

Adharapana Ritual: Lord Jagannath, Siblings Offered Delicious Drink On Chariots

PURI(KCN): Lord Jagannath and his siblings Lord Balabhadra and Devi Subhadra were offered delicious drink on their respective chariots at the Lions' Gate of Srimandir as part of the Adharapana ritual in Odisha's Puri city today. Thousands of devotees congregated at the seaside city to witness the unique ritual. As per Srimandir tradition, the special drink is offered to the deities in nine cylindrical pots reaching up to their lips on their chariots. That is why the ritual is called Adharapana, said a servitor of the 12th century shrine.

In the past, the special drink used to be offered to the deities in 12 pots—three on Bahuda Dasami, three on Ekadasi, three on Dwadasi, two for Ram and Krushna on Lord Balabhadra's Taladhawaja chariot and one pot for Madan Mohan on Lord Jagannath's Nandighosa chariot, said a researcher. In the recent years, the drink is being offered in nine pots, three pots for each deity, on a single day, he added. The Shree Jagannath Temple

Administration (SJTA) and authorities of Raghav Das mutt and Badaodia mutt supply three earthen pots each and the ingredients for the preparation of the sweet drink. Ingredients like cheese, milk, sugar, banana, camphor, nuts, black pepper and extracts from holy basil plants are required for the preparation of the Adharapana. Mahasuar servitors of the temple usually prepare the drink by mixing the above said ingredients with the holy water collected from a well in front of Chhauni Mutt near the Lions' Gate of Srimandir.

Patribadu, Suarbadu and Garabadu servitors perform the puja on the three chariots. A Bhog is then offered to the deities by Palia Pujapanda servitors.

After the Bhog is offered, the pots are broken before the deities and the drink is spilled away on the chariots.

It is believed that the spillover drink is for the subsidiary deities placed on the chariots, evil spirits and ghostly bodies.

"The evil spirits, who descend upon the Grand Road to witness the Ratha Jatra, are satiated by consuming the Adharapana. Therefore, devotees are forbidden to partake the drink," said the researcher.

PIL filed in Orissa HC seeking reopening of Ratna Bhandar, taking inventory of ornaments

Cuttack,(KCN): Amidst the growing chorus, the sensitive matter of Ratna Bhandar, the treasure trove of Lord Jagannath in Puri Srimandir, has now reached Orissa High Court. Former state BJP President, Samir Mohanty filed a PIL in Orissa High Court seeking reopening of the Ratna Bhandar, its repair, and taking inventory of the ornaments.

In his petition, Mohanty has demanded taking inventory of the items as it was last done in 1987. The petitioner has also appealed for the constitution of a high-level joint committee for taking inventory of the ornaments of the Lord. The demand has been made for the constitution of a panel headed by the Odisha Governor or sitting judge. As per sources, the condition of the Ratna Bhandar is now deplorable with leaking ceilings and peeling plasters, and needs urgent repairs. In the petition, a prayer has also been made for registration of criminal cases against those involved in the 'disappearance of Ratna Bhandar keys' and a probe by CBI in this regard.

Senior advocate, Pitambar Acharya said, "We have two prayers—opening of Ratna Bhandar, taking inventory and immediate repair as it is in a hazardous condition." Acharya further said it is now over 45 years that no inventory of the ornaments has been made. "There is now a suspicion in the minds of people as the keys went missing under mysterious circumstances from the treasury and later claimed that some duplicate keys were found," he added. Recently, Puri King Gajapati Maharaja Dibyasingha Deb, Chhattisgarh Governor Biswabhusan Harichandan and several senior servitors had expressed concerns over the physical condition of the treasure trove of the 12th Century shrine.

