Gond said that another 31 cases are under investigation.

After resigning as BJD's RS member, Sujeet Kumar joins BJP

New Delhi(KCN): Former BJD Rajya Sabha MP Sujeet Kumar joined the BJP in the presence of senior party leaders Friday.

BJD Friday expelled Kumar for "anti-party activities", soon after he tendered his resignation from the Upper House of Parliament, a source said.

Kumar joined the BJP in the presence of Union minister Dharmendra Pradhan, BJP national general secretary Arun Singh, the party's Odisha in-charge Vijaypal Singh Tomar, MP Bhartruhari Mahtab and other leaders.

The BJP's chief spokesperson Anil Baluni, a Rajya Sabha member, was also present.

Addressing a joint press conference at the BJP headquarters in Delhi, Kumar said he joined the saffron party as he was impressed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's work and his vision for making India a developed country by 2047 and Odisha a developed state by 2036.

"For me, country is first and foremost. Nation first has always been my philosophy. I lived abroad for many years and worked for organisations such as the UN (United Nations) and the World Economic Forum. I returned to India in 2011 to contribute to the development of my country," he said.

Kumar said he felt Odisha's Kalahandi district did not develop as it could have due to the "kind of corruption and bad policy" prevalent there.

"Several BJD leaders, including those from the district, were involved. I tried to bring this to the notice of the BJD leadership several times. But when I saw that nothing was happening, I had to take this decision (to join the BJP)," he said.

"I resigned from the Rajya Sabha membership today. I was elected to Rajya Sabha as a BJD candidate in 2020. I want to thank BJD president and former Odisha chief minister Naveen Patnaik for sending me to the Rajya Sabha," he added.

Expressing his happiness at joining the BJP, Kumar thanked party chief JP Nadda, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and other leaders.

"I have been an ardent admirer of Prime Minister Modi. I am glad that I am joining the party to which he belongs... My goal is to further strengthen the BJP and contribute to the country's progress," he added.

Welcoming Kumar into the BJP fold, Union minister Pradhan said, "I am confident that he will contribute to fulfilling Prime Minister Narendra Modi's resolve of making India a developed country." Baluni described Kumar as a very "important personality" and expressed happiness over his decision to join the BJP. "He had been a BJD Rajya Sabha member since 2020. He resigned from the Rajya Sabha today," he said.

The BJD Friday

expelled Kumar with immediate effect for anti-party activities.

"He has let down the party, which sent him to the Rajya Sabha and the hopes and aspirations of the people of Kalahandi district," BJD chief Naveen Patnaik said in an order.

In a post on X, the vice-president's secretariat said Jagdeep Dhankhar, who is also the Rajya Sabha chairperson, had accepted Kumar's resignation from the Council of States (Rajya Sabha) with immediate effect, finding the same in conformity with Article 101 3(b) of the Constitution.

Ruckus in Odisha Assembly over Ravenshaw University row, House adjourned twice parties stormed the well of the House, chanting slogans against the BJP government besides accusing it of attempting to suppress opposition voices and labeled the police action against Roy as "politically motivated" and a case of vendetta politics.

In his defence, Roy said he had visited Ravenshaw University at the invitation of some students and joined the torch rally, but never entered the campus. The rally was held from Clock Chowk to College Square and Roy claimed that he was outside the varsity gate.

"As the BJP often used CBI and ED against political opponents, here also the state government framed charges against me to take political revenge," Roy said.

Roy was supported by senior member Ganeswar Behera of BJD who strongly condemned police action and said this was beginning of the vendetta politics of BJP in Odisha. "The allegations against the MLA are false, fabricated and politically motivated. It is unfortunate and will not be tolerated," he said, adding that the people who are unaware of history are demanding name change of Ravenshaw University.

Behera said Odisha's eminent writer and social reformer Fakir Mohan Senapati in his writings had praised Thomas Edward Ravenshaw, the then commissioner in-charge of Odisha during British Rule in 1865.

BJP MLA Iraish Acharya, however, defended Pradhan's idea of name change and alleged that Ravenshaw was responsible for the death of millions of people during the Great Odisha Famine in 1966.

"As a ruler, Ravenshaw should be held responsible for death of so many people. Instead of helping the people, Ravenshaw went on a 70 days leave during the famine," the BJP MLA said justifying the idea of changing the varsity's name.

Unable to run the House, Speaker Surama Padhy first adjourned the House till 12.30 PM. When the House reassembled after the break, the Congress members also joined the BJD and raised slogans against the BJP government demanding a statement from the state government on the row. As the din continued, Padhy adjourned proceedings till 4pm.

Article 370 now history, will never come back: Amit Shah at BJP manifesto launch for J&K polls Jammu(KCN): Union Home Minister Amit Shah released Friday the BJP's manifesto for the Jammu and Kashmir Assembly polls, and asserted that Article 370 has become "history" and will never make a comeback in the Union territory.

Addressing a press conference here, the senior BJP leader said the last 10-year period will be written in golden letters in the history of the country and J&K, and urged people to vote his party to power to continue good governance.

Shah reached Jammu earlier in the day on a two-day visit to kickstart the BJP's campaign for the assembly polls scheduled to be held in three phases September 18, 25 and October 1.

"I have gone through the National Conference agenda. I want to make it clear to the whole country that Article 370 has become history and will never make a comeback," the Union home minister said in his speech before releasing the BJP manifesto.

He said Article 370 is not part of the Constitution anymore. "This Article has only given arms and stones in the hands of the youth and facilitated them to tread the path of terrorism," Shah added.

