

Odisha pacts with STPI Theory of personal views

Bhubaneswar (KCN): Odisha is all set to have highest number of Software Technology Centers with the State Government today signing an MoU with Software Technology Parks of India (STPI) for setting up facilities at four more ESDM sector by offering general infrastructural facilities like ready to use Incubation Hi-Speed Data connectivity and other amenities required export of software and services," Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik said.

E&IT.

The agreement was signed to set up STPI Centers at Angul, Jajpur, Jeypore in Koraput and Sambalpur, Mr.Palai said.

According to the provision of the agreement, the State Gov-

Bhubaneswar(KCN): Should senior leaders in the ruling BJD discuss their "personal views" in public? The issue is being hotly debated ever since the party's leader in Lok Sabha, Bhartuhari Mhatab said that the regional outfit should amend its "Equi-distance" policy against the Congress.

Mr.Mahtab as an individual does not see any harm on the part of BJD joining hands with Congress. This is because, he feels, Congress at present is not in the position where it was five years ago. The biggest political party in the country now seeks friends and BJD may take advantage of this, Mr.Mahtab feels.

This statement of the BJD MP created flutter in the state politics forcing the party supremo and Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik saying that BJD at no point or under no circumstances would forge alliance with Congress Party. "Not at all," Mr.Patnaik said giving a clear message that Mahtab was wrong and he had no authority to make such a statement.

Naveen knows it very well that BJD's anti-Congress stand helped him capture power four consecutive times. The public mood in the State is anti-Congress; the oldest political party which ruled the State for decades is held responsible for its backwardness.

Subsequent Congress Chief Ministers in Odisha kept themselves busy in saying "Yes" to the Dilli Durbar at the cost of the State. This is because the Congress Chief Ministers had feared that their rivals would unseat them if they dare to disagree with the high command.

Odisha is lagging behind many states including West Bengal, Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra and Gujarat in terms of railways, ports, roads, NHs and other sectors.

When Naveen came to the helm of affairs in 2000, he felt a strong resentment against the Congress dispensation and therefore, he decided to join hands with BJP in order to consolidate anti-Congress votes. By the time BJD dropped BJP in 2009; the saffron party was almost finished on its own because they preferred to depend on Naveen for votes instead of making their own base.

Now BJD has emerged as a major non-Congress platform even though BJP displaced the Congress led UPA Government in Delhi. Therefore, Naveen's basket is full with non-Congress votes while BJP has been trying to take its share.

However, it is too late for BJP to create its own base. In such a situation, Naveen does not want to pick up hands of Congress and allow BJP to take a share from the non-Congress votes.

Mr.Mahtab's statement has apparently come as a major embarrassment for Naveen as it hits the basic survival of BJD as a non-Congress party. As the party disowned Mr.Mahtab's statement, the Cuttack MP said it as a proposal and his "personal view" on the politics. Interestingly, Mr. Mahtab is also not the lone senior leader in BJD who wanted to escape from the situation on the plea of "personal view." Many senior leaders, mostly BJD MPs, have brought embarrassment to the party time and again.

Recently, another senior MP, Tathagat Satpathy in an article criticized his party boss and Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik over alleged corruption and mismanagement in the Department of Water Resources, which kicked up a storm in State politics. "The Chief Minister is not only holding the Water Resources department, but also he is the head of the State." He has written that while bureaucrats run the administration, contractors have held the Water Resources Development in their wallet, pointed out OPCC President Prasad Harichandan. Then in a bid to avoid embarrassment, the ruling party said: "This was Tathagat's 'personal view' reflected in the editorial of his daily."

The list of leaders, particularly, BJD MPs putting the party in trouble over issues, is long. Bhubaneswar MP Prasanna Patsani and Sambalpur MP Nagendra Pradhan had also embarrassed the party on the farmers' suicide issue last year. While the State Government claimed that no farmer committed suicide over crop loss or loan burden, Pradhan claimed otherwise. He maintained that the farmers in Odisha do commit suicide due to crop loss and loan. Similarly, Patsani said only 100 farmers committed suicide in Odisha, while the number of such distressed agrarians who committed suicide in BJD ruled Maharashtra was above 400.