Paralakhemundi ACF Death Case: Odisha Court Issues NBW Against Wife, Former DFO

Bhubaneswar(KCN): In a fresh development in the death case of former Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) Soumya Ranjan Mohapatra, the court of Sub-Divisional Judicial Magistrate (SDJM) in Paralakhemundi in Odisha has issued Non-Bailable Warrant (NBW) against the deceased's wife Bidya Bharati Panda, former Divisional Forest Officer (DFO) Sangarm Behera and the latter's cook Manmath Kumbha. The SDJM court issued the NBW against the three accused after they failed to depose in connection with the case despite repeated reminders. The court has directed the three accused to depose before it on July 7, sources said. The court had initiated criminal conspiracy proceedings against the three accused as per a petition filed by the deceased ACF's father Abhiram Mohapatra. The SDJM court had earlier summoned the trio several times to appear before it. However, the three accused did not appear before the court and sought time to do the same, sources added. According to reports, the ACF was found in critical condition with burn injuries at his residence in Paralakhemundi on July 12, 2021. Mohapatra succumbed to his injuries while undergoing treatment at a private hospital in Cuttack the next day. On July 14, his family lodged a complaint against the former Gajapati DFO, Bidya Bharati and Manmath Kumbha alleging murder. Considering the gravity of the incident, the state government had handed over the probe to the Crime Branch on August 14. On October 8, 2021, the Crime Branch gave clean chit to Behera and Kumbha, but booked Bidya Bharati under sections 304-A (causing death by negligence) and 285 (negligent conduct with respect to fire or combustible matter) of IPC. The agency termed the incident as an 'accidental death' making it clear that Behera and Kumbha had no role in it. Further, the Crime Branch said that the agency during the probe found no evidence of any relation between the DFO and Bidya Bharati.

springs up. For one of right action, right livelihood comes into being. For one of right livelihood, right effort arises. For one of right effort, right awareness emerges. For one of right awareness, right concentration develops. Friends, this dawn is the sign and precursor for the arising of the sun. So too, friends, for a person, there is a sign and precursor for the arising of this fine Noble 8-fold Way. This sign and precursor is Good and Noble Friendship! Here, friends, a person develops right view, right motivation, right speech, right action, right livelihood, right effort, right awareness, and right concentration, which has as its final goal the complete elimination of all greed, the full eradication of all hate, and the final luminous erasure of all ignorance. Similarly, logic is endowed with theory of argumentation which inspire to participate in debates based on different topics. Here interact and interpretation shows the the path of innovation and creativity. Society teaches us that that formal education may be achieved in traditionalism where degree is an important issue as it is essential for settling career. But on the contrary, Buddha's teachings demonstrate that immense knowledge evolves from our inner entity which is a fragmental part of our cosmological world. This divine knowledge is the true wisdom and is actual the embodiment of creativity and innovation that an ascetic or monk can gain wisdom under the influence of this kinetic impulse an individuality enable to make himself/herself manifest like writer, poet, novelist or artist or scientist or a great philosopher. We need to understand that the real victory and defeat in debate or logic promote potentiality and encouragement obviously here enthusiasm is an additional asset as well as potential energy. So a learned man should remember it that his gained philosophy is not a dogma but guide to action. It is estimated truth, magnificence, ethnicity and legacy of a civilization that comes from paralogy; and not from traditional or formal education. Hence, humility, polite and civilised behaviour is most precious behaviour as a gentleman and the mark of the true character of an individual. So it is not advisable to ignore or be sarcastic towards any other individual; if you remember your true teaching and learning and should treat others with dignity. We may have several conflicts of different kinds and nature. But even a conflict should be based on non antagonistic contradiction; as our main intention in our life is to revive human dignity at any cost. If we fail to achieve that; then we simply cease to exist as humans-no matter how much power, wealth, education or social status or prestige we may have gained as an individual or as a community. Therefore, Gautama Buddha teaches us to avoid unnecessary thoughts, debates, actions insinuation and non constructive comments and to avoid violence at any cost; since it destroys us both internally and externally. His divine teachings are directed towards those men and women with egocentric nature; as the ego never allows peace and bliss to settle or establish inside them permanently. Hence, we need to work towards this every day through small steps in achieving little success for our stepwise transformation from the darkness of negativity (such as anger, pride, anguish, frustrations, depressions, despair and obsessions) towards the light of positivity (such as hope, peace, bliss, solitude, confidence, wellness, happiness, humility, will to do good for others, selflessness, courage).

