women and five children, and 20 others were killed in the attack. Most of the victims belonged to the Shia community, they said. The vehicles were ambushed in areas dominated by the Taliban, a local journalist said. He also instructed relevant authorities to work on establishing a Provincial Highways Police unit to secure all roads in the province.

We now know contributions of many national heroes, not just one family: Odisha CM Majhi

New Delhi(KCN): Odisha government will set up memorials and make a biopic on the life of ‘Utkal Keshari’ Harekrushna Mahtab, Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi announced Thursday, saying the society now knows the contributions of many national heroes, and not ‘just one family’. Majhi made the veiled reference to the Nehru-Gandhi family while addressing an event at the Vigyan Bhavan here to mark the 125th birth anniversary of Harekrushna Mahtab, the first chief minister of Orissa (now Odisha).

President Droupadi Murmu was the chief guest at the event hosted by the Ministry of Culture where a special commemorative stamp and coin were released along with a few books. Mahtab was the last prime minister of the province of Orissa. The province of Bihar and Orissa was carved out of Bengal in 1912 before Orissa became a separate state in 1936. After Independence, it became part of the Union of India. Stating that this landmark tribute is being paid to Mahtab 37 years after his demise, Majhi said without taking any name, “For a long period, we were only engaged in recognising the contributions of just one family. It happened throughout the country and it also happened in Odisha.” “But Prime Minister Narendra Modi changed all this and we now know the contributions of many more national heroes than just one family,” he said. “In Odisha too, we are now ready to worship all our heroes who made significant contributions to nation building,” the chief minister added. Hailing Mahtab for his contributions, Majhi said he established the Hirakund Dam and was instrumental in the decision to shift the state capital capital from Cuttack to Bhubaneswar. “He was a statesman, a visionary, a genius political thinker, and a strategist and mentor to many young leaders who later became big names in state politics. Besides his contributions to politics, he also inspired a generation of Odia writers and journalists,” the chief minister said. Mahtab led (then) Orissa during a crucial period of the fight for Independence, Majhi said as he underlined the role played by him in the amalgamation of various princely states into the Union of India. “We know the contributions of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel in achieving the integration of the princely states into the Union of India. Likewise, Dr Mahtab was the ‘Sardar Patel of Odisha’, as he helped merge various princely states into the state of Odisha,” Majhi added, calling Mahtab a cynosure of “solidarity and responsive administration”. “He was nominated to the Congress Working Committee by Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose. He was arrested from Ahmednagar along with the likes of Jawaharlal Nehru, Sardar Patel, Maulana Azad and many other top leaders of the time,” Majhi said. Mahtab was also “arrested in 1975 for opposing the brutalities and slave-like treatment meted out by the then infamous Congress government to the public and public leaders during Emergency”, Majhi said, adding that his nearly lifetime association with the Congress ended with the “anti-people politics/ polices of the government led by Indira Gandhi”. Announcing several celebrations to honour Mahtab’s contributions, Majhi said, “We will hold year-long celebrations to mark the 125th birth anniversary of ‘Utkal Keshari’ in a befitting manner. The government has taken a decision to set a memorials at different places, including his birthplace Agarpara, reprint books written by him in different languages, and encourage research on his life.” The Odisha government has also taken a decision to make a biopic on Mahtab’s life, which will inspire the current generations and generations to come, Majhi added. Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan and Minister of Culture and Tourism Gajendra Singh Shekhawat were also present on the dais. It is a matter of delight that the Odisha government has taken a decision to hold year-long celebrations to mark the 125th anniversary of Mahtab, Pradhan said. Born November 21, 1899, in Agarpara, Mahtab also wrote extensively in both Odia and English, winning accolades for his work, including the historical account ‘History of Orissa’, besides winning the Sahitya Akademi Award in 1983 for ‘Gaon Majlis’, the Culture Ministry said. He served as the Union minister for commerce and industry, before getting elected to the Lok Sabha unopposed in 1962.

NaCSA Promotes AMR Awareness in Odisha

Bhubaneswar ,(KCN Bureau/Prasar Khuntia): The National Centre for Aquaculture inre (NaCSA) under the Marine Products Export Development Authority (MPEDA) launched its first large-scale campaign as part of the Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR) Week 2024 on November 18th in Astaranga, Puri district, Odisha. With the global theme “Educate, Advocate, and Act Now,” the initiative seeks to raise awareness about the critical threat of AMR and emphasize the importance of Good Aquaculture Management Practices (GAMP) among shrimp aquaculture farmers. The inaugural programme was a collaborative effort bringing together experts, stakeholders and local farmers. Dr. Sujit Kumar Mohanty, Doctor at CHC Astaranga officially inaugurated the event, while Mr. Ravi Goda, Regional Coordinator, NaCSA warmly welcomed the gathering. In his keynote address, Dr. K. Gopal Ananda, Assistant Director, MPEDA Regional Division, Bhubaneswar underscored the urgency of combating AMR in aquaculture to ensure sustainable practices and global food security. Jagannath Behera, I/C Assistant Fisheries Officer, Department of Fisheries, Puri delivered the felicitation address emphasizing the importance of stakeholder collaboration in mitigating AMR risks. Technical sessions formed the cornerstone of the program providing attendees with practical knowledge and insights into AMR. Ravi Goda and Dr. K. Gopal Ananda led these informative sessions guiding the 81 participating shrimp farmers on effective strategies to prevent AMR through the adoption of GAMP. Topics included the prudent use of antibiotics, maintaining biosecurity measures and enhancing water quality management in shrimp farms. The event concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Biswajit Nath, Field Manager, MPEDA-NaCSA who expressed gratitude to all participants and stakeholders for their enthusiastic involvement in the campaign. The campaign marks the first of three major awareness drives organized by NaCSA in Odisha during AMR Week 2024. By empowering farmers with knowledge and tools to combat AMR, NaCSA continues to champion sustainable aquaculture practices and align with global efforts to address this pressing challenge.

Shri Dharmendra Pradhan, Union Minister of Education, Govt. of India inaugurated the Environmental & Aquatic Animal Health Monitoring Laboratory, developed by ICAR-Central Inland Fisheries Research Institute at Sambalpur, Odisha

Sambalpur,(KCN):Union Minister of Education Shri Dharmendra Pradhan inaugurated the “Environmental & Aquatic Animal Health Monitoring Laboratory”, developed by ICAR-Central Inland Fisheries Research Institute (CIFRI) in Sambalpur, Odisha. The laboratory is set to primarily assess environmental impact of cage culture operation in Hirakud reservoir, aquatic animal health surveillance in the cage culture and monitor the water and sediment quality parameters in the reservoir with an aim of protecting aquaculture operations from detriment of excessive nutrient load in water and sediments for promoting sustainable fisheries development in Odisha. The state-of-the-art laboratory is run by ICAR-Central Inland Fisheries Research Institute, Barrackpore under the Government of Odisha funded project “Environmental & aquatic animal health monitoring in Hirakud reservoir under cage culture programme”. During the event, Hon’ble Minister emphasized the critical role of fisheries in supporting rural livelihoods and contributing to the Blue Economy. He highlighted the laboratory’s importance in ensuring the diagnosis and health of aquatic animals and promoting sustainable aquaculture practices in the region. The laboratory is well equipped with advanced tools for monitoring and detecting fish diseases, assessing the impact of environmental changes on aquatic biodiversity. The Honourable Minister also visited different laboratory sections and took a glance at the various equipment facilities especially for molecular and microbiology laboratory and analytical operation being carried out by the research personnels in the laboratory. Shri Pradhan also lauded Director, ICAR-CIFRI, Barrackpore for its efforts in enhancing research and technology transfer to benefit fishers and farmers. He called for collaborative initiatives to strengthen the fisheries sector and ensure its alignment with the government’s vision of sustainable development and rural empowerment. The inaugural programme was also attended by Shri Gokula Nanda Mallik, Minister of State (Independent Charge) for Fisheries and Animal Resources Development, Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises, Government of Odisha, Dr. Mukesh Mahaling, Minister of Health and Family Welfare, Parliamentary Affairs, and Electronic and Information Technology, Government of Odisha, Shri Rabi Narayan Naik, Minister of Panchayati Raj & Drinking Water, Government of Odisha and Shri Jayanarayan Mishra, Member of Odisha Legislative Assembly from Sambalpur Assembly Constituency & Minister of Commerce & Transport, Government of Odisha and lauded the institute efforts for setting up the laboratory in Sambalpur, making it accessible for research especially in mitigating environmental health risks. Senior officials from ICAR-CIFRI, Barrackpore, fisheries experts, local fish farming communities, and other stakeholders were attended during the inaugural function.