Now questions are raised why the BJD MPs often cross the line and issue statements not accepted by the party? The answer is very simple. According to a senior MP: "Such incidents take place only due to lack of coordination between Yadav or for that matter, relationship with Congress and BJP.

The MPs usually meet the party President only before beginning of the session of the Parliament. They are provided some written documents through the Resident Commissioner's office in Delhi and are told to raise such issues in the Parliament.

As all the MPs have meanwhile become senior by dint of getting elected to the Parliament several times, no one is there to listen to the other. Veteran MPs like Arjun Sethi and Junior MPs like Siddhant Mohapatra or Sarojini Hembram prefer to remain silent as they do not want to enter into any controversy.

Whatever be the reason, ultimately the places.

Now Odisha has four such Centers, which will go up to eight, while there are 55 Centers in the Country.

MoU was signed between Pradeep Kumar Jena, Principal Secretary Electronics & IT and STPI Director General Omkar Rai.

Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik, E&IT Minister Pranab Prakash Das, Chief Secretary Aditya Prasad Padhi and other senior officials were present in the ceremony.

"The proposed STPI Centers would act as resource centers for IT, ITES and

The incubation facility will be available for entrepreneurs, specially catering to the need of start-ups, MSMEs, SMEs to kick start their business without any hassles, Mr.Patnaik said adding the construction works for the proposed STPI centers will commence soon.

In fact the STPI DG Dr.Rai is eager to help out Odisha with more Centers as the State is attracting more investments in IT/ITES Sector.

Now Odisha is having four STPI Centers at Bhubaneswar, Rourkela, Balasore and Berhampur, said Rudra Narayan Palai, Special Secretary ernment would provide three acres of developed land and minimum 20,000 sq ft built-up space for each centre.

The STPI-Bhubaneswar is instrumental in attracting blue-chip IT Companies to the State and played phenomenal role in the growth of IT exports from Odisha. The State has recorded around Rs.2900 Crore IT export during 2015-16 putting the State in commendable position in the IT Map of the Country, said Manas Ranjan Panda, Director STPI Bhubaneswar.

the MPs and the party President. The MPs do not exactly know what their President thinks. Once elected to Lok Sabha or Rajya Sabha, the MPs virtually have little relationship with the BJD supremo."

Neither the party President nor the MPs try to meet each other at regular intervals nor do they discuss issues among themselves and chalk out how to face a situation and what the BJD stand on issues should be, be it on the Mahanadi issue or the proposed Maha Gathbandhan of Mulayam Singh party faces embarrassment, said a General Secretary of BJD. How can senior leaders' views be considered their "personal views" when it is in public domain and when hits the party badly, asked he.

While BJD legislators are hardly making their views openly, Parliamentarians are vociferous over the issues, which are embarrassing the party boss. It seems BJD supremo is losing connect with the elected party leaders in Parliament, so such outbursts are obvious, pointed out a political commentator.

This role is a cake walk for Yash, who carries the film on his shoulders. He knows what best works for him at present and has followed it in style. South Africa in control of the first test with 506-run lead

PERTH, Australia (KCN): South Africa continued to bat Australia out of the first cricket test by extending the lead to 506 runs at lunch on the fourth day at the WACA on Sunday.

South Africa was 508-7 at the break with Vernon Philander and debutant Keshav Maharaj unbeaten on 63 and 19 respectively.

Overnight pair of Quinton de Kock (64) and Philander batted untroubled in a 116-run seventh wicket stand as the game gradually got away from the home side.

With the wicket suiting batsmen despite widening cracks, South Africa ground out the Australian attack after starting the day on 390-6. De Kock, who was the mainstay in South Africa's first innings 242 with a brilliant 84, made a plucky 64 to again thwart Australia's hopes for early inroads to the tourists' lower order.