Uniform Civil Code and Religious Dictats-The Way Ahead

Pratap Kishore Mohanty

The concept of a Uniform Civil Code aims to bring together personal laws relating to various religious communities in India into a common set of laws. Currently, different religious communities in India follow their own personal laws pertaining to matters such as marriage, divorce, inheritance, and adoption. The implementation of a UCC would seek to ensure a uniform set of laws applicable to all citizens regardless of their religious affiliation. Advocates of the Uniform Civil Code argue that it would promote gender equality, social cohesion, and national integration by removing disparities and discriminatory practices present in personal laws. They believe that a UCC would create a more egalitarian and inclusive society by ensuring equal rights and protections to all citizens. Additionally, proponents argue that it would streamline the legal system and simplify legal procedures by providing a common framework for civil matters. However, the implementation of a Uniform Civil Code has been a subject of debate and discussion in India for several decades. Critics argue that personal laws are deeply rooted in religious and cultural practices, and any attempt to impose a uniform code may infringe upon the rights and freedoms of religious minorities. They contend that personal laws should be allowed to exist in order to preserve religious diversity and autonomy. The issue of implementing a Uniform Civil Code requires careful consideration, taking into account the concerns and interests of all stakeholders. It involves navigating complex legal, social, and cultural dimensions, and any changes in personal laws should be undertaken with sensitivity and broad consensus. The concept of a Uniform Civil Code (UCC) in India has been a topic of debate and discussion for many years. The UCC aims to provide a common set of laws governing personal matters such as marriage, divorce, inheritance, and adoption for all citizens, irrespective of their religion or community. The idea behind the UCC is to ensure equality and non-discrimination, particularly for marginalized groups and women who may face discriminatory practices under religious personal laws. The legitimacy of the UCC is derived from three important sources: the Constitution of India, the Constituent Assembly debates, and Supreme Court judgments. The Constitution of India, adopted in 1950, serves as the foundational document and enshrines principles of justice, equality, and secularism. These principles form the basis for the UCC, as it aims to ensure equal treatment and protection of rights for all citizens. The debates and discussions in the Constituent Assembly during the framing of the Constitution provide insights into the rationale behind the promotion of a common civil code. The framers of the Constitution recognized the importance of establishing a uniform set of laws to foster national integration and uphold the principles of justice and equality. Furthermore, the Supreme Court of India has played a significant role in interpreting personal laws and addressing conflicts between customary practices and fundamental rights. The court has consistently emphasized the significance of the Constitution and its fundamental values while dealing with matters related to personal laws. These judicial pronouncements have reinforced the need for a UCC to protect against discrimination and ensure the constitutional rights of individuals. The UCC, if implemented, has the potential to address various discriminatory practices in matters of divorce, maintenance, adoption, and succession. By providing a common set of laws, it aims to eliminate disparities and promote equality before the law. It is important to note that the implementation of the UCC involves complex legal, social, and political considerations. It requires consensus-building among various stakeholders, considering the diversity of religious and cultural practices in India. The UCC remains a topic of discussion and deliberation, and any potential steps towards its implementation would involve thorough scrutiny, debate, and legislative processes. All political parties must take inspiration from the discussions held during the Constituent Assembly, particularly from the opinions of notable figures like B. R. Ambedkar, K. M. Munshi, and AlladiKrishnaswamyIyer. The question, according to K M Munshi, is whether we will consolidate and harmonise our personal laws in order for the national way of life to eventually become unified and secular. I really don't understand how these things relate to religion. By neglecting the UCC case, the opposition parties have committed the crime of dereliction of duty. Political parties who oppose the UCC by citing customs should read through numerous Supreme Court rulings. "It appears that even 41 years later, the rulers of the day are not in a mood to retrieve Article 44 from the cold storage where it is lying since 1949," the Court stated in SarlaMudgal (1995). A uniform personal law for all Indians has not yet been attempted by the various administrations that have come and gone. The causes are too clear to need to be stated. It is crucial to understand that where basic rights and customary law conflict, the former must prevail. Regardless of their culture or religion, all citizens will be subject to the same set of civil laws under the UCC, which will foster equality and guarantee justice for all. "In the constitutional order of priorities, the right to religious freedom is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the vision underlying the provisions of Part III (Fundamental Rights)," the Supreme Court stated in the Indian Young Lawyers Association case (2018). Personal laws must adhere to constitutional requirements, gender equality standards, and the right to a dignified life. Because basic rights take precedence over customary law, a variety of liberties are guaranteed. Governments in the past lacked the confidence to put the UCC into effect because they were concerned that it would anger a segment of Muslim voters. The opposition parties must understand that they can contribute positively to the efficient implementation of UCC. Indulging in appeasement politics, organisations like the Congress, Trinamool Congress, Samajwadi Party, and AIMIM have shown little interest in submitting any recommendations to the Law Commission of India: On June 14, 2023, the Commission released a public notice soliciting comments within 30 days. Politicians who are against the UCC should understand that the Constitution, not any one religious text, is the foundation of Indian administration. Regardless of a person's religious affiliation, the UCC aims to harmonise personal laws, provide equality for all individuals, and preserve their fundamental rights. The UCC aims to provide a fair and uniform legal system that promotes the values stated in the Constitution, not to undermine or marginalise any particular faith minority. We have seen a fundamental change in societal dynamics under Narendra Modi's leadership, notably with regard to the empowerment of Muslim women. A sign of this shift is the elimination of the backwards "triple talaq" practise. The BJP-led administration has made it a priority to make sure that all citizens, regardless of faith, have access to the fundamental freedoms granted by the Constitution. In subjects relating to adoption, succession, marriage, divorce, etc., there must be a compromise on human dignity; these matters must be handled by the constitutional system and not by religious dictats.

