

Shreyas Iyer, on the other hand, was asked to play a multi-format game and he will represent Mumbai against Andhra from January 12 in Mumbai.

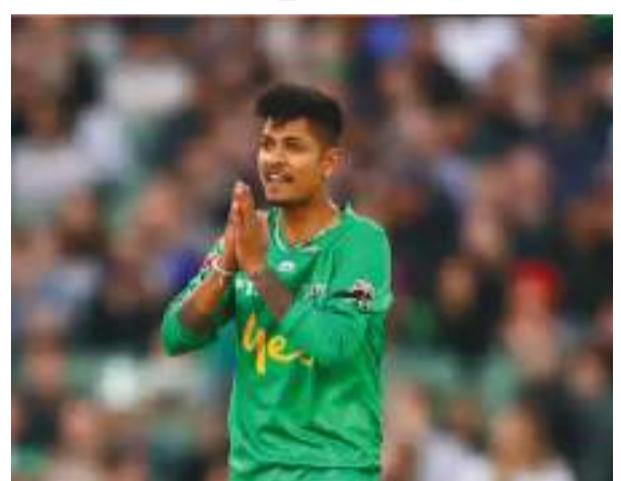

Sandeep Lamichhane sentenced to eight years in jail for rape leg-spinner Sandeep Lamichhane is all set to face a jail term of eight years. According to The Kathmandu Post, the verdict was announced by the Kathmandu District Court on Wednesday (January 10) through a single bench of judge Shishir Raj Dhakal.

New Delhi: Nepal

Apart from the punishment, the former Nepal captain has also been slapped a fine of Rs.3 lakh and has been told to pay Rs.2 lakh as compensation to the victim.

It was in September 2022 that the victim had lodged a case against Lamichhane, accusing the cricketer of rape in August 2021. After months of trial and investigation, Lamichhane was finally convicted of the crime on December 29, 2023. It was then decided that the degree of punishment would be announced on January 10, 2024.

The case had its share of ups and downs as the initial claims by the victim of having been a minor at the time of incident were quashed by the court. Lamichhane, meanwhile, was arrested after his return from the 2022 Caribbean Premier League and the leg-spinner moved to the high court, challenging the district court which had passed an order of sending Lamichhane to the Sundhara-based Central Jail. Trial and investigation continued but Lamichhane's movements were restricted. He was also flagged from travelling abroad and also had to inform the cops in advance if he wished to step out of Kathmandu. However, there was temporary relief for Lamichhane as the Supreme Court had ruled in favour of the cricketer with respect to the restrictions that were ultimately lifted. It meant that Lamichhane could continue to play cricket and he featured for Nepal as well as in franchise leagues through 2023.

New Delhi: Rinku Singh has impressed one and all with his crunch performances in his short stint at the international level, and Rahul Dravid is no exception. The Indian coach wants Rinku to use the three-match T20I series against Afghanistan and polish his finishing skills further.

"He has been performing well in the role of a finisher. This series (against Afghanistan) is another opportunity for him to develop himself as a cricketer further," Dravid said on the eve of the first T20I in Mohali.

"Whatever opportunity he gets here or in the IPL, it will be good for his development. Whenever a player does well, he always remains in the thoughts of the selector," he added.

Apart from his wide array of shots and calm temperament, Rinku also brings his left-handedness to the table, which Dravid thought added a "nice string to the bow". There's also Yashasvi Jaiswal and Tilak Varma along with Ishan Kishan, who didn't make himself available for this series.

"Players like Rinku, Jaiswal and Tilak have come in as well, which adds a nice string to the bow. But in the end, we make selection on the basis of performance, not just on the left-hand or right-hand batsman," Dravid said.

"We still have left-handers in the line-up. But it is not only about left-handers but it is their ability to play through a period and to be able to tackle different kinds of spin that there is."

Speaking ahead of the T20I series, Dravid also confirmed that Yashasvi Jaiswal and Rohit Sharma would pair up at the order.

"As of now, we will be opening with Rohit and Jaiswal. When you have a squad that offers flexibility, we can take a call that is in the best interest of the team.

"We are certainly happy with what Jaiswal has done for us as an opener. It also gives us the left-right combination at the top," added Dravid.

While Virat Kohli isn't available for the Mohali T20I, he will be back for the last two games in the series. Which would open the pandora's box on selection once again. Does Kohli open or does he replace Shubman Gill, a batter who bats in similar vein, at No.3?