Rohit Kumar Singh credited Prime Minister Narendra Modi for India's global recognition

Bhubaneswar,(KCN): YuvaChetna national convener Rohit Kumar Singh arrived in Bhubaneswar and stated that the Congress Party is opposed to Indian culture and civilization. Mr. Singh said that the Congress has ruled the country for over 50 years but has only deceived the public, achieving no significant development. Mr. Singh further stated that Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, out of desperation, wants to divide the country based on caste and religion. However, the public will not fall for their tactics. Mr. Singh emphasized that the entire world is looking up to India, and we must collectively contribute to the country's progress and prosperity. He urged youths to fight against anti-national forces. He also stated that the Congress Party's fundamental principle is opposed to Sanatan values. Mr Singh said that we are working to strengthen the social justice movement. Mr. Singh criticized opposition leaders for prioritizing their family's interests, which the public has recognized. He credited Prime Minister Narendra Modi for India's global recognition. Mr. Singh clarified that he is not a member of any political party but supports Prime Minister Modi for the country's progress. He emphasized their struggle to connect the children of farmers and laborers to the mainstream society.

Upasana backs Ram Charan as he faces criticism for visiting Dargah

South actor Ram Charan recently found himself at the center of online criticism after he visited a dargah. However, his wife, Upasana Konidela, stepped in to defend him, emphasizing the importance of respecting all religions while including singer Mohit Chauhan, standing nearby. Reacting to Upasana's post, one netizen said, "Ma'am respecting other religions doesn't mean you go to their dargah in ayyappa Mala. We can respect their religion by not insulting their faith and respect what they do without interfering in our religion! ? Meanwhile, Ram

Kabir Khan: Cannot underestimate Salman Khan's role in my career

Filmmaker Kabir Khan is currently basking in the success of Chandu Champion, which stars Kartik Aaryan in the lead role, spoke about Salman Khan's role in his career. The two came together for the successful films 'Ek Tha Tiger' and 'Bajrangi Bhaijaan'. While the Tiger franchise was handled well by other filmmakers, many fans have been waiting to see 'Bajrangi Bhaijaan 2'.

In a recent chat with IndiaToday.in, Kabir acknowledged the desire and shared that he and Salman would only work again if they cracked the right script. "If there's a script, I would love to seek Salman, and he too should be excited about it. We have had a fabulous collaboration.

The role he has in my career, I will never be able to underestimate that. We had a fruitful collaboration and created some iconic characters. I would love to do it [again] but it has to be script-based. We cannot just get on any film, as it wouldn't make sense. I cannot just go to him with anything, it has to be something great. And if we do find that, we would love to get back together," he said. Kabir Khan also discussed the love the team has been receiving for his latest film 'Chandu Champion'. Sharing that it's 'overwhelming', he admitted that they were anxious about the reception the film might get. "I have had a few commercial blockbusters, but I never got this kind of love. It makes you emotional. The way people have picked up small nuances which Kartik and I pulled in, is amazing. People are even appreciating the other teams, be it cinematography, sound design, or even Pritam's music, it really feels great. This kind of love carries for years, it's for posterity. Every time the film would come on OTT or a TV channel, there would be another wave of love, and that's what makes it special," he added. Directed by Kabir Khan and produced by Sajid Nadiadwala, 'Chandu Champion' hit cinemas on June 14. The film is based on the life of Paralympic gold medalist Murlikant Petkar.

1 Years Of 'Lootera': Celebrating Ranveer Singh's Unforgettable Performance In This Cinematic Gem

Eleven years ago, 'Lootera' graced the silver screen, marking a significant departure from the mainstream Bollywood fare of its time. Directed by Vikramaditya Motwane and starring Ranveer Singh, 'Lootera' has since evolved into a cult classic, often hailed for its visual splendor but what stands out is Ranveer's win with the expressions in the ocean of silence that spoke more than one said. Over the years, 'Lootera' has garnered a dedicated following, with audiences and critics alike revisiting the film to appreciate its art and narrative. As audiences have evolved, so has their appreciation for the brilliance of 'Lootera'. It stands today not just as a film, but as an example of heartfelt storytelling. Before 'Lootera', Ranveer Singh had established himself as a vibrant and energetic actor through roles in 'Band Baaja Baaraat' and 'Ladies Vs Ricky Bahl'. These films showcased his youthful charm and on-screen charisma, however, 'Lootera' marked a bold shift in Ranveer's career trajectory. Taking on the role of Varun, required a nuanced performance that contrasted sharply with his previous performances. And his impressive performance introduced audiences to the versatility and range the actor possessed as a performer. Now, a cult classic for its ahead of the time, nuanced characterisation, Ranveer still is fondly remembered for the path less taken and winning the love of the audience. Ranveer effortlessly captured the essence of a complex man haunted by his past. The role demanded a deep understanding of subtle emotions and restraint, qualities that Ranveer brought to the fore with finesse. Adapting a literary work for the big screen requires a delicate balance, and Ranveer's involvement in 'Lootera' at an early stage in his career showcased his ambition to explore diverse narratives and the versatility that he brings on the table. As we celebrate 11 years of 'Lootera', it is evident that the film's legacy continues to grow with Ranveer's character at its center and most importantly, how Varun stands out as a character still celebrated for the brilliance that he brought to the screen, with sincerity and commitment. A marvel as we look at the many memo characters of Ranveer over the years, as we approach his birthday on 6th July, while marking Lootera's anniversary!

SRK's son Aryan Khan's directorial to land on OTT next year

Hindi film industry's icon Shah Rukh Khan, and Gauri Khan's elder son Aryan Khan is making his directorial debut with a streaming series. The series is set against the backdrop of the Hindi film industry. The multi-genre project promises an unabashed take on cinema through the adventures of a charming, ambitious outsider navigating the lanes of B-town. The series blends a high-stakes narrative with self-aware humour. It also features cameos and larger-than-life characters. Sharing his heartfelt thoughts on the announcement, Shah Rukh Khan says, "We are excited to present this new series with Netflix that offers a refreshing look into the glamorous cinematic world and what it takes to succeed as an outsider. It's a unique narrative brought to life by Aryan, many passionate minds and the team at Red Chillies Entertainment. This one's going to be all heart, all hustle, and a whole lot of entertainment". This upcoming series marks the sixth collaboration between Netflix and Red Chillies Entertainment following the hit dark comedy film Darlings, the crime-drama Bhakshak, the cop-drama film Class of 83, the zombie horror series Betaal, and the spy thriller Bard of Blood. Monika Shergill, VP - of Content, Netflix India, said, "We're thrilled to partner with Red Chillies Entertainment once again - this time, for a very special series, directed by Aryan Khan. Aryan brings a bold and dynamic directorial vision and has created something truly one-of-a-kind and thoroughly entertaining. It builds on our shared passion for fresh voices and quality storytelling, and we can't wait for our members to watch it". Produced by Gauri Khan, the series marks Aryan Khan's debut as a creator and director and is set to stream on Netflix in 2025.