If Rahul Gandhi Becomes PM, Scams Will Become India's Destiny: Amit Shah

Udaipur, Rajasthan: Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday said that if Rahul Gandhi becomes prime minister, scams and corruption will become the destiny of India and if Narendra Modi is re-elected, fraudsters will go behind bars. He also targeted the Congress government in Rajasthan, saying that had it set up a special court in the Kanhaiya Lal murder case, which happened in Udaipur last year, the accused would have been hanged by now. He accused the Ashok Gehlot government of being the number one in corruption and called upon the people to oust it from power in the upcoming assembly elections. The minister exuded confidence that the BJP will form government in the state in the upcoming assembly elections and PM Modi will become prime minister once again in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections with 300 seats.

Addressing a public meeting in Udaipur to highlight the central government's achievements in the last nine years, Mr Shah said these nine years were transformative for India in many ways. Taking a jibe at opposition parties that held a meeting in Patna recently to chalk out a joint strategy ahead of next year's Lok Sabha polls, he said that those who had assembled there were involved in corruption and do not want to do good for people, but were looking for the future of their sons. He said that the goal of Sonia Gandhi is to make Rahul Gandhi prime minister, Lalu Yadav's goal is to make his son Tejashwi Yadav prime minister, Mamata Banerjee's goal is to make her nephew Abhishek chief minister and similarly Ashok Gehlot wants to make his son Vaibhav Gehlot chief minister. "If Rahul Gandhi becomes prime minister, scams and corruption will become the destiny of India and if Narendra Modi becomes the PM again, fraudsters will go behind bars," he said. Further targeting the Gehlot government, he alleged that it was doing vote bank politics and was responsible for the delay in the punishment to culprits of the Kanhaiya Lal murder case. Kanhaiya Lal, a tailor in Udaipur, was murdered on June 28 last year by two clever-wielding men, who had accused him of insulting Islam after he allegedly posted content in support of suspended BJP leader Nupur Sharma. Alleging that the government did not provide security to Kanhaiya Lal, the Union Home Minister said it should be "ashamed". "Who did not give security to Kanhaiya? Whose police remained silent till he died. You did not even want to catch (the accused), the NIA had caught them. And don't lie Gehlot ji that the charge sheet has not been filed, I say with authority that the charge sheet was filed on December 22, 2022. The task of setting up a special court is yours (state government), so that the accused are punished soon," he said. "The Rajasthan government, taking the High Court into confidence, did not constitute a special court otherwise the culprits of Kanhaiya Lal would have been hanged by now. Shame on them (Congress), they do vote bank politics," he said. Amit Shah alleged that majority community members were being exploited under the Congress rule in Rajasthan. "Modi banned PFI but in Gehlot's rule, a rally of PFI was held in Kota, Hindu festival was stopped in Karauli, Sangh's path sanchalan stopped, 300-year-old Shiva temple was demolished in Alwar," he alleged. "Even after so many years of independence, keeping the Constitution aside in the greed of vote bank, injustice is being done to the majority here. Only those who do vote bank politics can do this. BJP does not do vote bank politics," he said. He also said that due to weak prosecution, the accused of the Jaipur bomb blast case of 2008 were acquitted by the Rajasthan High Court. Mr Shah said that on the completion of PM Modi's nine years, BJP has started thanksgiving yatras across the country, "I have travelled across the country, the support I have seen, it is certain that Modi is going to become the prime minister with 300 seats," he said. He said that the respect that Narendra Modi is getting in the whole world, it is not the respect of PM Modi or of BJP, it is the respect of 130 crore people of the country. Amit Shah said that before 2014, during Manmohan Singh's government, "Aaliya-Maliya-Jamaliya" (terrorists) from Pakistan used to enter India and carry out blasts, but Pakistan committed mistakes in Uri and Pulwama because this time, Narendra Modi was the prime minister and within ten days, air strike and surgical strike were executed and terrorists were eliminated in Pakistan. Launching a sharp attack on the Ashok Gehlot government, Amit Shah said that the Congress government has broken all records of corruption and was doing vote bank politics. He claimed that more than 19 recruitment examination question papers have been leaked, and the son of the state Congress president tops the exam. Commenting on Chief Minister Gehlot's tour of different districts and inflation relief camps, Amit Shah said that Ashok Gehlot is roaming here and there in this age but the BJP's government is going to be formed in the assembly elections. "If someone shows a video of this meeting to Gehlot, then he will know that the time has come for his government to go. BJP government is going to be formed with full majority in both 2023 (assembly polls) and 2024 (Lok Sabha elections)," he said. Union minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, former chief minister Vasundhara Raje, leader of opposition Rajendra Rathore, deputy leader of opposition Satish Poonia and other leaders were present in the meeting.