"Nothing is closed," Dravid said on the prospect of Kohli opening alongside Rohit. "We have no doubt that the kind of ability and skill sets players like Rohit and Kohli possess, they will be able to find answers against different kinds of bowling."

Virat Kohli, Rohit Sharma To Open For Team India In T20 World Cup 2024? Coach Rahul Dravid Clears Air

New Delhi: Team India head coach Rahul Dravid confirmed on Wednesday (January 10) that Rohit Sharma and Yashasvi Jaiswal will open in the run-up to the T20 World Cup, underlining the importance of a left-right pair at the top position. Rohit has returned to India's T20 scheme of things for the series against Afghanistan, beginning on Thursday, after a hiatus of 14 months. His previous appearance was in the 2022 T20 World Cup semifinal against England at Adelaide. Jaiswal has been opening in the shortest format since the away series against the West Indies in August last year. "As of now, we will be opening with Rohit and Jaiswal. When you have a squad that offers flexibility, we can take a call that is in the best interest of the team," Dravid said on the eve of the match. "We are certainly happy with what Jaiswal has done for us as an opener. It also gives us the left-right combination at the top," added Dravid. The former Indian captain said the selection process will be dominated by the capability of a player to negate all circumstances, and will not merely rely on the desire to field a left-right combination.

Kohli too has made a comeback to T20Is along with Rohit. Star batsman Kohli has been named in the squad for the series against Afghanistan, though he will be available only from the second T20I.

So, how is the think-tank going to accommodate Kohli in the eleven? Is pairing Kohli with Rohit at the top a rational move to make? Dravid did not entirely rule out that possibility. "Nothing is closed (Kohli opening with Rohit). We have no doubt that the kind of ability and skill sets players like Rohit and Kohli possess, they will be able to find answers against different kind of bowling," said Dravid.

Heat got early impetus from Marnus Labuschagne who looked fluent on his BBL comeback. The No.3 batter played some lovely shots to keep the tempo going despite the early strikes from Jason Behrendorff who had dislodged Colin Munro and Usman Khawaja cheaply. However, Labuschagne fell soon after the drinks break in unbreakable circumstances. Replays showed that he was supposed to be at the non-striker's end when play resumed after the break but Labuschagne ended up being on strike and fell to Lance Morris as the visitors triggered a mini-collapse of sorts. Matt Renshaw and Paul Walter didn't last long either and it seemed like Heat would end on a below-par total.

Neser's game-changing innings and his 80-run stand off just 41 balls with Sam Billings turned the game on its head as Heat recovered from 91/5 to post a strong total of 191. The Scorchers chase had some life in it when Laurie Evans (51 off 29) and Josh Inglis (28 off 20) were together but apart from the duo, nobody chipped in.

Having opted to bat, ball-striking, there was also a lot of convention in his strokeplay, none more convincing than a blistering on-drive against Morris. Power, touch and placement - Neser showed it all as he counterattacked Heat back into the game. With time, Billings also found his groove. The last six overs went for 89 as all the Scorchers bowlers except the two spinners coped the stick. Ashton Agar and Hamish McKenzie bowled eight overs between them for just 61 runs, with the former picking up two scalps as well.

In reply, Scorchers needed a strong start upfront but Neser was at it again as he took out Zak Crawley early on. The pressure of a big chase told as the top order struggled to get going but Inglis and Evans did raise hopes with a cracking little partnership. Unfortunately for the visitors, it didn't last long enough to make a game out of the chase.

Evans continued his good form and struck the ball well, as did Inglis, with both batters showing their power to good effect. Once the 26-ball partnership of 48 was broken by Spencer Johnson, the game steadily slipped away from the Scorchers despite Evans' best efforts. The left-arm pacer continued to be Heat's go-to bowler as he produced another impact spell.

Brief scores: Brisbane Heat 191/6 in 20 overs (Michael Neser 64*, Sam Billings 45; Ashton Agar 2-29) beat Perth Scorchers 168/9 in 20 overs (Laurie Evans 51; Spencer Johnson 2-23, Xavier Bartlett 2-29, Michael Neser 2-31) by 23 runs

Neser's all-round show locks top spot for Brisbane Heat

New Delhi: Michael Neser put up a top-notch performance with both bat and ball (64* off 30 and 2-31) as Brisbane Heat continued to be the only undefeated team this season with a 23-run win over Perth Scorchers at The Gabba on Wednesday (January 10).

After nine games, Heat have seven wins and two no-results, and the latest win has ensured them a top spot and a home qualifying final.