Diplomatic Immunity has a field day in India?

Diplomatic immunity is a foundational principle of international law that recognizes certain officials from foreign governments as exempt from the legal jurisdiction of their host country. This immunity enables diplomats to move freely and safely within the host country, protecting them from most local legal claims and criminal prosecutions. As one of the most longstanding and universally observed practices in international relations, diplomatic immunity has roots in ancient civilizations, where foreign envoys and messengers were often accorded special protections. Its primary purpose is to foster peaceful and effective relations between states, allowing diplomats to fulfill their roles without fear of reprisal, even amid political strife or conflict. These protections are typically reciprocal, underscoring their mutual benefit for all parties involved.

The concept of diplomatic immunity is notably reflected in ancient literature, such as the Indian epics Ramayana and Mahabharata. In the Ramayana, Ravana's younger brother Vibhishana reminds him of the custom that messengers should not be punished with death, thereby sparing the life of the envoy Hanuman. Similarly, Greek historian Herodotus recounts that while Persian envoys were mistreated by the Athenians and Spartans, he condemned such acts as violations of established norms. Instances of violations against envoys also appear in Roman history, where an envoy's honor was insulted in Tarentum, prompting vows of retribution. In another case, Gregory of Tours recorded that Frankish envoys were killed in Carthage after a misunderstanding, leading to Byzantine Emperor Maurice ordering the arrest and extradition of Carthaginians to face judgment by King Childebert II. These historical references reflect the longstanding recognition of diplomatic immunity, underscoring its essential role in facilitating international diplomacy across centuries. The arrest and mistreatment of an envoy from Raja Raja Chola by the ruler of the Kulasekhara dynasty (Second Cheras), located in what is now modern-day India, sparked the naval conflict known as the Kandalur War in AD 994. While diplomatic immunity grants foreign diplomats broad protections from local laws, it has unfortunately sometimes been abused, with documented instances of diplomats engaging in activities such as espionage, smuggling, violations of child custody laws, money laundering, tax evasion, making terrorist threats, human trafficking, child exploitation, and even murder. Such abuses, while shielded by diplomatic immunity, often breach the established codes of conduct that are meant to uphold the integrity of diplomatic roles. Notably, Indian diplomats stationed in countries like Pakistan, Iran, China, and Canada have experienced significant challenges. Despite the protections typically afforded to diplomats, they often encounter harassment, strict surveillance, and restrictions that confine them to embassy premises—conditions which contrast sharply with the freedoms enjoyed by foreign diplomats in India. A recent example of diplomatic engagement in India involves Chinese Ambassador Xu Feihong, who arrived in New Delhi on May 10 to assume his role. He presented his credentials to President Droupadi Murmu on May 31 and soon held his first meeting with leaders of the CPI (M) and CPI parties, Sitaram Yechury and D. Raja, respectively. The US delegation including Minister-Counsellor for Political Affairs Graham Mayer, First Secretary Gary Applegarth, and Political Counsellor Abhiram met Omar Abdullah, Chief Minister, Jammu &

Kashmir in Srinagar. Furthermore, a hypothetical situation in which Prime Minister Narendra Modi met with Republican U.S. Presidential candidate Donald Trump during Modi's recent visit to the U.S. raised questions regarding diplomatic norms and reciprocity. Trump previously claimed that Modi would be meeting with him in New York, which sparked interest around the protocol of such interactions. When asked about this hypothetical meeting, Foreign Minister S. Jaishankar underscored the importance of fair diplomatic exchange, suggesting that Indian diplomats should not hesitate to engage with opposition leaders and media in their host countries. He notably remarked, "I have no problems if people comment about our politics, but then, I think in fairness, they should also be ready to hear my comments about their politics." The disparity in treatment faced by Indian diplomats in certain nations underscores ongoing challenges in diplomatic relations, highlighting the importance of respecting mutual standards and protections. In contrast, diplomats from the aforementioned countries, including the P-5 (the five permanent members of the UN Security Council)—often referred to as the "Big Five" or P5—granted permanent diplomatic status by the UN Charter of 1945), often experience a significantly easier diplomatic environment when posted in India. High-ranking officials and ministers are readily accessible to them, fostering smooth interactions. For instance, during Prime Minister Modi's first term, Pakistan's High Commissioner to India, Abdul Basit, was known for regularly hosting gatherings in a five-star hotel, engaging top media executives and certain officials to present Islamabad's perspectives in India. The members of Hurriyat party were regulars at the Pakistan High Commission's office in New Delhi. In fact, for the Pakistan's National Day (August 14), many Hurriyat leaders were always among the prominent invitees. This practice of informal engagement has also been typical among diplomats from EU countries. Prior to the Modi government's decision to enforce reciprocity in diplomatic access with Canada, Canadian representatives in India freely interacted with politicians from both the central and Punjab governments. Notably, specific Canadian diplomats were assigned to build relations with key leaders within India's ruling party. Meanwhile, in Canada, Indian diplomats faced harassment, particularly from Khalistani elements allegedly supported by the Trudeau administration, with extremist groups disseminating posters targeting Indian leaders, including PM Modi, Foreign Minister Jaishankar, and NSA Ajit Doval. Similar issues have arisen in the United States since PM Modi assumed office, suggesting awareness and potential tacit approval from U.S. State and Justice departments. Following inappropriate remarks made by certain Iranian religious leaders concerning the treatment of minorities in India, the Modi government firmly responded, signaling India's commitment to address any unjust criticisms or provocations, whether direct or through media channels. India upholds the principle of a fair and balanced diplomatic field, ready to reciprocate and protect its interests against any unwarranted affronts.

IPS Manumukt 'Manav,' a symbol of youth power and a source of inspiration, who cannot be forgotten even after a decade

Manumukt's father, Dr. Ramnivas 'Manav,' tells with a heavy heart that despite documentary evidence of criminal negligence of the officers and involvement of his batchmate officers in the conspiracy of Manumukt's death, no action was taken against them; rather, the Telangana Police and CBI hushed up the matter by calling it a normal incident. The entire effort of the Telangana Police and CBI was to save the culprits, not to punish the culprits. Not only this, all the governments washed their hands off the matter by calling Manumukt a trainee; no one provided even a rupee of financial assistance to the family.