consumers a 'Screenguard' against the high energy Blue Light emitted from digital devices and provides modern day solution to the new-age skin concerns. JSW Infrastructure begins commercial operations at Paradip East Quay Terminal in Odisha

Paradip/ Bhubaneswar : JSW Infrastructure, India's leading ports company and part of US$ 13 billion JSW Group, has begun commercial operations at Paradip East Quay Coal Terminal in Odisha. This is a fully-mechanized terminal at Paradip Port Trust with an annual coal handling capacity of 30 million tons. The coal terminal has been built as a cape compliant terminal and will handle capesize vessels once the dredging at Paradip Port is completed. The terminal has capacity to unload 25 rakes per day and can load two vessels simultaneously. The infrastructure of the terminal is built to ensure higher productivity while reducing overall logistics cost to power producers. The company has invested approximately Rs 1,300 crore to establish this terminal at Paradip Port. Paradip Port Trust awarded JSW Infrastructure to develop a fully-mechanized coal terminal on Build, Operate & Transfer basis for 30 years. Following the commissioning of this coal terminal, JSW Infrastructure's current cargo capacity crosses 150 MTPA. It aims to have a total cargo handling capacity of 200 MTPA by FY24. Commenting on its coal terminal at Paradip, Mr Arun Maheshwari, Joint MD & CEO of JSW Infrastructure said, "Paradip Port continues to be an attractive sea route for coal movement. With the commissioning of this terminal, India can now offer cape size shipments with efficient operations. During the last few months, steam coal prices globally have witnessed sharp increase forcing thermal power plants and other coal based industry to switch to domestic coal. Start of this coal terminal has come at the right time to fill up the demand gap of domestic coal. Through high productivity and larger shipment size, we hope to reduce overall logistics costs for our coal cargo customers. As the country pursues PM's vision of Atma Nirbhar Bharat, the total thermal coal demand in India is expected to remain strong and our endeavor would be to maximize fulfilment by domestic producers.

FIFA World Rankings: India Climb Up To 100th Spot

New Delhi: The Indian men's football team has climbed to number 100 in the latest FIFA World Rankings, released on Thursday (June 29). The Blue Tigers can move further in the list following their performance in the ongoing SAFF Championship 2023. India have already beaten Pakistan and Nepal in their group fixtures and are set to play against Lebanon in the semi-final of the tournament on Saturday. Lionel Messi's Argentina continue to lead the chart after regaining the top spot after three months. The recent wins against Australia and Indonesia has also helped La Albiceleste to stay number 1. The top three spots have not changed and the world champions are ahead of France and Brazil. Arch-rivals Pakistan are far by a long way as they stand at number 195 with 861.18 points. Recently, India defeated Pakistan in Bengaluru with a scoreline of 4-1 after Sunil Chhetri scored a hat-trick for the Blue Tigers.

