Odisha's Bold Initiative: Safeguarding Olive Ridley Turtles and Marine Ecosystems

Bhubaneswar,(KCN): In Odisha, a remarkable conservation endeavor has been launched as the much-anticipated mating season of the treasured Olive Ridley turtles begins. This extraordinary natural phenomenon has raised profound concerns for the safety and well-being of these cherished marine visitors. In response, the state of Odisha has taken proactive steps to ensure the safe arrival and breeding of these remarkable creatures. The Odisha Coastal Fisheries Department and the Marine Wildlife Department have come together, instituting crucial measures that are effective immediately, with a dual purpose: safeguarding the Olive Ridley turtles and preserving the entire traditional and migratory aquatic ecosystem. To guarantee the welfare of these oceanic wonders, a temporary ban on trawlers and boats has been enforced, covering a vast coastal area from November 1st to end of June . This resolute initiative is a testament to the unwavering commitment of the state government in preserving Odisha's rich and diverse marine ecosystem. It's not a solo effort; several key departments, including the Forest Department, Marine Wildlife Department, State Police, and the Coastal Security Force, have joined forces, creating a united front dedicated to the cause of marine conservation. Under the umbrella of the Wildlife Protection Act of 1972, specific marine species have been granted special protection. These invaluable creatures are meticulously listed in Schedule I, underlining the significance of their conservation. Among these noble protectees, the Olive Ridley turtles stand tall, alongside the majestic dolphins. This legal safeguard ensures their survival and thriving existence in our vast oceans. This proactive conservation movement has garnered tremendous support from passionate conservationists and environmental advocates. Odisha's very own Rishikulya, Gahirmatha, and Astaranga Devi Mouth Estuary are renowned for hosting the grand congregation of Olive Ridley turtles. These natural havens have, for centuries, served as vital habitats for these splendid creatures, and the ongoing conservation drive reiterates the region's unwavering dedication to their welfare. Odisha's exceptional efforts in marine conservation have garnered international recognition. In 1996, the International Commerce Law Court in the United States issued a resounding statement, underscoring that any nation engaged in offshore drilling or activities that may imperil marine turtle life is contributing to ecological hazards. The directive is unequivocal in its message: such actions should not be encouraged, and it calls on nations worldwide to refrain from activities that might disrupt marine ecosystems. In light of the paramount importance of these conservation efforts, the Central Government has actively participated in the implementation of these legislative measures within the state. Their commitment underscores the shared responsibility to ensure the safety and well-being of these cherished marine creatures, particularly the Olive Ridley turtles, as their mating season symbolizes a pivotal period in their life cycle. This collective effort paints a vivid picture of Odisha's unwavering dedication to marine life conservation, echoing a powerful message of hope for the future of these captivating marine species and the fragile ecosystems they call home.

Black Shirt

(Shibangi Dhara)Bandana Sahoo

The outfit was yours
But the color was mine
Your body was decorated
And my eyes kept smiling.

Evening was falling amidst darkness
The moon was blooming among the stars
I was going crazy with your love
In the chest of the black shirt.

You came and brought along Adorn my lips with a smile light has dissolved by your love Whoever can be with you.

Your face is like the moon
Admire black colors
With a slow smile
Your lips are full of pink colors.

He was decorating me
With the love of those black colors
Every part of me
With shy eyes
The black shirt of yours was making me crazy.

KHURDA RED GAAMUCHHAA:A DUET OF ANCIENT AND MORDEN FASHION

Sanjay Bhatt

In the heart of Khurda, where tradition weaves a vibrant tapestry, lies the timeless beauty of Khurda Red Gamucha. Like the crimson hues of a sunset, it persists as a testament to the art and heritage of Khurda district, etching its place in Odisha's rich history and the nation's cultural heritage. Today, even our Prime Minister drapes it over his shoulder when delivering speeches at grand gatherings.

The mention of a Gamucha naturally brings Khurda Gamucha to mind, reminiscent of a bygone era when this iconic textile held a special place in the hearts of our ancestors. Whether it was a wedding celebration or any other cultural event in Odisha, the Khurda Gamucha was an essential component. And this tradition continues to thrive, standing the test of time.