Priyanka Saurabh

What a sad law of destiny that exceptional talents get a very short life here. From Adi Shankaracharya to Swami Vivekananda, Swami Ramatirtha, Srinivas Ramanujan, Bharatendu Harishchandra, and Rangeya Raghav, there is a long list of such great men who left this world at a young age after spreading their brilliance. Young Indian Police Service officer Manumukt 'Manav' was also one such talent who was taken away by time before time. On 28 August 2014, a multi-talented, highly promising, and influential police officer, Manumukt, died at the young age of 30 years and 9 months, under suspicious circumstances, by drowning in the swimming pool of the National Police Academy, Hyderabad (Telangana). After the farewell party going on in the Officers Club located near the swimming pool, when Manumukt's body was found in the swimming pool at midnight, there was a stir not only in the academy but in the entire country, because this was the first such big accident to happen in the 66-year history of the academy. It is also necessary to mention here that even after such a heartbreaking and unfortunate tragedy, neither was this case investigated properly nor was any officer or employee held responsible or any punitive action taken against him. Manumukt's father, Dr. Ramnivas 'Manav,' tells with a heavy heart that despite documentary evidence of criminal negligence of the officers and involvement of his batchmate officers in the conspiracy of Manumukt's death, no action was taken against them; rather, the Telangana Police and CBI hushed up the matter by calling it a normal incident. The entire effort of the Telangana Police and CBI was to save the culprits, not to punish the culprits. Not only this, all the governments washed their hands off the matter by calling Manumukt a trainee; no one provided even a rupee of financial assistance to the family. It is noteworthy that Manumukt was a very intelligent and energetic police officer of the 2012 batch and Himachal Pradesh cadre. Born on 23 November 1983 in Hisar (Haryana) and having received higher education from Punjab University, Chandigarh, Manumukt had achieved all the highest achievements of NCC, including the 'C' certificate. Apart from being a very good thinker, he was also a versatile artist and successful photographer; he was a master of selfies. He also had a great interest in social service. He wanted to establish a health center in his native village and a civil service academy in Narnaul in the memory of his grandparents. He had many more dreams for the country and society, which were shattered with his untimely death. The death of the only young IPS son was no less than a terrible thunderbolt for Manumukt's father, senior litterateur and educationist Dr. Ramnivas 'Manav,' and mother, former professor of economics Dr. Kanta Bharti. If it had been any other couple, they would have been shattered, but the 'Manav' couple, showing amazing patience and courage, not only endured this unimaginable, unbearable pain but also started making every effort to preserve and keep alive the memories of their son. They invested their entire savings and formed the Manumukt 'Manav' Memorial Trust on October 10, 2014, and built 'Manumukt Bhawan' in Narnaul and established an air-conditioned small auditorium, museum, and library in it. The trust has given one international award of Rs. 2.5 lakh, one national award of Rs. 1 lakh, two national-international awards of Rs. 21 thousand each, and three national-international awards of Rs. 11 thousand each. Awards and hundred Manumukt 'Manav' memorial awards were started. Both the big awards are currently suspended, but all the remaining awards and honors are being given regularly every year. National and international-level literary and cultural programs are also held continuously in 'Manumukt Bhawan,' in which, apart from India, about five hundred eminent personalities from two dozen countries like Japan, Fiji, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Singapore, Indonesia, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Britain, Netherlands, Germany, France, Norway, Turkey, Russia, Mauritius, Costa Rica, America, Canada, etc., have participated. In the programs organized online by the Trust, prominent writers, journalists, filmmakers, educationists, social workers, environmentalists, sportsmen, mountaineers, administrative officers, and politicians from various fields of 55-60 countries have joined, and this series is still continuing. In a short period of just seven years, due to its achievements, 'Manumukt Bhawan' of Narnaul has become renowned as an international cultural center. The 'Virtual International Kavi Sammelan' organized by the Trust on the occasion of Amrit Mahotsav of India's Independence on 15 August 2021 has been registered in the 'Golden Book of World Records' as the largest kavi sammelan of the most number of countries in the world. Seventy-five poets from six continents and fifty-one countries created this world record by reciting poetry together in this kavi sammelan. Manumukt 'Manav' was not only a symbol of youth power but also a source of inspiration. Even a decade after his death, he is remembered with great respect. The family has kept his inspiring memories alive through media, social media, and Facebook. For this, Manumukt's elder sister and senior economist of the World Bank, Washington, DC (USA), Dr. S. Anukriti, also provides full support. In the end, in the words of Manumukt's batchmate, Indian Administrative Service officer, and currently

District Magistrate of Dharmtari (Chhattisgarh), Namrata Gandhi, only this much can be said: "Manumukt was an elder brother, friend, philosopher, and guide for us. His personality was full of great humor, while his heart was also made of pure gold. There was a great depth in his inner self, which was difficult to guess from the outside. He was a brilliant administrator, a natural leader, an excellent team player, a respected senior, a trusted junior, and everyone's favorite friend and colleague. It is not possible for any of us to forget him."

West Bengal Government to launch a GPU Centric Data Centre in Siliguri

Kolkata (PARTHA ROY): Government of West Bengal is in the process of launching a GPU-as-a-service data centre in Siliguri, which is expected to be fully operational by December 2024. With a computational power of about 160 petaflops, the data centre will offer extensive capacity for diverse needs. This facility will serve start-ups, MSMEs, institutions, and researchers, said Mr Sanjay Kumar Das, Additional Secretary, Department of IT & Electronics & Managing Director, West Bengal Electronics Industry Development Corporation Limited (WEBEL), at the Innovation Conclave 2024 by CII Eastern Region, held in Kolkata, 21st November 2024. He further mentioned that it is essential for data to be anonymized, highlighting the Government's obligation to avoid sharing live transactional data that includes sensitive personal identifiers. Data sharing should only occur with clear permission granted for such actions. Speaking at Innovation conclave, Dr Amitava Das, Vice President of Global Foundries Ltd, highlighted that Global Foundries is establishing the ecosystem in eastern part of India by focusing on R&D and Application Centre, along with Semiconductor fabs. It is crucial for educational institutions to focus on training & skilling the manpower for this region. Mr Das emphasized that there are significant global investments and opportunities currently available in semiconductor fabrication plants. The demand for skilled labour is substantial, regardless of geographic location. By enhancing skills in eastern India, emerging talents will be able to contribute to semiconductor fabrication facilities from their respective areas. Addressing the Innovation conclave , Dr Rajesh Kumar, IPS, Principal Secretary, Department of Environment, West Bengal Government, emphasized on the problem of irresponsible way of disposing plastic. He mentioned that various types of waste, including plastic waste, solid waste, electronic waste, biochemical waste, and construction and demolition waste, are increasingly being recognized as profitable ventures that can be transformed into opportunities. India's Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) program aims to mitigate the environmental effects of products by allocating funds for the collection, reuse, recycling, and proper disposal of waste. Companies engaged in this sector are now generating revenue through these innovative practices. This presents significant entrepreneurial and employment opportunities for new generation start-ups. Chairman, CII Eastern Region Startup Subcommittee and Managing Director, Accenture APAC Mr Sankar Ghosh, stated India is emerging as a fertile place for startups by providing supporting ecosystem. The success aligned to sustainability, namely economic, social and environmental sustainability. The start-ups are agile to lead the change and reimagining the way goods are produced and consumed. Mr Rohit Sarkar of CII Eastern Region Startup Subcommittee pointed out that Indian deep tech start-up policy is soon to be published which has advantages for new innovative start-ups. Eastern India has the talent and being frugal and looking for profitability will help the start-ups to be sustainable for long term.

THUNDEROUS FEEDBACK FROM BOBBY CHAKRABORTY'S REFORMATORY ANTI ADDICTION CAMPAIGN NO.435 AT SOUTH POINT HIGH SCHOOL

Kolkata, (KCN): It was actor/activist/teacher of method acting Bobby Chakraborty's 435th Anti Addiction Campaign, at South Point High School, on November 20th. This was his 26th session in this particular school since 2014. This particular session, of his globally acclaimed, free of cost awareness program for the youth, against addiction and harmful popular trends, was perfectly organised by The Principal Rupa Sanyal Bhattacharjee, The Coordinator Brita Sarkar, along with all the respected teachers, in association with the school management. Super enthusiastic students from the 11th grade participated in this reformatory adda session, which megically turned out to be an emotional roller coaster ride of tears, laughter, confessions, promises and awakening. The official photographer was soldier Aashiis Mukherjee, a super active and well mannered boy, assisted by soldier Mahika Ghosh. 'Bobbydada' as he likes himself to be called, stated how important it is for the youth, who are the future of our society, to grow up with the right and healthy choices of life in their formative years. He stated with various examples of shocking recent incidents to fatal incidents from his own family, of how a person's life reaches a point of no-return, if he/she makes wrong choices and keeps the wrong company in these growing up years. He covered various pertinent topics starting with smoking, alcoholism and smart phone addiction to harmful trends of inappropriate behaviour online, online gambling through games and use of rampant abusive language. With the powerful formula of HCF (health-career-family) and the magical mantra of I AM THE KING OF MY MIND, Bobby equipped his soldiers to fight the evils of the society, which might create a mess with their lives, in these crucial years of adolescence. 'The 1st soldier' selected was Mahika. 'The Trendsetter' in this adda was soldier Shalini Bhattacharya, who was also one of the winners in the concluding surprise contest, along with soldiers Purbayan Kundu and Spandan Muhuri. The winners and Aashiis were given special prizes, HCF t-shirts and community service certificates by Bobby. A pleasant chaos ensued at the end of the session, with soldiers surrounding their Bobbydada for a hug. touching his feet, clicking a selfie and getting his autograph anywhere possible. The session received a thunderous feedback from the students, teachers and parents alike.