"I want to tell Omar Abdullah that whatever the results, we will not allow you to touch the reservation granted to Gujjars, Bakerwals and Pahadis," he said. Shah added terrorism will be completely eradicated from Jammu and Kashmir. "A white paper will be issued to fix the responsibility of those involved in the emergence of terrorism in J&K," he added.

Appealing to the people of Jammu and Kashmir to vote for the BJP in the assembly elections, Shah said, "Give us a five-year tenure to ensure the development of the region."

Conviction ,Commitment & Deep Pockets are key to script success in Food Businesses: Master Chef Ranveer Brar

Kolkata (PARTHA ROY): Indian Chamber of Commerce (ICC) organised a special interaction with Celebrity MasterChef Ranveer Brar during the "India Luxe Lifestyle Forum," a Gateway to the Eastern Luxury Market on Wednesday, 4th September 2024 in Kolkata. The session aimed to explore and elevate the culinary space, discussing hurdles to succeed within the space and shedding light of ongoing trends. The session was further enriched by the presence of Mr. Sagar Daryani, Co-founder, WOW

Momo and Mr. Rohit Surana, Ex Co-chair ICC Retail Committee & Former Partner, Tejas Spire LLP. Iterating on the emerging culinary trends, Celebrity Master Chef Ranveer Brar explained, "Food businesses need to understand that the product is useless without the correct market, where it fits. The product is only 20% of the game. The rest is about finding the right market, which means identifying where to place the product, who the customer is, and whether there's a sizable market for it. The second key point is understanding what form the consumer wants the product in. A common mistake made by food businesses is believing they have the best product simply because they use top-quality ingredients. However, even the best product is useless without the right market fit. As a chef who is typically focused on the product, I can tell you that selling is about much more. Everything—product, price, promotion—must align with the market. The consumer is king and even a chef must acknowledge that. Whatever cost or quality is offered becomes redundant if the customer doesn't want it. I always tell my chefs that sustainability is key to business survival in the food sector. For example, if we're selling lentils for 100 dirhams and can't make it for 60 dirhams ensuring quality, business won't flourish. The food business is also driven by value, not just by selling ingredients. You can't measure stories, connections, passion or emotions, yet these are the very elements that build a successful food business. It's these intangible aspects that add value and sets our industry apart. The world often views India as a singular concept, overlooking its rich diversity. While it's important to present a unified idea of India, this vision must be inclusive of the many forms of cuisines that exist. Historically, what we've showcased as Indian culinary heritage." Commenting on the tacking hurdles within the food business, Master Chef Ranveer Brar said, "The food business isn't like the stock market; you can't hedge your bets. The start-stop mechanism isn't fundamentally beneficial for the food business. Either you go all in or don't go at all. You might face failures—I've closed more

Dr. S. Radhakrishnan Speaks to Teachers

The role of teachers in the society is sacrosanct and teaching as a profession blended with passion is a cut above the rest. I express my sincere thanks, gratitude and appreciation to the intelligentsia and erudite community for their unflinching determination and unwavering effort to educate and enlighten an ever-transforming country, India. This is not the day to celebrate my birth day, but also a day to reaffirm the significant contribution of teachers to the making of a nation. Teachers are lamps of a culture who shine brightly and spearhead the fight against darkness like ignorance and evils in the society. The Indian mystic poet, pioneer of Bhakti movement and Sant Kabir pinpoints the gravity of teachers in his words- "If the whole earth is transformed into paper with all the big trees of forests into pens; if the entire water in the seven oceans is transformed into writing ink; if for the eternity I were to write the glory of the guru, it would not be enough". Such is the greatness of the teachers who are the fountainhead of knowledge and inspiration for children. Teachers can only solve the equation of success by substituting children's fear with confidence with their intellect and working diligently with steadfastness. Whether you come to this profession under compulsion or having a fire and passion, responsibilities of training the minds remain unchanged. I reiterate you the dictum "Duty without love is deplorable, duty with love is desirable". I am sanguine that true teachers are always steadfast to this course of action. Children start coming to school at early impressionable age and parents feel rest assured handing over the saplings to the teachers' hands which nurture them and help them grow fortifying with strength and confidence. Make no mistake, that a school is a home away from home and teachers are the second parents. So, society has a lot of expectations from the teachers as children spend most the formative periods of their life time in schools, colleges or universities. It goes without saying the integrity of men is measured by only their conduct, not by the position. As teachers are educated, enlightened and informed population, their sincerity, probity, rectitude and scrupulousness are the surest ways of promoting vigour of the society. India, an ancient civilization is a country consistently growing and renewing and the traditional Gurukul system of learning has evolved to the modern system of English education. I introduced western philosophies into Indian society with a view to making Indians cosmopolitan in outlook and liberated in spirits. The biggest determinant of our lives is culture, where we are born and the environment looks like. I have no reservations in saying that our culture is the best in the world. In this connection, you have to ensure that Indian culture must be intact and the guiding principles of the entire education system. Our culture has an X factor, for which the western countries are attracted. Chinese travelers Fa-Hien, Hiuen Tsang, Greek historian Megasthenes, Persian scholar Al-beruni, Moroccan traveler Ibn-Battuta etc. praised Indian culture effusively in their respective travel books. J.L. Nehru, the first prime minister of India said that Culture is the widening of mind and of the spirit, but the broadening of mind and spirit should not happen at the expense of the values, ideals and scruples etc. In the opinion of Greek philosopher, Aristotle 'Educating the mind without educating heart is no education at all'. Don't forget education is alive when it teaches life itself. Being the fulcrum of the whole education system there are many tasks cut out for the teachers. Let's undertake the journey of inner transformation. The nectar of immortal bliss is lying within us, wanting to be tasted. We have to remember that the goal of education is the advancement of knowledge and dissemination of truth, which teachers can only mobilize. Teach your children that there is a dichotomy between human being and being human. Remind the younger generation that fragrance of flowers spreads only in the directions of the wind, but the goodness of a human being spreads in all directions. Infuse the attributes like discipline, honesty, truthfulness, sincerity, self-sufficiency and above all patriotism in their ambit free education, but stays away from the freebie culture when grows up. Let them understand the dignity of work so that they won't live a parasite life and the problem of unemployment is reduced to some extent. The concept of Atma Nirbhar India will come to fruition when they all existence. In fact, with mere bookish knowledge children can neither learn the essence of life nor fructify the ultimate goal of it. In the epic The Ramayana, Guru Vasistha described the prominence of wisdom to be cultivated by people for the greater interest of human civilization. He explained to Lord Ram "The eternity is not attained by rites and rituals, by pilgrimages or wealth; it is to be attained only by overcoming one's mind by the cultivation of wisdom". These priceless words have retained the significance even today though the world is consistently chopping and changing with the ongoing science and technology. If education does not bring a change in the heart of the learners developing humanity, the optimum developments in the field of science is futile and pointless. According to Gandhiji, the aim of education system is to manifest the latent, implicit and dormant potential inherent in a being and develop in students the capability relating to 'head, heart and soul', that is knowledge, wisdom and skill.