Khurda Gamucha isn't limited to the humble or the affluent; it is the foremost choice for everyone. No traditional occasion is complete without its presence. This versatile textile is more than just a cloth; it's a symbol of cultural pride.

The Origin:

The word "Gamucha" derives from "ga" meaning body and "mocha" meaning dusting. Wearing it stylishly over one shoulder or draping it traditionally over both is a personal choice.

Khurda's Journey:

In 1993, Khurda district emerged as a distinct entity, breaking away from Puri, securing its vital role in eastern Odisha. However, its history dates back to the years between 1568 and 1803 when it was a part of Odisha. Khurda Gada was the epicenter of the Paika War, and the valiant revolutionary leader Baxi Jagabandhu waged a relentless battle against the British. Beneath the Brunei hill, Khurda is nestled, known as Paika Gada. Around 60 years ago, a visionary named Ganapati Lal introduced the iconic red Khurda Gamucha, which is now affectionately referred to as "Ganapati Gamucha." The Paikas of Khurda, while practicing for war, would drape Khurda Gamucha over their shoulders and belt it around their waist, enhancing their physical prowess. This distinctive textile also played a significant role in the traditional dance of the Paikas. Farmers in Khurda tied Khurda Gamucha around their heads to shield themselves from the sun while toiling in the fields, drawing strength from its presence around their waist. Villages like Jatani, Daalatola, Baajapur, San Pura, Aamba Jhara, Itamaati, Deuli, Routa Padaa, Saana Padara, and Dhalaapathara became hubs of Khurda Red Gamucha production. For some, it became a profession, while for others, it was a labor of love. In some parts of Odisha, like Mayurbhanja, Sundargarh, and Brahmpur, Khurda Gamucha was woven using machines, although this practice has dwindled in recent times. The red Khurda Gamucha remains a traditional fashion statement in Odisha, cherished and adored not only across the state but also nationwide. It is more than just a piece of cloth; it embodies the essence of Odisha's rich culture and heritage.

Remembering Sangam

Prof.MANAS RANJAN MAHAPATRA

I heard the word Allahabad at the age of 7. One of the friends of my father Dr Ram Manohar Lohia Ji visited our house. My father was in Swatantra Party, but was a well wisher of the Socialist Movement. My brother Dr Babaji Mahapatra was in Socialist Party. In 1967 Dr Lohia travelled the whole country to request people to oust Congress. Dr Babaji Mahapatra published a Souvenir after the death of Dr Lohia.

In 1981 I came to Delhi for the first time to appear in an interview at UPSC. Nilachal Express was a tri weekly one at that time. The train was starting from Puri at 12 noon and reaching New Delhi at 9 pm the next day. It was not a superfast. The day Puri Superfast passed through Allahabad in 1985, the whole city came to the railway station to welcome us with sweets. Allahabad people were interesting people! Later, I came to Allahabad with my father to immerse the bones of my mother at Sangam in 1988. I could not immerse my father's bones at Sangam, my bad luck. When I came with my father, my friend Dr Hemant Kumar guided me how to do everything here. His father was a great man, a professor and we had been to their house. I was at Lucknow those days. His father was a great author for children and is no more.

With this association with Allahabad of almost 5 decades, I directed a Course in Book Publishing at Allahabad University in 2019. In one of the classes I taught 'Publishing as a Career' to 60+ students of the Course. I was passing through Johnstonganj one evening and became nostalgic. 15 years back I organised an exhibition of Books at 10 different locations in this city. I have fond memories of spending a week in this city that time in a hotel at Johnstonganj in a Hotel.

When I came for the preparatory works for that series of exhibitions, Dr Murli Manohar Joshi was the Union Minister for HRD. His wife Mrs Joshi was younger sister of Shivani, prominent Hindi Writer. I met her to consult on the venue for inauguration.

'Do it at Anand Bhawan.' She said. 'Anand Bhawan'! I exclaimed.