Australia came close to dismissing him twice in the first hour when he was adjudged out by the onfield umpire. But the lefthander successfully challenged the caught behind and the lbw on 28 and 47 respectively, much to the dismay of the hosts. De Kock finally drove uppishly and was well caught by Adam Voges at cover off Mitchell Marsh (2-77). He hit two sixes and five fours off 100 balls in 2 1/2 hours. Philander had batted for just under three hours, with a six and 10 fours off 132 balls.

This was after

Dean Elgar (127) and Jean-Paul Duminy (141) on Saturday shared a 250-run third wicket stand to bat the Proteas to a match-controlling position.

Towering Head & shoulders above

Indian cricket team (KCN): India will be on a high after winning the last four series, including two away from home. On the other hand, England have just suffered a first ever Test loss to Bangladesh and even the one they won wasn't without a lot of drama. Their tour of Bangladesh can be seen in two ways. It could either dent their confidence completely or possibly prepare them for challenges lying ahead. Since the Bangladesh failure was about the skill and not the will, it's fair to assume that they might find it tougher in India.

fered a first ever Test loss to Bangladesh and even the one they won wasn't without a lot of drama. Their tour of Bangladesh can be seen in two ways. It could either dent their confidence completely or possibly prepare them for challenges lying ahead. Since the Bangladesh failure was about the skill and not the will, it's fair to assume that they might find it tougher in India.

In happy space
Even though Kohli's is a young side, it has started working like a well-oiled machine. Batting has started blossoming as a unit with different players assuming key roles at different times. Batting in Tests is all about battling the tough sessions and all good teams find different heroes in these difficult times. India is no different in this respect. Murali Vijay in Brisbane, Rahane in Lord's, Pujara in Colombo, Kohli in Melbourne and Saha in Kolkata — everyone has stood up at different times and that shows character. Since this series is in India, bowling is the least of India's concerns with Ashwin donning the role of a leader nonchalantly. On turning pitches, bowlers who bring the ball back in are more lethal because they can take both edges. Ashwin has exposed the technical frailties of modern batsmen like never before. Jadeja's accuracy has been an ideal foil and in addition to this, the faster bowlers have also made their presence felt.

England's batting depth
Test cricket was always a format for specialists. Most teams would play 5-6 batsmen, a proper wicketkeeper and four bowlers. Teams that did better always had a batsman in the top six who could bowl 15-20 overs a day and their wicketkeeper almost always contributed with the bat.

This England side is different, for they bat as deep as No 9 without compro-

missing on bowling prowess. The likes of Woakes, Moeen Ali, Stokes, Bairstow and even Rashid can pull their weight in the side with the bat. It practically means England don't have a tail. To counter this, it won't be a bad idea for India to offer pitches with some turn from the first day itself and also, consider playing an extra spinner in Mishra.

Spin to win
While England have an enviable batting line-up, it's unlikely to have a telling impact on the series. Test matches are won by teams with the bowling to take 20 wickets on a regular basis and that's where India's attack scores over the visitors. Indian batsmen are likely to play spin better than the English, but even if that's not the case, bowlers are likely to tilt the contest in

India's favour every single time.

Bowling on turning pitches is an art that needs mastering. While there's a lot of help available, the margin for error is equally small, for the extra spin provides scoring opportunities if the bowler errs in line and length. Rashid, Moeen and Batty are decent spinners, but it would be criminal to consider them in the same league of Ashwin, Jadeja and Mishra.

Injury concerns?
If it were an overseas tour, the absence of Rohit, Rahul, Dhawan and B h u v n e s h w a r would've troubled India. Since it's a home series, the loss isn't as damaging. While Rahul's presence at the top and Rohit lower down the order would've given solidity and depth to the batting, there's no reason for alarm bells to start running just yet. Gambhir is in fine nick and Karun Nair could be tested at No 6 if India choose a sixth batsman. It can also be viewed as an opportunity to toy with a slightly different combination. With Saha and Ashwin doing a stellar job with the bat, India could very well play all three spinners. As long as the spin-trio is fit, Kohli will not have sleepless nights over injury concerns.

Sociedad beats Atletico to move near the leaders in Spain

MADRID (KCN): Real Sociedad became the latest team to join the tight title race in Spain.