Swami Vivekananda believed that education is a balanced growth of both knowledge and wisdom in an individual, which trains not only intellect, but also grace and love into the heart of man, and wisdom is gained by constant assimilation of knowledge. Likewise, it's my firm conviction is that the purpose of education is to teach that life has a meaning, to awaken the innate ability to live the life of the soul by developing wisdom, to acquaint with social philosophy that should govern all our instructions, educational as well as economic and political. Teachers can do this through the interpretation of available facts and style of teaching and stimulating in their students the spirit of enquiry, criticism and evaluation. What I believe that modern education should be a synthesis of the study of the matters related to the everyday world and values of life. Teachers are the beacons of knowledge and they can do so not by imparting factual, disconnected pieces of information in isolation, but by logically and passionately analyzing the given information in broader perspective in the classrooms. For this purpose, they should have a deep command of their subjects they teach. They must continuously refresh their knowledge and skills, keeping themselves abreast with the updated information and persistently engage in research work. Apart from this, it's their utmost duty to be at the forefront of all social evolutions. Society is plagued with many social evils. Violence, bloodshed, corruption, nepotism and atrocities seem to be the unending miseries. In such a critical juncture, the teachers and students form a formidable combination and the youth should volunteer to fight against social maladies. The prosperity of a nation does not depend on the huge population, vastness of the area with rivers, hills, character. Explain them that reckless youth make a rufous age eliciting the meaning- 'Rule the youth well, for age will rule itself'. Make them understand that they have more duties for the country than enjoying privileges. It's not your only job to teach in the classrooms, but it is incumbent upon you to build characters through your resourcefulness. Mere educational degrees, certificates and testimonials hardly produce the yields required for a healthy nation. The Nobel laureate, R.N. Tagore said that the highest education is that which does not merely give us information, but makes our life in harmony with become job givers instead of job seekers. They should understand that they have more duties for the country than enjoying privileges. It's not your only job to teach in the classrooms, but it is incumbent upon you to build characters through your resourcefulness. Mere educational degrees, certificates and testimonials hardly produce the yields required for a healthy nation. The Nobel laureate, R.N. Tagore said that the highest education is that which does not merely give us information, but makes our life in harmony with natural resources, but it depends on the character and potential of human resources. It is gratifying that the youth of have a lion's share in the entire population of our country. The character of both the teachers and the children must be built by the condiments like philosophies, literature, religion and spiritualism through which nationalism is well protected. You can cross my heart truly cerebral teachers are the God head and the savior of a worthy culture and they can bring a paradigm shift in the modern education. By and large without inculcation of values in children and integration of morality in learning, the entire educational edifice will crumble. The true identities of our country are Shivaji, the great Mahratta ruler, Netaji, Bapuji and swami Vivekananda. They all remained steadfast to the cause of nationalism and patriotic fervor. Teachers are required to adopt the roles of Samarth Ram Das to get Shivaji, Ram Krishna Prama hansa to get Vivekananda, Kautilya to get Chandragupta Maurya, Gopal Krishna Gokhale to get Gandhiji and S.S. Iyer to get Abdul Kalam.

Bijaya Kumar Parhi

Is there a need to celebrate Ganesh Utsav publicly and collectively?

In Sanatan culture, Lord Ganesha is considered the deity of wisdom, prosperity, and the remover of obstacles. He is traditionally worshipped as the first deity in all religious, cultural, and social events. The public celebration of Ganesh Utsav in India began in 1893 when Bal Gangadhar Tilak initiated it as a political and social platform. At that time, its main goal was to unite Indian society against British colonial rule. Tilak believed that Ganesh Utsav was a festival that could bring together people of different communities and castes to rally against the British. By celebrating it publicly and collectively, a sense of unity and nationalism would grow among people, awakening a desire for freedom. As Tilak envisioned, the celebration of Ganesh Utsav later had a significant impact. This festival played a significant role in organizing people of different castes and communities in India's freedom movement against the British. However, it's not that Ganesh Utsav wasn't celebrated before Tilak's call. It was celebrated earlier as well, but it was primarily limited to homes and families. The question arises, Now that India is a fully independent republic, is it necessary for Indians to celebrate Ganesh

Anti-national forces are growing, and their activities are weakening the nation. People are being divided, lies are being spread, and superstition, magic, becoming causes of concern for both the government and common citizens. In such circumstances, organizing public and collective Ganesh Utsav at various places, with Experts are warning us that future pandemics may be related to mental health issues. If we want to save society from these alarming conditions, instill values of social interaction in children, reconnect families, castes, and prevent societal disintegration, it is essential to promote interaction through Sanatan festivals like Ganesh Utsav.