'Yes. It is a national monument. It is connected with our freedom struggle..' She replied.

My reluctance had a cause. Dr Joshi was from BJP and Anand Bhawan is connected with Congress.

But Mrs Joshi cleared the sky for me. 'A place of national importance can't be ignored for its political affiliation with a party. It is a national monument,' she said. Alas, people like Dr Murlimanohar Joshi or places like Anand Bhawan are now in the past. 'Dada, what is your tomorrow's programme, for tomorrow is an off day of our Training Course, my colleague Narinder asked.

'Tomorrow I will go to Anand Bhawan', I replied.

'Can I meet Mrs Joshi too tomorrow?' I asked my friend Prof. Susheel Kumar Sharma.

'Both Dr Joshi and Mrs Joshi have now relocated to the National Capital Delhi and sold out their house,' Dr Sharma replied. 'Since Mrs Joshi is not at Allahabad, I had no interest to visit Anand Bhawan alone as it is no more maintained as once the Centre of Indian Freedom Struggle.'

'Then, let us go to Sangam tomorrow so that I can pay my tributes to my father, and what about going to Netram for kachodi after that for Lunch?', I asked.

Why Diwali and cleanliness are interlinked

As Diwali is just couple of days away, it is time to pray, please and invoke Goddess Lakshmi. The festival of lights is all about Goddess Lakshmi, the mother of prosperity and wealth. Naturally, we all pray Goddess Lakshmi on Diwali for her blessings. Meanwhile, have you done or still doing the mission clean home and work place job for this Diwali in order to please Goddess Lakshmi ? It is believed that Goddess prefers neat places. Very often Gandhiji used to say that cleanliness is Godliness. Always see to it your home or work place remains neat and clean. If you talk about realty world, it is said those properties which are well-maintained and well-kept, find lot of tenants and buyers. According to Dr JP Sharma, the internationally acclaimed Vastu expert and author- “ Diwali is the perfect time to pray Goddess Lakshmi to attract wealth. You can do so by following Vastu principles. First, you should clean your house and office. That is very important” He adds that a clean home is highly essential to ensure a smooth flow of energy. It is believed that Goddess graces a clean house. “Just make a visit to any area, you would find, at least, some houses in a state of utter neglect. It happens mainly due to either sheer irresponsible attitude of the owner or when only the aged owners live in their house and their kids live abroad or elsewhere,” says Dr. JP Sharma, who also writes with the name of JP Trikha. According to Vastu experts, one always ensure that open spaces are not obstructed at all. It blocks the energy. The house should be lit, preferably with diyas on Diwali. No corner of the house should be left in darkness. Further, place two oil lamps on both sides of the main entrance of your house or office. It is also said that one ought to place pure water of Gangajal in a tray or utensil at the centre of the house. The tray can be filled with flower petals with a floating candle at the centre. This brings positivity in the house. We often see houses in very sad state. Even though owners live in one floor of the house, still it is hardly maintained. Sepia and poor yellow colours of the house are testimony to the fact that as to how one can spoil the property worth crores. Naturally, the owners hardly care for the maintenance of it. The result of their apathy towards their own house is that hardly any tenant likes to live there even with less rent. Do you think such stinking places please Goddess Lakshmi? Not at all. Dr. JP Sharma further says that one must place flowers on the water in a clean vessel and place it in the north/east corner of the house. Om symbols should also be in the north/east corner. Well, Diwali is a very secular festival. A devout Muslim and an ex-IAS officer of Maharashtra cadre, Zafar Iqbal said that that since his childhood days in Jaipur, he has been doing mission clean job of his house well before Diwali. “ I know for sure that god prefers clean surroundings and if there is a Diwali time I have to clean my house.” You have put Toran/ Bandarwal on the main door. An Asthamangala sign can also be placed there only. As we know that most of the houses have a Tulsi plant. Vastu-shastra says that Tulsi plant should be planted in the courtyard in the middle of the home. If you do not have any courtyard in your home then you should plant it in the North direction. By doing this, all the difficulties in the path of your success can be removed. Finally, Diwali is a scary time for Owls, the chariot of Goddess Lakshmi, pets and plants. If we start with owls, this is time when they are killed in hordes in the name of black magic, superstition and taboos. While we worship Lakshmi on Diwali, there are many who spare no concern in killing her chariot. “Black magic practitioners frequently referred to as tantric prescribe the use of owls and their body parts such as skull, feathers, ear tufts, claws, heart, liver, kidney, blood, eyes, fat, beak, tears, eggshells, meat and bones for ceremonial pujas and rituals that take place on Diwali night. This deadly practise must be stopped,” says Dr JP Sharma. Moving away from owls, the use of crackers during Diwali also terrifies animals as they have a highly sensitive sense of hearing. Experts say pet owners to be very careful during this time and to keep them in a closed, comfortable area at home, with food and water and to take turns keeping the pet company. Some pets are reported missing, for they run away upon hearing the unusually loud noises, while homeless animals face the risk of severe injuries from firecrackers that are burst on the roads. Animals that live on the street are not in a position to find a quiet place to rest or nurse their litters. Animals get traumatised by the harsher side-effects of festivals, every year. And topping the list are firecrackers. With their heightened sense of hearing, animals often panic, get scared and run helter-skelter on hearing the noise. Burns are the number one injuries suffered by most animals. In addition, smoke causes irritation and infections, adding to the discomfort of the animals, particularly strays. So, get ready for this Diwali.