Taking advantage of two second-half penalty kicks, Real Sociedad defeated Atletico Madrid 2-0 on Saturday so that six teams are separated by only five points atop La Liga.

Forward Carlos Vela converted a 54th-minute penalty and striker Willian Jose scored from the spot in the 75th to give Real Sociedad its fourth win in five matches, and the fourth consecutive win at home.

"The truth is we are going through an incredible moment," Vela said. "We know there is a lot of tournament left, but we are enjoying this moment, and we want to be fighting for great things in the end."

Leader Real Madrid hosts Leganes on Sunday, and second-place Barcelona plays at fourth-place Sevilla.

Atletico remained third, and Real Sociedad was sixth. Fifth-place Villarreal hosts Real Betis on Sunday.

It was the second loss in three league games for Atletico, which had been held scoreless only twice before Saturday's game.

"There are no excuses, they were better than us," Atletico defender Juanfran Torres said. "We have time to prepare for the match against Madrid. We have to keep our heads high and certainly we will win at home."

Atletico and Madrid play the derby at Vicente Calderon Stadium on Nov. 19, after the international break.

Atletico had the league lead until a 1-0 loss at Sevilla two rounds ago, a result that dropped Diego Simone's team to fifth place. It rebounded with a 4-2 over Malaga in the last round, but missed a chance to join Madrid atop the standings after its loss on Saturday.

Forward Kevin Gameiro had an opportunity to give Atletico a 1-0 lead in the first half but his shot from inside the area struck the post in pouring rain in the northern city of San Sebastian.

"We had a great

first half and created good scoring chances, especially the one with Gameiro," Simeone said, "but in the second half they started better and we couldn't find a way to even the match."

GRANADA 1, DEPORTIVO LA CORUNA 1

Last-place Granada remained the only winless team after this home draw.

Granada equalized nine minutes from time thanks to an own goal by Deportivo goalkeeper Przemyslaw Tyton.

Granada goalkeeper Guillermo Ochoa made a brilliant save on a close-range shot near the end to keep the hosts from losing for the eighth time in 11 games.

OSASUNA 0, ALAVES 1

Osasuna's struggles continued with a home loss, leaving the promoted club in the relegation zone with only one win.

Forward Christian Santos converted a 77th-minute winner for Alaves, which hadn't won in four rounds. Alaves is

12th. LAS PALMAS 1, EIBAR 0

Las Palmas ended a six-game winless streak thanks to a penalty kick converted by midfielder Jonathan Viera four minutes into second-half injury time. Viera calmly scored with a right-footed shot from the spot after Eibar defender Florian Lejeune was fouled on midfielder Roque Mesa inside the area.

Las Palmas moved to seventh place, while Eibar dropped to 10th.

ELSEWHERE

In the second division, Real Zaragoza striker Juan Munoz quickly became a trending topic on social media after scoring a goal from behind the midfield line in his team's 2-2 draw at Mallorca.

Towering Head & shoulders above

Indian cricket team (KCN): India will be on a high after winning the last four series, including two away from home. On the other hand, England have just suffered a first ever Test loss to Bangladesh and even the one they won wasn't without a lot of drama. Their tour of Bangladesh can be seen in two ways. It could either dent their confidence completely or possibly prepare them for challenges lying ahead. Since the Bangladesh failure was about the skill and not the will, it's fair to assume that they might find it tougher in India.

In happy space
Even though Kohli's is a young side, it has started working like a well-oiled machine. Batting has started blossoming as a unit with different players assuming key roles at different times. Batting in Tests is all about battling the tough sessions and all good teams find different heroes in these difficult times. India is no different in this respect. Murali Vijay in Brisbane, Rahane in Lord's, Pujara in Colombo, Kohli in Melbourne and Saha in Kolkata — everyone has stood up at different times and that shows character. Since this series is in India, bowling is the least of India's concerns with Ashwin donning the role of a leader nonchalantly. On turning pitches, bowlers who bring the ball back in are more lethal because they can take both edges. Ashwin has exposed the technical frailties of modern batsmen like never before. Jadeja's accuracy has been an ideal foil and in addition to this, the faster bowlers have also made their presence felt.