Bharat Tex 2025, Global Textile Expo is a Small Instance of 'Atmanirbhar Bharat': Shri Giriraj Singh

Kolkata, (KCN): The Union Minister of Textiles, Shri Giriraj Singh on Wednesday (November 20, 2024) lauded the expertise of West Bengal in the Textile sector and also appreciated the rich history of the State so far as the apparel sector is concerned, whether it is a Muslin, which may go through a ring as well as jute-based textile is concerned. Shri Singh was on a two-day visit to West Bengal to project the 2025 Bharat Tex Expo to be hosted in New Delhi and Greater Noida from February 12 to 17, 2025 in the form of a road show as well as to meet the representatives of the apparel companies, jute organisations.

Shri Singh said, Bharat Tex 2025 is a small instance of 'Atmanirbhar Bharat'. The Expo is going to exhibit the strength of India, so far as the textile sector is concerned, he reiterated. Shri Singh added, the textile industry is expected to grow to US $ 350 billion by 2030 and add 3.5 crore jobs. According to the Union Minister, Bharat Tex 2025 aims to attract FDI, boost global sourcing and add 5,000+ exhibitors, more than 6,000 overseas buyers in 22,000 sq metre area with more than 12,000 textile products. The Minister pointed out that a day is not far off when India will surpass China in the textile sector and asserted that the Union Government's PLI scheme for textiles will enable the apparel industry to boost production and promote their branding. The minister also added that the PLI scheme will enable linking of the textile value chain and lure FDI in the country. The Bharat Tex 2025 event is an embodiment of the Prime Minister's 5F vision - Farm to Fibre to Factory to Fashion to Foreign, he said. He also spoke on the subject-Technical Textile, which he pointed out, as designed for a specific function, rather than for aesthetic purposes and includes application in agriculture, construction, sports apparel, healthcare (diapers, sanitary napkins, disposables and the like) etc. The Union Minister of State for Textiles and External Affairs, Shri Pavitra Margherita who was also present on the occasion lauded West Bengal's rich cultural heritage and mentioned the grandeur of the state's Jamdani and Baluchari sarees. Among the dignitaries present were Shri Rohit Kansal, Additional Secretary, Union Ministry of Textiles and the senior officers and representatives of the jute and Textile Ministry.

ICAR-CIFRI Observes World Fisheries Day

Kolkata, (KCN): World Fisheries Day, observed annually on November 21, plays a pivotal role in raising global awareness about the critical contributions of fisheries to food security, nutrition, and livelihoods. Since its inception, it has served as a platform for promoting responsible fisheries management while addressing challenges such as overfishing, illegal fishing, and the impacts of climate change. The theme for World Fisheries Day 2024 is "Let the waters teem with living creatures," which highlights the indispensable role of small-scale fishers in promoting sustainable aquatic ecosystems and safeguarding biodiversity. ICAR-Central Inland Fisheries Research Institute (ICAR-CIFRI) celebrates World Fisheries Day each year at its headquarters and regional centres. In alignment with the 2024 theme, the institute will observe the event in Basanti block, Sundarbans, in collaboration with Joygopalpur Gram Vikash Kendra (JGVK).

JGVK and NAAS Regional Chapter, Kolkata. About 300 small-scale fishers and fish farmers, including women were sensitised through this programme. Additionally, students also participated in learning about sustainable fisheries practices. Esteemed guests, including Dr. Purnendu Biswas, former Vice Chancellor of WBUA & FS, addressed the audience and also highlighted the importance of the conservation of aquatic life to meet SDG goals. During the technical session, Dr. B.K Das, Director CIFRI, emphasised that the sensitisation programme would significantly contribute to sustainable fisheries, enhance livelihood security, and strengthen the capacity of fishers to address environmental and economic challenges.

students, fishers, fish farmers, NGO workers, Scientists and others. Dr Purnendu Biswas, Former Vice Chancellor of WBUA & FS, addressed the audience and also highlighted the importance of the conservation of aquatic life to meet SDG goals. During the technical session, Dr. B.K Das, Director CIFRI, emphasised that the sensitisation programme would significantly contribute to sustainable fisheries, enhance livelihood security, and strengthen the capacity of fishers to address environmental and economic challenges.

DR. Das also informed the gathering that, ICAR-CIFRI has already joined hands with the JGVK to empower the women of the ST community in Sundarbans by providing them with fisheries inputs like fish seed, feed, etc. A team of scientists also visited the respective water bodies to monitor the growth of the fish and to test the water quality parameters. Dr R.K Manna, HOD, RWF Division, Dr Archana Sinha, Head AEB Division and Dr Armaan Ullah Muzaddadi, Head, OWAPM Division, addressed the audience and sensitized the fishers and fish farmers about sustainable management of small-scale fisheries. Through this collaboration, ICAR-CIFRI, JGVK and NAAS Regional Kolkata aim to empower local fishing communities in the Sundarbans by encouraging awareness and sustainable practices. This initiative is a step toward balancing environmental conservation with socio-economic growth, ensuring a resilient future for fisheries and those who depend on them.

Lady Tarzan's fight for forest preservation

Bhubaneswar(KCN):

In a world racing against time to save its dwindling green cover, Jamuna Tudu has emerged as a fierce advocate for India's forests, dedicating her life to this cause. Born in Odisha's Mayurbhanj district, Tudu's environmental journey began in Jharkhand's Potka village, where she witnessed the destruction of forests at the hands of the timber mafia first-hand. Unafraid and determined, she fearlessly confronted them at great personal risk. Until then, it was unheard of for a woman armed with an axe to take on gun-toting smugglers in the hinterlands of Jharkhand to save forests. This, however, marked the beginning of an extraordinary initiative that many other women from her community would believe in and join later. Thus started Van Suraksha Samiti (Forest Protection Committee), uniting local communities, especially women, in the fight to protect their forests. Under her leadership, the committee successfully safeguarded vast stretches of forest, empowering villagers to take collective action against environmental degradation. For her unwavering commitment to environmental conservation and her unique method of patrolling the forest by foot, she was addressed as 'Lady Tarzan' by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. In recognition of her remarkable achievements, Tudu was honoured with the Woman Transforming India (WTI) award by NITI Aayog in 2017. Two years later, she was bestowed with India's fourth-highest civilian honour—Padma Shri—by the President.

"I don't do it for the awards. The forest is our mother. If we don't protect her, no one else will," she quips. True to her words, on each World Environment Day, she ties rakhis—symbolic of sibling bonds—around trees. Through this simple yet meaningful act, she aims to highlight a deep personal connection to the cause. Tudu's efforts have had a ripple effect. She now leads a network of over 300 women across 30 villages, all committed to protecting their forests. Together, they have not only preserved thousands of trees but also nurtured a sense of environmental stewardship that could well outlast their lifetimes. As climate change accelerates and natural resources dwindle, the world could learn from Tudu's example. Her fight is a reminder that the frontlines of conservation are often local—and that real change begins with those willing to defend their patch of earth, irrespective of the odds. Dharitri Youth Conclave on Climate Change, scheduled to be held in Bhubaneswar November 24, will see the presence of Jamuna Tudu, who will share her journey with the participants. Organised by Dharitri, one of Odisha's largest and most trusted newspapers, the conclave is part of its ongoing mission to combat climate change by empowering young climate warriors.