"Panels Don't Have Criminal Jurisdiction": Mahua Moitra Writes Day Before Hearing

New Delhi (KCN): Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra has claimed the Lok Sabha ethics committee that is looking into the cash-for-query controversy does not have powers to examine allegations of alleged criminality. She released her response today that she had prepped to give to the committee tomorrow when she appears before them. This, Ms Moitra said, was because the "ethics committee deemed it fit to release my summons to the media..."

In a letter to the committee chairperson Vinod Kumar Sonkar, Ms Moitra claimed the absence of this power was deliberately kept that way by "our nation's founders" to prevent misuse of committees by government that enjoy brute majority in parliament. She also repeated her demand to cross-examine businessman Darshan Hiranandani. The businessman has alleged Ms Moitra took questions from him to ask in parliament, and also admitted he used Ms Moitra's parliamentary login ID and password to post questions from Dubai - a situation, if proved, will mean a breach of privilege and lead to her suspension from parliament. In the post on X today, Ms Moitra said the parliamentary ethics committee may not be the "appropriate forum to examine allegations of alleged criminality". "I wish to respectfully remind you that parliamentary committees do not have criminal jurisdiction and have no mandate to investigate alleged criminality. This can only be done by law enforcement agencies. This check was specifically created by our nation's founders to prevent the slightest misuse of committees by governments enjoying a brute majority in parliament," Ms Moitra said in a letter to the ethics committee chairperson Vinod Kumar Sonkar. Supreme Court lawyer Jai Anant Dehadrai, on whose complaint to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) the entire case rests, was cross-examined by the ethics committee on October 26, while BJP MP Nishikant Dubey, who led the call to investigate the allegation that Ms Moitra gave her parliament login ID to the businessman, was allowed to explain his allegations. Referring to the CBI complaint, Mr Dubey had written to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla and levelled cash-for-query allegations against Ms Moitra. The Trinamool MP has called the Supreme Court lawyer her "jilted ex". Ms Moitra, one of the fiercest critics of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the BJP, will appear before the ethics committee tomorrow. She asked the committee to ensure there is "no room for political partisanship" in their functioning. She alleged the committee has not made any code of conduct for MPs to follow. "It is important to note that till date the committee on ethics has not formulated any code of conduct for members and in fact the committee has not even had any sittings in the past two years. I wish to most respectfully point out that in view of the lack of a structured code of conduct, it is all the more important that each case be dealt with in an objective and fair manner..." the Trinamool Congress MP said in the letter to the ethics committee chairperson. The ethics committee will give a report to the Lok Sabha Speaker "as early as possible", people with direct knowledge of the matter told NDTV last week, referring to the Pawan Bansal committee that gave its report in just two weeks in December 2005 in the infamous cash-for-questions scam when the United Progressive Alliance (UPA) was in power in the centre.