Although we claim to be living in a global village today, the loneliness that people experience is evident from the fact that neighbors don't even know each other. Families are falling apart, and many relationships within families are fading. In such a situation, children are not developing social values. Odisha - Marching towards the first Pastoral Livestock Census

Dr. Smruti Smita Mohapatra

Context
The majority of livestock output is produced in traditional agropastoral systems. There are 500 million pastoralists involved in the pastoral production system around the world. Of these, there are around 13 million pastoralists in India. Pastoralism contributes to 3% of the national Gross Domestic Product. Livestock maintained in nomadic systems include cows, buffalo, ducks, guinea fowls, donkeys, goats, pigs, sheep, camels, horses, and yaks. In January 2023, a Pastoral Cell was set up in the Ministry on persuasion and demands. The Department of Animal Husbandry and Dairying under the Ministry of Fisheries, Animal Husbandry and Dairying, Govt. of India has taken the historic initiative to enumerate pastoral livestock separately under the 21st Livestock Census for the first time in the country. Thus, the livestock of over 75 pastoralist communities spread across 17 states and two Union Territories in the country will be enumerated. With the collective efforts of pastoralist communities, the Pastoral Census Support Cell (comprising of CSOs such as Sahjeevan, Centre for Pastoralism, RRAN-WASSAN, and RLN-FES) and the Animal Husbandry Statistics Division of the Ministry, the first-ever Pastoral Livestock Census begins from September 2024. The state Animal Husbandry Department is the nodal agency for the implementation of the Livestock Census in the state. The enumerators and supervisors are the primary workers ensuring door-to-door collection of data in a Mobile App for the Census developed by the Animal Husbandry Statistics (AHS) Division of the Ministry. Who is a pastoral? Pastoralists are the moving livestock-keeping communities that migrate seasonally in search of feed and water. The Livestock Census 2024 Instruction Manual (Draft) defines pastoralists as the ones whose animals should be away from the village at least for one month and animals should be partially dependent on common resources like water resources, grazing sites, pastures, grasslands, village commons, etc. Both the owner and herder (in case the owner and herder are different) are subject to fulfilling the above principles. The household in the village will be considered a pastoral household, where all or any member in the household is involved in pastoralism. Pastoralist groups found in movement during the census may be tracked back to their permanent household to be considered under the Pastoral Livestock Census. Pastoralist groups living at their permanent household or any temporary point of movement in the states where they will be identified, are to be entered in the name of the state of origin. Pastoralism in Odisha In the eastern region of India, more than 2.5 million people from various communities in Bihar, Jharkhand, Odisha, Chhattisgarh, and West Bengal rely on sheep rearing for rural livelihood. These nomadic pastoralists travel with livestock while facing various challenges such as varying climate, and limited access to commons. Furthermore, some states/UT recognize them as scheduled tribes/castes, while others consider them to be other backward classes. The Pastoral Livestock Census 2024 Guidebook enlists Gouda/Yadav and Gaderia as the pastoralist communities in Odisha. However, many communities are into pastoral livestock production systems in the state. Nomadic pastoralists in Odisha move with their pigs monthly based on the resources at hand and the seasons. Pig pastoralists in coastal districts rely on saline vegetation and fisheries waste to survive. Ghasi, Golla, Kela, and Khedia are the pastoralists in Odisha. Leheri is the traditional pastoralist group in Odisha. Gond, Kandh, and Santhali have taken up pastoralism recently. Golla is the semi-nomadic pastoralists who rear the leggy and slow-growing, aggressively grazing Ganjam/Dalua breed of goats and sheep in the Ganjam, Gajapati, and Nayagarh districts. The Golla women are also involved in the rearing of small ruminants. Kela is the semi-nomadic pig pastoralist community in the Nayagarh region. Indigenous breeds of pig in Odisha such as Pakhri, Swara, and Ghantia are used to obtain pork. Tribes of Domb, Oram, Kela, Ghasi, Kandara, Sanara, Khadia, Gond, Santhali, and Leheri rear pigs in Odisha. Ganjam Golla pig is medium-sized and black-skinned, a prolific type of grazing breed with a strong snout and a shaped abdomen. Pig pastoralists mostly belong to the lower castes like Domb, Ghasi, Kela, Sanara, Ganda, Bauri, and Kandara in the coastal districts of Cuttack, Puri, Khurda, Nayagarh, and Balasore. Tribes belonging to Oram, Khadia, and Leheri caste rear pigs of local varieties. Tribes such as Khadia, Oram, Leheri, Kondh, Gond, Santhals, and Munda rear pigs in the districts of Sundargarh, Sambalpur, and Mayurbhanj. Gukha caste in coastal districts of Odisha rear native pigs as a source of livelihood. The Kela tribal pig pastoralists are nomadic, while Oram, Khadia, Leheri, Santhals, Domb, Ghasi, Sanara, and Patra are sedentary in settlement. Pastoralists like Oram, Khadia, Leheri, Santhals, Domb, Ghasi, Sanara, and Patra take animals for grazing in forestson every basis. There are also peri-urban pig pastoralists in Odisha. Thus, pig pastoralism in Odisha encompasses a few UN Sustainable Development Goals that sustain food security, zero hunger, livelihood, and climate action.