England's batting depth
Test cricket was always a format for specialists. Most teams would play 5-6 batsmen, a proper wicketkeeper and four bowlers. Teams that did better always had a batsman in the top six who could bowl 15-20 overs a day and their wicketkeeper almost always contributed with the bat.

This England side is different, for they bat as deep as No 9 without compro-

India's favour every single time.

Bowling on turning pitches is an art that needs mastering. While there's a lot of help available, the margin for error is equally small, for the extra spin provides scoring opportunities if the bowler errs in line and length. Rashid, Moeen and Batty are decent spinners, but it would be criminal to consider them in the same league of Ashwin, Jadeja and Mishra.

Injury concerns?

If it were an overseas tour, the absence of Rohit, Rahul, Dhawan and Bhuvneshwar would've troubled India. Since it's a home series, the loss isn't as damaging. While Rahul's presence at the top and Rohit lower down the order would've given solidity and depth to the batting, there's no reason for alarm bells to start running just yet. Gambhir is in fine nick and Karun Nair could be tested at No 6 if India choose a sixth batsman. It can also be viewed as an opportunity to toy with a slightly different combination. With Saha and Ashwin doing a stellar job with the bat, India could very well play all three spinners. As long as the spin-trio is fit, Kohli will not have sleepless nights over injury concerns.

Sociedad beats Atletico to move near the leaders in Spain

MADRID (KCN): Real Sociedad became the latest team to join the tight title race in Spain.

Taking advantage of two second-half penalty kicks, Real Sociedad defeated Atletico Madrid 2-0 on Saturday so that six teams are separated by only five points atop La Liga.

Forward Carlos Vela converted a 54th-minute penalty and striker Willian Jose scored from the spot in the 75th to give Real Sociedad its fourth win in five matches, and the fourth consecutive win at home.

"The truth is we are going through an incredible moment," Vela said. "We know there is a lot of tournament left, but we are enjoying this moment, and we want to be fighting for great things in the end."

Leader Real Madrid hosts Leganes on Sunday, and second-place Barcelona plays at fourth-place Sevilla.

Atletico remained third, and Real Sociedad was sixth. Fifth-place Villarreal hosts Real Betis on Sunday.

It was the second loss in three league games for Atletico, which had been held scoreless only twice before Saturday's game.

"There are no excuses, they were better than us," Atletico defender Juanfran Torres said. "We have time to prepare for

Atletico and Madrid play the derby at Vicente Calderon Stadium on Nov. 19, after the international break.

Atletico had the league lead until a 1-0 loss at Sevilla two rounds ago, a result that dropped Diego Simone's team to fifth place. It rebounded with a 4-2 over Malaga in the last round, but missed a chance to join Madrid atop the standings after its loss on Saturday.

Forward Kevin Gameiro had an opportunity to give Atletico a 1-0 lead in the first half but his shot from inside the area struck the post in pouring rain in the northern city of San Sebastian.

"We had a great

first half and created good scoring chances, especially the one with Gameiro," Simone said, "but in the second half they started better and we couldn't find a way to even the match."

GRANADA 1, DEPORTIVO LA CORUNA 1

Last-place Granada remained the only winless team after this home draw. Granada equalized nine minutes from time thanks to an own goal by Deportivo goalkeeper Przemyslaw Tyton.

Granada goalkeeper Guillermo Ochoa made a brilliant save on a close-range shot near the end to keep the hosts from losing for the eighth time in 11 games.

OSASUNA 0, ALAVES 1

Osasuna's struggles continued with a home loss, leaving the promoted club in the relegation zone with only one win.

Forward Christian Santos converted a 77th-minute winner for Alaves, which hadn't won in four rounds. Alaves is

LAS PALMAS 1, EIBAR 0

Las Palmas ended a six-game winless streak thanks to a penalty kick converted by midfielder Jonathan Viera four minutes into second-half injury time. Viera calmly scored with a right-footed shot from the spot after Eibar defender Florian Lejeune was fouled on midfielder Roque Mesa inside the area.

Las Palmas moved to seventh place, while Eibar dropped to 10th.