Bokaro, Jharkhand : Dalmia Bharat Foundation (DBF), the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) arm of Dalmia Bharat Group has signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoA) with Bokaro Steel Plant (BSL) to drive its community-centric initiatives in Jharkhand by upskilling 600 youth, annually. The aim of the MoA is to establish a skill training centre to impart short term, placement-based courses to local youth in the surrounding villages through DBF's DIKSHA (Dalmia Institute of Knowledge and Skill Harnessing) centre. The MoA was signed by

Shri Chaudhary Ratnesh Kumar Sudhanshu, Dy. General Manager (CSR & SAIL-Uday), SAIL-Bokaro Steel Plant and Shri Vishal Bhardwaj, Group Head – CSR, Dalmia Bharat Group and Chief Executive Officer, Dalmia Bharat Foundation.

“Since our inception in 2009, we’ve witnessed our role gradually transform from being a resource provider to a key enabler for positive change in society. said Mr. Vishal Bhardwaj, Group Head - CSR, Dalmia Bharat Group and CEO, DBF. “Through our leadership and dedication towards achieving social transformation, we will continue to work towards our vision of creating opportunities for people across the nation so that they can reach their full potential and give back to the community. We look forward to our partnership with BSL and also call upon our industry peers to join us as we make significant and sustainable differences and ensure social, economic, and environmental progress.

The skill development center at Bokaro Steel City, in association with DBF, will help strengthen the social ecosystem in Jharkhand. While BSL will provide the necessary infrastructure support, DBF has been entrusted with managing day to day activities of the center including faculty and placement support.

“BSL and DBF share a common vision and value system for bringing about a transformative change in society by leveraging its demographic dividend through empowering the local youth through training that makes them market-ready,” said Mr. Chaudhary Ratnesh Kumar Sudhanshu, Dy. GM (CSR & SAIL-Uday), SAIL-Bokaro Steel Plant. “It is our firm belief that this combined expertise and experience will ensure that the youth being educated at the DIKSHA facility will receive quality and need-based training for the purpose of gainful employment across industries.”

To ensure viable and sustainable income generation, training will be imparted in trades for self-employment and trade such as Assistant Electrician, Solar PV Installer, General Duty Assistant (GDA) and Customer Relationship Management, to begin with. Subsequently, more courses will be added as per demand and future prospects. The center shall largely focus on the development of the youth residing in BSL's peripheral villages.

LVPEI Receives 'Project of the Year Award' from PMI South Asia for Rural ROP Care Initiative

Bhubaneswar: L V Prasad Eye Institute (LVPEI) has received the Project Management Institute South Asia (PMI South Asia) award in the NGO category for its outstanding project in rural Odisha, aimed at managing Retinopathy of Prematurity (ROP), a vision-threatening eye condition in preterm babies. The award-winning project, titled 'Screening and Treatment of ROP in Pre-term Babies in 8 Odisha Districts,' has been funded by the Cognizant Foundation. It was implemented by LVPEI's Mithu Tuls Chanrai campus in Bhubaneswar in collaboration with National Health Mission and Rashtriya Bal Swasthya Karyakram. Dr Tapas Ranjan Padhi, the project lead, along with other team members, accepted the award on behalf of LVPEI. Retinopathy of Prematurity (ROP) is an emerging 21st-century epidemic and the leading cause of irreversible vision loss in preterm born babies and/ or babies born with a birth weight less than 2.0 kgs, especially babies who were managed in incubators. The efforts by Ministries of Health over the last two decades to reduce neonatal mortality have improved the survival of preterm babies. About 30% of the children in NICUs/SCNUs are expected to be affected by ROP and close to 18% of them can go completely blind if they don't receive timely retinal treatment within 30 days of birth. Approximately 1000 premature babies are susceptible to go blind every year in Odisha due to ROP. Increased awareness, early detection and appropriate treatment and follow-up are essential for preventing ROP blindness.