Way forward
Though the Livestock Census happens every five years, most of the pastoralists have always been left behind due to lack of awareness, or constant migration. For the first time, official data on the number of pastoralist families, the number of animals, and keeping breeds of the state will be available. The indigenous Chilika buffaloes in Odisha are one such breed. These buffaloes, fed on submerged weeds and aquatic vegetation in the brackish waters of Chilika Lake are known for their fat-rich milk, manure, and draught utility purposes. It will help to develop new schemes and policies for the sustainable livelihood of the pastoralists in the state and country. For the first time in a century of history of the Livestock Census in India, pastoralists will be counted in the Pastoral Livestock Census 2024. Community awareness through village panchayats, social media, and community radio programmes across Odisha is needed. The Pastoral Livestock

Census will be a significant step in the list of events leading to 2026, which the UN has declared the International Year of Rangelands and Pastoralists. Engaging with the mobile pastoralists, making them aware, and ensuring that no one is left behind in the Pastoral Livestock Census 2024 are the needs of the hour. Pastoralists are often overlooked during policy formulation. This pastoral livestock census can serve as a call to action for policymakers, urging them to recognize pastoralists' critical role and the urgent need for targeted interventions to empower and uplift these marginalized communities.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Sir

As we celebrate yet another teachers day to commemorate the birth anniversary of our great teacher president Dr S Radhakrishnan and to honour the architects, the creators and producers of tomorrow's citizens a look into the world's noblest profession goes to show that it's not all well in the teaching field in the present fast paced global scenario. According to the 2018 Global Teacher Status Index India ranks eight in the top ten countries where teachers are held in the highest esteem. Though it is a matter of pride it is not all smiles for the teaching community. Exploitations, coercion and threats loom above the teaching fraternity. Thousands of teachers get very poor salaries inspite of the hard work they do.

Those in the profession find a big salary gap especially between those under the government, aided and those from the private. Those in the private sector are exploited by to the maximum. Poor working conditions, continuous work, discrimination, pressure from the higher ups and regulatory bodies have driven many teachers to leave the profession. Time has changed and this is not a society that once not long ago revered the Guru next to the father and the mother. We often hear about teachers getting attacked.

Teachers nowadays are made to blindly follow diktats and orders from authorities which often results in getting them averse to the work. Besides, certain established list of theories burdened on the teachers to implement often deprive good teachers to come out with their best. The real potential, creative and critical thinking and the true teaching talent in them gets stunted. Appropriate measures if not taken now by stakeholders can result in the noblest profession losing its sheen and nobility.

Punjab Congress organises statewide protest against petrol and diesel price hike

Chandigarh (JAG MOHAN THAKEN)

September 6: Punjab Congress on Friday organised a statewide protest against the AAP government's decision to increase the prices of petrol and diesel on Thursday and gave a memorandum to the government officials demanding the immediate withdrawal of the price hike.

To enhance the state revenue, on Thursday, the Punjab Cabinet approved a hike in value-added tax (VAT) on petrol and diesel during a meeting chaired by Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann.

The VAT on petrol will increase by 61 paise per litre, while the tax on diesel will rise by 92 paise per litre.

The state Finance

Minister Harpal Singh Cheema stated that the VAT increase is expected to boost revenue by Rs 395 crore from diesel and Rs 150 crore from petrol.

Amarinder Singh Raja Warring, the President of the Punjab Pradesh Congress Committee and Member of Parliament from Ludhiana, led a powerful and peaceful protest today at Sri Muktsar Sahib against the Aam Aadmi Party government's recent decisions to hike the prices of petrol, diesel, and electricity in Punjab. Accompanied by several Punjab Congress leaders and workers, Raja Warring marched to the office of the District

Commissioner of Muktsar Sahib, where he personally handed over a memorandum demanding the immediate reversal of these price increases.

Speaking at the protest, Raja Warring voiced the collective anger and frustration of the people of Punjab, stating, "The AAP government is playing a cruel joke on the people of Punjab. By raising the prices of essential commodities like petrol, diesel, and electricity, they are deliberately pushing the middle class and the poor into deeper financial distress. We are here to make it clear that we will not stand by and watch as this government robs the pockets of Punjabis. This is the state government's way to fund their self-advertisement budget from the pockets of the middle class and the common man of Punjab."

The PPCC Chief was resolute in his stance, emphasizing that the Congress party would continue to fight for the rights of the people. "Today, we are not just submitting a memorandum to the DC of Muktsar Sahib; similar memorandums are being handed over to the DCs of every district across Punjab. We will ensure that the voice of the common people reaches the ears of the government," Raja Warring asserted. Raja Warring also criticized the timing and method of the AAP government's policy implementation. "The AAP is avoiding transparency and accountability by introducing these hikes outside of the Vidhan Sabha sessions. This is a blatant attempt to avoid opposition scrutiny and dodge questions that would expose their anti-people policies," he said.

The protest at Muktsar Sahib is part of a statewide movement initiated by the Punjab Congress leaders vowed to continue their protests until the government accedes to these demands, standing firm in their commitment to protect the interests of the common people of Punjab.