Dharmasala MLA Himanshu Sekhar Sahoo attacked by miscreants

Jajpur (KCN):

Dharmasala MLA Himanshu Sekhar Sahoo alleged that miscreants attacked him in Odisha's Jajpur district Wednesday evening. Sahoo alleged that the attack took place near Budha river bridge. No FIR has been filed in this regard, police said. However, the Jajpur SP Yashpratap Shrimal said appropriate action will be taken against persons indulging in violence and attacking the MLA. "I was going to Jajpur Town to attend an urgent official meeting at the

DM office this evening. When I reached near Budha river bridge, my vehicle got stranded on the road due to a road blockade by locals. As I was waiting, some unidentified miscreants armed with lethal weapons rushed to my vehicle and vandalised it," the MLA said. "They also attacked me and my personal security officer and snatched my gold chain from my neck..." said the MLA. When news of the attack on Dharmasala legislator Sahoo reached the Dharmasala area, hundreds of his supporters reached the spot. There was a faceoff between the supporters of the Sahoo and the attackers. This faceoff prompted local police and even Jajpur SP to rush to the spot to rescue the MLA.

Infant sold for Rs 20K

Rayagada / JK Pur(KCN):

Allegedly driven by poverty, a couple from Nuapada slum under Chandili police limits in Rayagada district sold off their newborn daughter for Rs 20,000 to a couple from Pedapenki village in Parvathipuram Manyam district of Andhra Pradesh. The alleged incident took place November 11. However, matters came to the fore after the Child Welfare Committee (CWC) members visited Nuapada slum Tuesday on a tip-off, and launched an investigation. Authorities have instructed the couple, who took custody of the child, to appear before the CWC with the baby by Wednesday. The baby girl was born November 3 at the Rayagada district headquarters hospital (DHH) to Kumud Ganta and Rahul Dhanabeda who were already under severe financial duress with another three-year-old daughter to look after. "When a middleman approached us, we handed over the baby to K Rajasekhar and his wife from Pedapenki village in exchange for Rs 20,000," Rahul said. A truck helper with a meagre Rs 1,500 monthly salary, Rahul said his family's plight was exacerbated by the lack of a ration card, which denied them access to subsidised foodgrains under the public distribution system (PDS). "Due to our mounting financial difficulties, we took the heartbreaking decision to give up the newborn," Rahul said. The transaction took place November 11 by signing an agreement before a notary to formalise the adoption. A written agreement has also been made on court papers. However, legal experts have questioned the validity of the adoption as a notarised agreement does not permit child adoption. CWC members, including Priyadarshini Mahakud and Satyapriya Pradhan, legal expert Nirakar Padhi, and district Child Protection Officer Bichitra Sethy are investigating the case. Officials said appropriate action will be initiated following the investigation. Nevertheless, the incident has sparked widespread concerns, raising questions over the enforcement of child welfare laws, and the urgent need to address poverty in vulnerable communities.

Two arrested in Odisha for killing leopard, eating its meat

Nuapada(KCN):

Two persons were arrested in Odisha's Nuapada district for allegedly killing a leopard and eating its meat, officials said Wednesday. The forest officials of Komna forest range Tuesday seized the severed leopard head, skin and meat and arrested two persons from the spot. Principal Chief Conservator of Forst (PCCF) Susanta Nanda said that the two persons and their associates laid a trap to hunt wild boars near the forest in Deodhara village.

However, a leopard fell into the trap. "They killed the leopard and consumed its meat", the PCCF added. Condemning the eating of leopard meat, Nanda said. "This kind of people should be socially ostracised. The people should be aware that this is not acceptable in a civil society." Describing the eating of leopard meat by the two persons as "barbaric", Nanda said: "In my long career as a forest department officer, I have never heard a human being eating meat of leopard or tiger."

Technology will play vital role to increase market penetration, spread awareness and build consumer confidence in expansion of Insurance market

KOLKATA(PARTHA ROY): Addressing the 10th edition of INSUREIND organized by CII in Kolkata on 21st November 2024 on theme, "Inclusive Protection: Insurance for Stronger India", Smt Mandakini Balodhi, Director, Department of Financial Services, Ministry of Finance, Government of India said that the initiative is both timely and transformative as Bharat chart its centenary journey. Smt Balodhi said in her Keynote Address that Insurance is an enabler, a resilience and protector of dignity, and a driver of equitable growth. She further said that India has made substantial progress in embedding financial inclusion and ensuring social security. Speaking about the various initiatives taken by the Government of India, Smt Balodhi said that the Pradhan Mantri Jeevan Jyoti Bima Yojana and Pradhan Mantri Suraksha Bima Yojana are the two flagship social security schemes that have provided life and accident insurance at reasonable costs fostering a culture of risk protection and "revolutionized access to insurance". According to her, there have been 21.52 crore enrolments under Pradhan Mantri Jeevan Jyoti Bima Yojna. And there have been 47.28 crore enrolments under Pradhan Mantri Suraksha Bima Yojana so far. The Ayushman Bharat Yojana, Smt Balodhi further said, "stands as the world's largest health insurance initiatives safeguarding vulnerable people from catastrophic health issue expenditures". In the last

30 days, The Ayushman Bharat Vay Vandana Card that was launched on 29 October 2024, offering protection to senior citizens above 70 years, has witnessed a total enrolment of 10 lakh senior citizens out of which 4 lakhs are women. A sum of INR 9 crores has been authorized for the treatment of senior citizens, she said. The Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana has been playing vital role in reducing farmers' vulnerability to uncertainties. These schemes, coupled with India's robust digital transformation have laid a robust foundation, yet challenges remain, Smt Balodhi said. The penetration of insurance is still to catch the global average of 7% and particularly in the rural and semi-urban areas, the segments remain largely unserved. She said that there is still quite limited awareness among the citizens and insurance is looked at as a discretionary expense rather than a necessity. The lack of awareness coupled with low financial literacy accelerates protection gaps, the Director, Department of Financial Services said. Smt Balodhi also said that India faces new risks including cyber threats, and climate change which require innovative and dynamic solutions. Other challenges include affordability and accessibility of insurance products to economically weaker sections from availing insurance. However, according to Smt Balodhi, the biggest challenge is the trust deficit and claim issue. Delayed claim settlement and lack of transparency have led to major disruptions in the insurance industry, she added. In her address, Smt Balodhi urged all stakeholders to come together and create an enabling ecosystem to achieve the dream of "Insurance for All" by 2047. The Vision 2047 of the regulator as well as the Vision 2047 of Vikshit Bharat sees insurance as a pillar of resilience. She enumerated the 5 key pillars of this vision as: • Financial inclusion through micro insurance – insurance must evolve to become a product of the privilege. There is a need to develop low-cost simple products catering to the needs of marginalised groups including daily wage earners, small farmers and gig workers. • Insurance solutions must be integrated with welfare schemes to ensure seamless access. • Further there is a need to promote women-centric insurance schemes and gender-specific products • The public digital infrastructure in the form of JAM Trinity must be utilized to promote insurance, simplify products and make claims and renewal more accessible. • AI and ML although disruptive will enhance the insurance sector through improved underwriting, detect frauds, and predictive analytics for better risk management • Climate change and risk mitigation is another important challenge. With the increasing intensity and frequency of drought, floods, and cyclones, it is the need of the hour to develop parametric insurance solutions. A moderated discussion focused on trust building vis-à-vis insurance, talent acquisition, capacity building, use of technology, and distribution models, among others. Ms Jasleen Kohli, Managing Director & CEO, Go Digit Insurance said that simplification and increasing the variety of insurance products coupled with a plethora of distribution will help in building the trust of customers. She also emphasized on building transparency, increased use of technology, open agent architecture structures, and lesser and regulated turnaround times for claim settlement to increase the trust factor. Speaking about attracting talented resources in the insurance geography. Mr Rajiv Gupta, President, PB Fintech Ltd spoke about the increased use of technology which has resulted in process efficiency and helped bring down costs. He advocated for more investment in technology to increase the profit margins of the stakeholders. Mr Gupta also spoke strongly for more insurance learning institutions in Tier II and Tier III cities to increase talent acquisition as well as penetration of insurance in those places. Mr. Gupta also called for industry-academia partnership in terms of co-curriculum programs in graduate colleges to make a generation employable in this vertical. Mr Gupta also advised consumers to explore various products by taking advantage of technology and opting for more value-added, competitive plans. Mr B K Nayak, Principal, College of Insurance, Insurance Institute of India, said that with India aiming at Insurance for All by 2047, there is significant scope for building careers in this geography as a lot of talented manpower is need of the hour. He also advocated for the right implementation of technology for the benefit of the common man. Mr Kaushik Mukerjee, Chairman, Economic Affairs & Taxation Subcommittee, CII Eastern Region & Regional Managing Partner – East, Price Waterhouse & Co LLP in his welcome address said that to achieve the IRDAI's vision of insurance for all, insurers and insurance intermediaries will need to grow and expand, driving distribution, insurance awareness and penetration. Mr Deepak Narayan Singh, Convenor, CII InsureInd & Chief Risk Officer, Haldia Petrochemicals Ltd, while setting the context for the conference, urged all stakeholders to come together to shape the insurance ecosystem. Mr Rajesh Khetan, of Economic Affairs & Taxation Subcommittee, CII Eastern Region spoke about risk mitigation in businesses to get ahead in the global value chain. The conference had sessions on the Importance of Insurance Coverage for Sustainable and Competitive Businesses; Technology Intervention in Insurance and Challenges faced by MSMEs to Access Insurance.