Wimbledon 2023: Security Plans 'Uplifted' Following Protest In Ashes

New Delhi: The All England Club has increased its security plans for Wimbledon in coordination with London police and other agencies ahead of the beginning of play next week, in part as a result of protests at other major sports venues in Britain this year. On Wednesday in London, environmental activists ran onto the field and briefly disrupted play about five minutes after the start of the second Ashes cricket test between England and Australia. Players from both teams intervened when the protesters attempted to spread orange powder on the field.

"Based on what has happened at other sporting events, and on the advice from our key partners, we have reviewed our security plans, which have now been uplifted for The Championships accordingly," All England Club operations director Michelle Dite said Thursday. "We have plans in place to mitigate the risks working in partnership with specialist agencies and the Metropolitan Police and should an incident occur the appropriate specialist teams will respond," Dite said. Earlier this month, protesters held up the England cricket team bus briefly during the test against Ireland in London. Activists also have targeted Premier League soccer matches, the Premiership rugby final at Twickenham, and the world snooker championship in Sheffield this year. Play at Wimbledon, the year's third Grand Slam tennis tournament, begins on Monday. "The safety and security of all our players, colleagues and visitors is paramount," Dite said. "Throughout the year, we work closely with the Metropolitan Police and other relevant organizations to ensure that The Championships is as safe and secure as possible and that our plans and measures are commensurate with the threat level and prevailing risks."

Australia sweat on Nathan Lyon's calf injury

New Delhi: Australia were dealt a rough hand shortly after Tea on the second day of the Lord's Ashes Test when Nathan Lyon was helped off the field with a suspected calf injury. The master offspinner pulled up sore after attempting a catch at fine-leg and played no further part in the day's play with the visitors now fearing the worst with regards to his participation in the remainder of this series. Ironically, the ongoing match is Lyon's 100th on the bounce for Australia, an emblem of his consistency and durability over the years. "I haven't been up in the sheds yet, but obviously it didn't look good. It doesn't look ideal for the rest of the game," Steve Smith told reporters at the end of the day's play. "I'm not sure how he actually is. But obviously if he's no good, it's a big loss for us. "He's in his 100th consecutive Test match, which I know he was really looking forward to taking part in and having a role in as well. Fingers crossed he's OK, but it didn't look good." Given the context of the Ashes series, throwbacks were made to 2005 when Glenn McGrath rolled his ankle before the start of the second Ashes Test in Birmingham, a game that England won and drew level in the series before going on to clinch it with another victory in Nottingham. Steve Smith also referenced the concussion he suffered in 2019, which led to his absence from the famous Leeds Test which England won under dramatic circumstances to draw level in the series. "For batters I suppose there's loads of us around, so it's a bit different," Smith said reflecting on his absence from the Headingley Test four years ago. "It's not ideal, particularly your spin bowler. But Nathan, if he's no good, he'd be a huge loss." In the absence of Lyon, who was in the middle of a spell at the time of picking up the injury, Pat Cummins turned to

Travis Head and was able to receive five economical overs from the part-timer. But if overnight scans and assessment indicated a longer period on the sidelines for Lyon, the visitors might be forced to call up Todd Murphy into the XI. The 22-year-old Victorian enjoyed a breakthrough debut series in India earlier this year and in the words of Smith, has maintained his form and rhythm in the nets. Lyon's injury could also have other consequences in how this delicately-poised Test unravels over the next three days. Australia turned to a short-ball ploy from their fast bowlers and such a strategy would place significant strain on their workloads especially without a holding offspinner operating from one end and allowing the quicks to rotate from the other. "It's a huge shame and I really hope it's not too bad for him. You never want to see anyone go down with an injury. We all wish him the best," Ben Duckett, who fell two short of a century to the short ball. "He was going to play a massive part in that fourth innings, he's such a good bowler. It will be interesting to see how they go about it. "If they keep going bumpers with all four bowlers, I think they'll be quite tired by the end of it, especially with back-to-back Tests. Travis bowled all right tonight, so maybe he will bowl a bit."