Women stage road blockade over delay in Aadhaar linking Bhograi (KCN): Irate women staged a road blockade on State Highway-57 opposite the Dehurda post office Thursday after they failed to get tokens to link their phone numbers with Aadhaar cards to apply for Subhadra Yojana. Sources said the post officials are issuing only 50 tokens per day. However, this sparked resentment and anger among hundreds of women waiting in queues for tokens to link their phone numbers with Aadhaar cards. They staged a road blockade demanding a resolution of their problem. On being informed, Bhograi tehsildar Himanshu Sekhar Giri reached the spot and took stock of the situation. The women relented after Giri advised them to correct their Aadhaar cards at 33 numbers of common service centres titled 'Mo Seva Kendras' and 'Jan Seva Kendras' functioning under the block. The tehsildar warned to cancel the licenses if any of the common service centres are found closed or collect money from the applicants of Subhadra Yojana. The scheme aims at enhancing the economic and social status of women by offering financial assistance and essential resources. Women within the age group of 21 to 60 can apply for financial assistance. Women who are income tax returnees or those engaged in government service are not eligible to apply under the scheme. Buoyed by this announcement, thousands of women under the block were seen making long queues outside the banks and post offices from Wednesday evening till Thursday to link their phone numbers with Aadhaar cards.

Five bootleggers arrested with seizure of 115 litre duplicate IMFL

Rourkela (KCN): At a time when the state government has launched a crackdown on illicit liquor trade across the state in the wake of hooch deaths in Ganjam, Rourkela Excise Department Thursday seized 115 litres of duplicate Indian-Made Foreign Liquor (IMFL) and arrested five persons in this regard. Besides, the Excise sleuths have seized one auto-rickshaw, one bike, one scooter and mobile phones of the persons involved in the illegal trade. Excise sources said the contraband was being brought from Jharkhand. The department did not reveal the identity of the five accused in the case. Two of them are regular offenders and have cases against them in different police stations, sources said. The arrested individuals include the owner of a 'dhaba' and two auto-rickshaw drivers. They used to bring the illicit liquor from Jharkhand for sale in the roadside eateries or 'dhobas'. The total value of the seized contraband has been pegged at Rs 5 lakh. Further investigation is going on in this regard. Speaking about the arrest and seizure, Excise official Archana Barik said, "We have launched an investigation into the matter. The arrests were made after we received a tip-off and came to know that the contraband was to be offloaded at Chhend." Barik informed that the total seizure was 115 litre and five persons were arrested. "However, we are sure more people are involved in this," Barik said. One Kalu from Rourkela is the mastermind of the entire operation and the search for him has been on for some time, she added. Duplicate Excise Licence and faulty barcodes that could not be scanned properly led to the conclusion that the liquor consignment was a duplicate.

Ather Energy announces its new family-oriented scooter, 'Ather Rizta'

Bhubaneswar: Ather Energy, one of India's leading electric vehicle manufacturers, announced on Friday the upcoming launch of its new family-oriented electric scooter, named "Rizta." Breaking away from their sporty and youthful design ethos, seen in the 450 Series, the Rizta aims to cater specifically to the needs of families. Rizta has been spotted testing in Bengaluru a couple of months ago. In a previous tweet by Tarun Mehta, co-founder & CEO of Ather Energy in November, he highlighted that Ather Energy will be launching a larger, family-friendly scooter that's comfortable, safe, spacious, and affordable. The excitement has soared now that Tarun has dropped a video teaser in his latest tweet, unveiling the family scooter name, Rizta. In his post, Mehta revealed the Rizta has been in development since 2019, with Ather's teams reportedly incorporating "ground-breaking integrations" that promise to elevate the ride experience for families. The scooter will be unveiled at the Ather Community Day Celebration 2024.

According to the announcement, the company aims to begin deliveries of the scooter in the next six months.

In the tweet, Tarun Mehta said: "With Rizta, we will be taking a big leap in comfort and safety. Our teams have been working on this for a while (this one has been on and off the table since 2019!) and have pulled off some amazing integrations that are industry-first and will make your ride experience way better. Rizta will also continue to maintain the same quality and reliability that Ather's other products are known for. We will be unveiling 'Ather Rizta' at ACDC 24 - Ather Community Day Celebration 2024. You will hear about it soon!"

Talking about Rizta in a tweet, Swapnil Jain, Co-founder & CTO of Ather Energy said, "When we started Ather the team believed, you need to be your own customer first. Most of us were below 25 years of age building the first made in India EV and were crazy about vehicle dynamics. Every single choice from mid mount motor, to aluminium cast chassis to dual disc brakes, were all focused on building the best handling vehicles. That was the Ather 450X for you. It did exactly what we intended. It is the best handling scooter and it was built for us. We are now all 30+ and have family. So we set out again to build for us. Introducing Ather Rizta. A family vehicle built with the same passion, but this time towards comfort and safety! Because now Family comes first!"

As the electric scooter industry witnesses a surge in demand, Ather's strategic move shows a commitment to diverse consumer needs, as they extend their expertise in electric scooters to meet the demands of families.

Doctors at HCG Panda Cancer Hospital successfully treated 33-year-old suffering from a rare case of Salivary Gland Cancer Bhubaneswar / Cuttack : Doctors at HCG Panda Cancer Hospital, Cuttack, treated 33-year-old Reema (name changed), hailing from Western Odisha, from Parotid Gland Carcinoma, a rare form of cancer that occurs in the salivary glands situated right below the earlobes. The cancerous gland was resected by conducting an advanced form of Total Parotidectomy Surgery on the patient while preserving her facial nerves, which are responsible for facial expressions. This incredible feat was achieved by Dr Manjunath NML, Senior consultant Surgical Oncologist and his team at HCG Panda Cancer Hospital Cuttack.