Nuvoco successfully completes AFR Project at itsRisda Cement Plant, Chhattisgarh and Nimbol Cement Plant, Rajasthan

Bhubaneswar : Nuvoco Vistas Corp. Ltd., India's fifth-largest cement group in terms of capacity and among the leading players in East India, successfully announced the completion of its Alternative Fuel Resource (AFR) project at Risda Cement Plant (RCP), Chhattisgarh and Nimbol Cement Plant (NCP), Rajasthan. This milestone achievement illustrates Nuvoco's commitment to reducing dependency on fossil fuels and promoting sustainable practices within the cement industry. With the use of alternative fuels, the company strives to reduce the usage of fossil fuels and minimize its environmental impact. Alternative fuels are a crucial step towards reducing carbon emissions and mitigating the adverse effects of climate change. Nuvoco has dedicatedly installed a system that is capable of utilizing agricultural waste, RDF (Refused Derived Fuel), plastic waste, municipal waste, biomass, tyre chips and other hazardous waste sources. By incorporating these alternative fuels into its manufacturing process, Nuvoco is taking significant strides towards achieving its sustainability goals. Nuvoco has introduced AFR feeding into the Pyro-process system for enabling uniform feeding and incorporating all necessary safety interlocks throughout. This system allows us to consume alternate fuels in an efficient and effective way without impacting the environmental standards prescribed and approved by the Pollution Control Board of India. Although this project is primarily focused on environmental sustainability, it also has several other benefits for clinker production and can offer significant cost savings through its alternative fuels program. Mr. Jayakumar Krishnaswamy, Managing Director, Nuvoco stated. "As part of our PROTECT OUR PLANET agenda, we view the AFR project as an important step towards fulfilling our commitment to sustainable cement manufacturing and reducing the environmental impacts. The successful completion of this project demonstrates our commitment to reducing carbon emissions, maximizing waste consumption, and demonstrating responsible resource management practices." Additionally, he stated, "The adoption of alternative fuels also aids in resolving issues associated with landfills and unhygienic waste accumulation. For instance, in its cement manufacturing process, Nuvoco uses plastic waste, RDF (Refused Derived Fuel), and municipal waste that is harmful to cattle and other wildlife due to its carcinogenic qualities as an alternative fuel. This along with other themes under PROTECT OUR PLANET agenda are enabling Nuvoco to build robust partnerships with several stakeholders and contribute to society at large."

Jindal Stainless signs MoU with SCTEVT, Odisha to train future-ready stainless steel professionals

Bhubaneswar: Odisha's State Council for Technical Education & Vocational Training (SCTEVT) today signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Jindal Stainless to promote technical education in the field of stainless steel and its various applications. Under this MoU, stainless steel courses will be introduced in all the Polytechnic colleges in Odisha from June 2022. The MoU was signed by Vice Chairman, SCTE&VT, Shri Reghu G (IAS) and Unit Head, Jindal Stainless Limited (JSL), Shri Deepak Agrawal. Dignitaries present at the ceremony included Chairman, SCTE&VT and Principal Secretary to Government, Skill Development and Technical Education (SDTE) and Industries Departments, Shri Hemant Sharma (IAS) said, "This collaboration with Jindal Stainless will enhance the learning experience for students and faculty both, as it will give them insights about and practical exposure to the stainless steel industry.

Upadhyay, and General Manager, Sales & Distribution, Mr Ranit Rana. Commending the development, Chairman, SCTE&VT and Principal Secretary to Government, SDTE and Industries Departments, Shri Hemant Sharma (IAS) said, "This collaboration with Jindal Stainless will enhance the learning experience for students and faculty both, as it will give them insights about and practical exposure to the stainless steel industry.

Nitish Reddy a guy to keep an eye on this series - Morne Morkel

New Delhi: In the clearest hint yet about the possibility of Nitish Reddy's Test debut in Perth, India's bowling coach Morne Morkel heaped praise on the 21-year-old and reckoned he can 'hold one end up' for India during the five Tests in Australia. The all-rounder from Andhra has made rapid strides in 2024, starting with an eye-catching IPL season and his T20I bow soon after. He has just 23 first-class games to his name but gives the team the profile of a player (seam-bowling allrounder) they've always wanted on overseas tours. Nitish played in both the

A games in Mackay and Melbourne, forging two solid partnerships with Dhruv Jurel in the second fixtures. He also bowled 31 overs across four innings, conceding runs at under three-an-over in three of them. "[Nitish Reddy] is one of the young guys that we've mentioned. He's got that batting [and] all-round ability. He'll be a guy that can sort of hold that one end up for us. He hits the bat a little bit harder than you think. So on these sort of conditions where there might be a little bit of seam movement up front, especially the first couple of days, he'll be a handy bowler. He's very accurate, a wicket-to-wicket style of bowler. It's a lovely opportunity for him to fill that allrounder spot." "Any team in the world always wanted the allrounder to take that load off your fast bowlers, just to give them an extra bit of breathing time. So how we use him, how

Jasprit is going to use him, with maybe the spinner, to give himself, whoever's going to be the other quicks, time to catch their breath a little bit is going to be important. He's definitely a guy that is a player you can keep your eye on in this series." As far as keeping tabs goes, Indian management have also got their eyes on Mohammed Shami, who has made a strong comeback in a domestic game. He picked seven wickets across two innings in the Ranji game for Bengal against Madhya Pradesh in his first competitive match back in action after a year of being sidelined with injury. He bowled a total 43.2 overs in the fixture and came away unscathed. Cricbuzz had reported earlier that the team management is in no rush to send Shami to Australia. Interestingly, the 34-year-old has been picked in Bengal's squad for the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy, which will take place from November 23 to December 15. "We are keeping a close eye on Shami. He has been out for a year. For us, it is a massive win that he is back playing. How can we give him the best support to find his feet again? [We're] Working closely with the people back home. He is a world-class bowler," Morkel said. Morkel also remained hopeful about Shubman Gill recovering in time for the series opener.