New Delhi: Ajit Agarkar has applied for a position on the national selection committee. The former India all-rounder himself was non-committal on the matter, but a member of the Mumbai Cricket Association (MCA) confirmed the development. If selected, Agarkar (45), who represented India in 221 matches across formats, could be the favourite for the chairman's post. Agarkar's interest in the selection committee job surfaced on a day when Delhi Capitals announced their parting of ways with the former Mumbai chief selector. Agarkar held the assistant coach role for the Delhi IPL side for two years. The franchise management told Cricbuzz that his contract was not renewed. The chief selector's post has been vacant since Chetan Sharma resigned in February following a sting operation by a news channel. In an ideal scenario, the prospective candidate should have been from the North Zone as the outgoing chairman was from that region, but the BCCI constitution is understood to not be bound by any zonal compulsions when it comes to the appointment of the selection committee. "All five selectors can be from the same zone," said the MCA official. Should Agarkar be appointed, there would be two selectors from the West, with Salil Ankola, a sitting member of the selection committee, being the other. A point of note in the BCCI advertisement inviting applications for the position is that there is no age limit for the position. Previously, there had been a stipulated age restriction of 60 years. The BCCI notification now states that the applicant should have played a minimum of seven Tests or 30 First-Class matches or 10 ODIs and 20 First-Class matches. Most importantly, the applicant should have retired from the game at least five years prior. The lack of an age criteria opens up opportunities for new candidates, with Dilip Vengsarkar, himself a former chairman (from 2006-2008), being one of them. However, there has been no confirmation if he has actually applied, as he refused to respond to a query. In an important year for world cricket, with the World Cup at home in over three months, the BCCI seems to be looking for a visionary and high-profile candidate for the chief selector's job.

BCCI Apex Council: Impact Player tweak for SMAT, participation NOC for foreign leagues on agenda

New Delhi: The Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) is considering implementing regulations on the participation of Indian players in overseas leagues. Additionally, they are planning to update the Impact Player rule in the Syed Mushtaq Ali Twenty20 domestic competition. These matters are set to be among the top agenda of the board's Apex Council Meeting on July 7. There have been growing concerns in the BCCI corridors about Indian players participating in overseas leagues, particularly after retirement, and how those T20 leagues are mushrooming owing to the surplus funds from IPL which the Indian investors are channelling towards those leagues. Cricbuzz understands that specific rules are set to be established for players wishing to take part in the overseas leagues such as ILT20 in the UAE and Major League Cricket in the US. It is likely that obtaining a No Objection Certificate (NOC) from the board will become mandatory if they plan to be involved in any capacity - coaching or otherwise - in Indian cricket in the future. For instance, Yusuf Pathan and Robin Uthappa played in ILT20 last year, while Ambati Rayudu joined MLC immediately after announcing his retirement from all forms of cricket following the recent IPL. With that in mind, the BCCI may also consider implementing a cooling-off period rule besides making NOCs compulsory. Furthermore, the BCCI plans to update the Impact Player rules in the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy by incorporating clauses similar to those in the Indian Premier League (IPL). Initially, in the SMAT, an Impact Player could only be chosen before the 16th over, unlike the IPL where there were no restrictions. Additionally, the BCCI intends to allow teams to exchange their team sheets after the toss, similar to the IPL. This provision was absent in the previous edition of the SMAT, where states were required to nominate 12 players before the toss.

Any necessary amendments to this clause will be discussed and approved at the Apex Council Meeting. It's learnt that the BCCI sees great potential in IPL's Impact Player rule and is likely to consult the franchises before making any further changes or adding new rules. However, for the upcoming Syed Mushtaq Ali inter-state tournament scheduled for October-November, the IPL rules will be followed, pending approval from the Apex Council. During the meeting, the council will also address the participation of Indian teams in the Asian Games in Hangzhou, China. It is expected that a full-strength women's team and a second string men's side will be sent for the September 27-October 8 Games. If it eventualizes, it will be the first time that Indian cricket teams will be participating in the Asian Games. The other items on the meeting's agenda include media and sponsorship rights, tour packages for the World Cup, stadium renovation, and the approval of player contracts for men and women.