Reema suffered from unexplained excruciating pain continuously on the face and earlobes for a period of 8 months. In order to get relief from the pain, she visited neurological specialists and physicians from multiple hospital where she was misdiagnosed for other neurological diseases and was treated with analgesics, as they failed to diagnose her actual condition.

She consulted the doctors at HCG Panda Cancer Hospital, who discovered a vague swelling near the earlobes and with suspicion of a tumour. Imaging of the parotid gland was conducted to check for any malignancy and it was discovered that she had a parotid lobe tumour in the junction between the superficial lobe and the deep lobe, right behind the mandible or the lower jaw bone. Nerve sparing total parotidectomy was conducted using advanced form of equipments such as surgical loupes, nerves monitoring devices and Vessel Sealer, which helped surgeons achieve an absolute haemostasis or minimal blood loss during the surgery. This four- and half-hour surgical procedure was conducted by preserving the facial nerves that passes through the superficial lobe and deep lobe and any implication on the facial nerves would lead to disfigurement of the face, paralysis on one side of the face, lack of expressing emotions, inability to close the eyes and move the eyebrows. Elaborating the complexities of the surgery, Dr Manjunath NML said, "This is a unique and a rare case among young women, where we usually witness just one or two cases per year. This was one challenging case, as the cancer tumours were adjacent to the facial nerve and we had to carefully dissect them without causing any hindrance or impact to the nerve. With the advanced facilities at HCG Panda Cancer Hospital Cuttack, we were able to resect the tumour successfully and witness a big smile on the patients face."

Post her successful surgery, while thanking her doctors, Reema

said, "For the past eight months, the events that occurred to me because of this condition are unexplainable. I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to Dr Manjunath and the entire team for the timely help in relieving the pain I was enduring and helping me recover back from this deadly tumour. Also I was worried about my facial expressions when doctors explained me about the tumor in relation to facial nerve and need for its removal if required. Thanks again to the entire team for helping me to get rid of this bad tumor with my smile intact" (with a big smile on her face).

Symphony, in partnership with AEEE, invests in the 'SAHARA Programme'

Bhubaneswar : Symphony Ltd., in partnership with Alliance for an Energy Efficient Economy (AEEE), initiated the first-of-its-kind pilot programme "SAHARA", an initiative for Supporting Affordable Heat Action for Resilient Academic Institutions in India by deploying Evaporative Air Coolers. It is envisioned to enable a pathway to achieve Thermal Comfort for a Billion Lives (TCBL). This initiative aims to mainstream energy efficient, affordable and sustainable cooling solutions in India's academic institutions to bring a paradigm shift in the ecosystem level and enable TCBL. With around four trillion-person cooling degree days, India is characterised by tropical and sub-tropical climatic conditions coupled with a lack of access to cooling, rising temperatures and ever-evolving socio-economic trends such as rapid population growth and urbanisation, which will not only amplify the climate change-induced heat stress but would also fuel the demand for space cooling.

SAHARA programme would act as a catalyst for disseminating knowledge about the thermal comfort situation in India's academic institutions. It could bring about systemic changes on multiple fronts in the long term.

If we continue to give our best, we can defeat any team - Najmul

Dhaka: Bangladesh skipper Najmul Hossain said clean-sweeping Pakistan in the two-Test series can be considered a reference point as Bangladesh aim to do well in their upcoming Test series against India and South Africa. Bangladesh returned home on Thursday (September 5) after earning their maiden Test series win against Pakistan. They will begin their preparation for the two-match Test series against India from September 8. "Every cricketer will gain confidence from such a series win. The team's morale will be boosted. The series against India will definitely be challenging, and we need to come up with a new plan. If we give our best performance, we can achieve good results," Najmul told reporters at the Hazrat Shah Jalal International Airport upon his arrival from Pakistan. "Every match is approached with the belief that we play to win and we needed a solid example and we've provided that this time (with the clean sweep of Pakistan)," he said. "We know if we continue to play and give our best in the game, we can defeat any team. Instead of focusing too much on the results, we should concentrate on our process. I believe we can perform well in the next two series (against India and South Africa)." In the recent past there has been a lot of speculation regarding the future of head coach Chandika Hathurusingha after Bangladesh Cricket Board's new president Faruque Ahmed insisted that they are looking for better options going forward. Hathurusingha had said that he would like to sit with the new management to know their plans. Meanwhile,

Najmul credited Hathurusingha for providing clear plans to the players, which helped them to execute it well on the field. "Very good, I think the players are really clear with the coach and he was really supportive and gave proper plans to every player and the atmosphere in the dressing room was really wonderful," said Najmul. "Those who performed and didn't perform, all were supporting and backing one another. All the coaches were with the players both at good and bad times. According to me the coach played a great role in the dressing room in this series," he said.

"The matter of Shakib Bhai is a different issue. However, every player supports Shakib Bhai. We all know how dedicated he is to playing and how passionate he is about the game. He always thinks of the team first. If the issue is discussed with the Chief Advisor during the reception, every player will be on the side of Shakib," said Najmul.

Buttler's mental resurgence at the top of Dhananjaya rues lack of McCullum's white-ball priorities

New Delhi: After the 2015 ODI World Cup, which saw England crash out in the preliminary stages of the tournament, a white-ball revolution started in the country. The refreshing brand of fearless cricket in limited-overs cricket was initiated by the captain-coach duo of Eoin Morgan and Trevor Bayliss but the former often revealed how much the new culture was influenced by the then New Zealand skipper Brendon McCullum. It is no coincidence then, that it needed 'Baz' McCullum to reinvent England's Test cricket culture with the now commonly called 'Bazball' style of play. Cut to 2024 and the dynamic New Zealander is set to take charge of the men's white-ball side after what's been an underwhelming couple of years in the shorter formats.