The top-order batter had suffered a hairline fracture to his left thumb while taking a catch in the slip cordon during India's match simulation at the WACA in Perth on November 16. That injury was anticipated to rule him out of the first Test but Morkel reported improvement. India have also got Devdutt Padikkal to stay back after featuring for India A, as a top-order back-up. "Shubman [Gill] is improving on a day-by-day basis. We will take a call on the morning of the Test. He played well in the match simulation during the build-up, so fingers crossed," Morkel said.

New Delhi: West Indies head coach Andre Coley said on Wednesday that they need to leave behind their disappointing home Test series against South Africa and look forward to ending the year on a high as they prepare to take on Bangladesh in the two-match Test series, scheduled to start in Antigua from November 22. Even though a part of the World Test Championship, the series hardly holds much meaning to both the teams as currently Bangladesh and West Indies are eighth and ninth on the WTC standings respectively, with a point percentage of 27.50 and 18.52. However, the host will be eager to close the year with a win in which their only Test success remains in the 1-1 drawn series against Australia. West Indies lost their way after the series against Australia as they earned three successive losses to England but came up with an improved performance against South Africa as they managed to draw the opening Test while losing the second Test by 40 runs, which according to Coley is a big disappointment. "Very important (to end the year on a winning note) because coming out of it disappointment all around South Africa series," Coley said ahead of the series opener against Bangladesh. "Previously, first three or four days were hampered by rain and we have since been able to have a couple of good sessions on the ground here in Antigua and everybody is in good spirits and everybody is fit and available," he said. "It's very important for us to come out with a winning result on home soil before we head off to (Pakistan)... this is the final four Test matches in this edition of the World Test Championship it is very important for us to do well here win the series and get a momentum heading into Pakistan. West Indies fast bowler Alzarri Joseph, who was rested for the series against South Africa to manage his workload, returns for the two-Test series against Bangladesh at home. However, the host will miss the services of all-rounder Jason Holder in the series as he continues his rehabilitation from a shoulder injury. "Each player has an opportunity. We have players here who have played against Bangladesh home and away and were successful and won those series. You know players are familiar with each other and we also have some new players who have not played any of those series," said Coley. "It's an opportunity for senior players and emerging players you know to show we are capable of as a team and we continue to build and put everything together on the back of last year and year and half and as you said look to close on the year in really good form." The second Test is scheduled at Jamaica on November 30.

Border-Gavaskar Trophy Guide: All you need to know about Aus vs Ind Test series

New Delhi: Border-Gavaskar Trophy Complete Guide: India and Australia will meet in a much-awaited five-Test series from November 22 to January 7. Here's all that you need to know about the biggest spectacle of Australia's summer. It's that time of year when ardent cricket fans set their alarms for early mornings. Yes, the much-awaited Border-Gavaskar Trophy is here – one of cricket's premier Test series, played between India and Australia. Some are even calling it a bigger rivalry than the Ashes. Let's have that debate later.

The 2024-25 Border-Gavaskar Trophy, scheduled from 22nd November to 7th January, promises to be different. For the first time since the 1991-92 series, the rivalry will span five Tests instead of four. India are hurting. They weren't expected to lose at home, but a spirited New Zealand side handed them a humiliating 0-3 whitewash. Meanwhile, Australia will be hungrier than ever, having lost the last four Border-Gavaskar series, including two at home. They certainly won't want India to complete a hat-trick of away wins.

For Pat Cummins, the marvellous captain, this series is the final frontier. For India, it's also a crucial test for the new captain-coach pairing of Rohit Sharma and Gautam Gambhir, who will be eager to silence their critics. India's chances of reaching the World Test Championship (WTC) final for the third consecutive time also took a significant blow after the shocking defeat to New Zealand. To secure a guaranteed berth, they need to beat Australia 4-1; even a 3-2 victory may leave their fate hanging in the balance.

Pakistan focusing on Champions Trophy: Newly appointed Aaqib Javed outlines goals

New Delhi: Newly appointed head coach of the white-ball team Aaqib Javed has said that the Pakistan team is focusing on ODI cricket and Champions Trophy. Javed said that he wants to settle a unit in this format ahead of the ICC tournament. Pakistan cricket team are now focusing on Champions Trophy, set to be played early in 2025, said newly appointed white-ball coach Aaqib Javed. Javed took over from interim coach Jason Gillespie under whom Pakistan beat Australia in the ODI series. Speaking ahead of the tour of Zimbabwe, Javed said that his goal was to make a settled squad in the white-ball team which could play in the Champions Trophy. Pakistan are expected to host the tournament in 2025, however there is no confirmation of the schedule from the International Cricke

Council due to BCCI's issues with travelling to the country. "Our main focus at the moment is on ODI cricket ahead of the Champions Trophy," Aaqib Javed said in a press conference ahead of the white-ball tour of Zimbabwe. "You'll see a settled team in this format. You'll see changes in the T20I format. We plan to give new players chances in the Zimbabwe series. It is a message and opportunity to the new players to take the chances they've been given. If you don't give new players chances, you'll never get the opportunity to improve your bench strength. Javed credited the side under the captaincy of Mohammad Rizwan for their 2-1 win Down Under. This was Pakistan's first ODI series win in over a decade in Australia. "Australia has never been an easy tour. When the team went, if we had said we were going to win the series, people would have thought it impossible. Under the new captain [Mohammad Rizwan], they showed the world they could do it after 22 years [by winning 2-1]. They also had chances in the three T20Is, but if you don't avail your chances, you won't win," Javed concluded. Pakistan's Zimbabwe tour will start with the ODIs on November 24, 26 and 28 followed by the T20Is on December 1, 3 and 5. All games will be played in Bulawayo. Pakistan's ODI squad for Zimbabwe: Aamir Jamal, Abdullah Shafique, Abrar Ahmed, Ahmed Daniyal, Faisal Akram, Haris Rauf, Haseebullah (WK), Kamran Ghulam, Mohammad Hasnain, Mohammad Rizwan (WK), Muhammad Irfan Khan, Saim Ayub, Salman Ali Agha, Shahnawaz Dahani and Tayyab Tahir. Pakistan's T20I squad for Zimbabwe: Ahmed Daniyal, Arafat Minhas, Haris Rauf, Haseebullah (WK), Jahandad Khan, Mohammad Abbas Afridi, Mohammad Hasnain, Muhammad Irfan Khan, Omaid bin Yousuf, Qasim Akram, Sahibzada Farhan, Salman Ali Agha, Sufyan Muqeem, Tayyab Tahir and Usman Khan. India Today has learnt that top cricket administrators are currently emphasising the importance of India's participation in the marquee International Cricket Council (ICC) tournament, given the significant following and revenue the Men in Blue bring.

Salahuddin to essay batting coach role in Bangladesh's tour of WI

Dhaka: Bangladesh men's team batting coach David Hemp will not be involved with the side in the tour of West Indies, with newly appointed senior assistant coach Mohammad Salahuddin will look after the batting department in the Caribbean. BCB had previously been reluctant to rope in local coaches but the board's newly-appointed president Faruque Ahmed has changed that, by appointing Salahuddin as the senior assistant coach of the men's team. Salahuddin, whose contract will run until March 15 next year, began his second stint with the tour of the West Indies.

staying in Bangladesh, is expected to return as HP head coach again.

Hemp joined BCB as a High Performance head coach in May 2023 but later became the batting coach of the national team. It is understood Hemp, who did not travel with the team to West Indies and currently

"Hemp is not part of the team as we have appointed Mohammad Salahuddin as senior assistant coach. He will look after our batting," BCB cricket operation in-charge Shahriar Nafees told Cricbuzz on Wednesday. Nafees also added that Bangladesh have appointed India's Akshay Hiremath as performance analyst for the tour of West Indies. He replaced Mohsin Sheikh.