After a golden period from 2015-22 where England racked up bilateral series wins capped by World Cup glory in ODIs and T20Is, the 2023-24 season has seen a downward spiral. Underwhelming results in the 2023 ODI World Cup and the T20 World Cup this year warranted a revamp, one that McCullum is set to lead and among the many things on his agenda is the mental well-being of regular skipper Jos Buttler. The wicket-keeper batter has bore the brunt of England's failures with debates on his style of captaincy flaring among the pundits. The captaincy criticism, however, can't be mixed with his individual form as Buttler has endured consistent returns during 2023 and 2024 with his T20I strike rate being his highest in a calendar year since 2013. On his part, McCullum threw his weight behind Buttler and felt that the England's premier white-ball batter is just a mental reset away from gaining his mojo as captain.

"He's done a great job," McCullum said at a press conference. "He won a World Cup as captain. He's an incredibly gifted player. He's a fine leader. "My job is to get the best out of him so that all those that sit in the dressing room feel like they can be 10 feet tall and bulletproof when they walk out to play and they know that the skipper is going to enjoy the ride with them."

Buttler has seen negligible on-field action since the T20 World Cup with a calf injury ruling him out of The Hundred and subsequently, the upcoming T20I series against Australia at home. As things stand, the 33-year-old is also doubtful for the ODIs that follow against their arch-rivals. Phil Salt is set to fill in as the stand-in skipper for T20Is with Harry Brook being the future option. The injury lay-off couldn't have come at a more inopportune time for Buttler, given his and England's intent to revamp their white-ball plans. McCullum, though, is unfazed by the situation and has a simple message for his captain.

"What I want from Jos is for him to enjoy the next few years. If he was to retire today he'd go down as probably the greatest white-ball player England's produced. So the opportunity for the next three or four years, however long he plays for, is just to enjoy it. Not to protect anything."

"Just get the most out of all those guys around him, keep walking towards the danger, play with a smile on his face and try to do something which is really cool, where you can look back and say: 'Gee, I really enjoyed those last few years.'"

Dhananjaya. "They (England) have a lot of control in addition to their experience," he pointed out. "They have great control of line and length and we don't get many loose balls in England. We need to be prepared for that and our plans have to take that into account. That's just what you get in England. In the two previous matches they didn't let us execute our plans. That's why they were successful." Dhananjaya has shown some fight by registering a fifty in both the Tests but Sri Lanka's best player with the bat this series has been Kamindu Mendis. The 25-year-old, in his young Test career, has already hit three fifties and three centuries in five Tests. In this series, he hit a fighting ton in the opening Test to lead Sri Lanka's comeback and made 74 at Lord's in the previous Test.

However, Dhananjaya is opposed to the idea of promoting Kamindu up the order. "I think if

Kamindu plays well down there there's no reason to change what he's doing and put him in trouble," he said. "If he's scoring there, it's good for his career as well. In the future, maybe we will talk to him, about his plans as well and see what changes we can make. But right now we're thinking of him as a No. 7."

ECB aligns women's domestic competitions with men's T20 Blast and One-Day Cup

New Delhi: England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) announced a restructure of the domestic competitions, one that will see women's competitions, in both the 50-over and T20 format, aligned with the men's T20 Blast and the One-Day Cup from the 2025 season. The women's version of the two tournaments will be organised in place of the existing Charlotte Edwards Cup (T20) and Rachael Heyhoe Flint Trophy (50-over). The two new tournaments however will be played for trophies named after the two England legends. The restructure will see eight 'tier 1' counties compete in the two women's domestic competitions from 2025 - Durham, Essex, Hampshire, Lancashire, Somerset, Surrey, Warwickshire and Nottinghamshire (The Blaze). Warwickshire and Lancashire will compete as 'Birmingham Bears' and 'Lancashire Thunder' in the Blast, aligning with their men's sides. Yorkshire is scheduled to join this group in 2026 while Glamorgan will be added another year later.

The T20 Blast will mirror the format of the men's competition, culminating in a Finals Day, which will see both the semi-finals and the finals played on the same day. Double headers featuring both the men's and the women's game have been planned similar to how The Hundred is currently scheduled. Besides the competitions in the two formats, a knock-out cup competition consisting of teams from all three tiers of the expanded women's domestic structure will also form part of the 2025 schedule. The aim of the cup competition is to provide all counties with the opportunity to compete against each other, play at some of the country's biggest venues, and give players across the pyramid the chance to test their skills on an elevated platform. With the aligning of the men's and women's competitions, ECB expects to see GBP 8 million of investment into women's cricket by 2027 and could see an 80 percent increase in the number of professional female cricketers in England and Wales by 2029.

"A big driver for the reorganisation of women's professional cricket has been to enable us to better use the leverage and existing scale of men's county cricket to accelerate fanbase growth for our women's teams and players," said Beth Barrett-Wild, Director of the Women's Professional Game. "Looking ahead to the 2025 season, we're therefore really excited to fully align our men's and women's domestic white-ball competitions for the first time."

"The next step in the growth of the women's professional game is to produce commercially vibrant and visible teams and competitions that excite fans and continue to showcase the quality of women's cricket.

"As we have seen through The Hundred and alignment of our England Men's and England Women's teams, we believe that by putting our men's and women's competitions and players on the same platform we can exponentially increase the reach of the women's domestic game and intensify the depth of feeling fans have for our women's