LVPEI campus at Bhubaneswar is the only centre in Odisha offering a protocol-based comprehensive ROP care including neonatal retinal imaging, laser, intravitreal injections, mini neonatal intensive care facility, advanced paediatric retinal microsurgery, low vision, and amblyopia services under one roof.

Ambuja Cements and ACC's ChangeTheStory campaign wins Bronze at the ABBY Awards

Mumbai: The first sustainability campaign 'Change The Story' of Ambuja Cements and ACC, has won a Bronze Award at the recent ABBY Awards 2022, under the Green Award category. This category is awarded to outstanding communication that features planet conservation, sustainability etc. The "Change The Story" campaign aimed to create awareness about sustainability and showcase technology-backed solutions that offer effective and measurable outcomes in this regard.

The #ChangeTheStory campaign highlights a non-invasive bubble barrier technology, which will remove around 2,400 tonnes of plastic waste from Agra's Mantola canal, thereby preventing its entry into the Yamuna river. The crux of the campaign lay in reaching out to a wide audience across India and globally—and communicating the campaign's features. The campaign winning this honour at the ABBY Awards—often touted as the Oscars of Indian advertising—was designed in collaboration with Alok Nanda and Company and serves as another reminder of the crucial role sustainability plays at Ambuja Cements and ACC.

#ChangeTheStory campaign was rolled out across multiple platforms, including print and digital, reaching out to an approximate 32 million people. One of its lead video films conveyed the message, through the lens of a scientist, that it's time to change the story by taking out the plastic and freeing our rivers of their polluted past. The campaign further leveraged the power of music and created a rap song across owned platforms featuring the campaign mnemonic "Bubble Sharma". This was followed by a bouquet of informative posts and videos on social media. ACC and Ambuja Cements collaborated with micro and nano influencers to drive engagement around the bubble barrier technology.

The two companies were the first to launch an augmented reality-based game in India, which created an immersive experience for users by illustrating the state of marine plastic pollution and the basic functioning of the Bubble Barrier technology. This game convinces the user to play their role in driving change by encouraging players to "bubble pop" their way to cleaner oceans and safer habitats for marine organisms.

Mr. Neeraj Akhoury, CEO India Holcim and Managing Director & CEO of Ambuja Cements Ltd., said that the award served yet another reminder of the company's efforts towards sustainability. "We are elated and honoured that a campaign that's important to us has received the recognition that it deserved. Sustainability and business go hand in hand at Ambuja Cements and ACC Ltd. This will encourage us to further step up our efforts in this direction."

Cricket World Cup 2023: Semi-Final Qualification Scenario For All 10 Teams Explained

New Delhi:The ICC Cricket World Cup 2023 has reached a critical juncture in the group stage, wherein teams have three games left to secure a berth in the semi-finals. A total of 9 teams are still in contention for one of the semi-final spots, with Bangladesh being the only one to be knocked out. No team, yet, has confirmed their progress or been knocked out of contention for the semis. Host nation India is in pole position to make the World Cup 2023 semi-finals as they are atop the standings with six wins in six matches. South Africa, who have won five of six games, along with New Zealand and Australia currently complete the top four. ICC World Cup 2023 semi-finals qualification scenariosIndia, currently on 12 points, need only one more point to secure a semi-final berth in the World Cup 2023. A win or a tie or a no result in either of their final three games will be enough to ensure their progress as all other teams outside the current top four can only get to a maximum of 12 points. India face Sri Lanka next at the Wankhede Stadium in Mumbai on November 2. It is followed by South Africa on November 5 and their final group-stage match against the Netherlands on November 12. In case India lose all three matches, an Afghanistan defeat in their next match will seal India's semi-final berth. South Africa:The Temba Bavuma-led South African team need three more points to guarantee a place in the semi-finals. However, they play top-four rivals New Zealand and India, followed by challengers Afghanistan in their final three group games. Meanwhile, only one win could also be enough for the Proteas to make the knockouts, depending on the results of the teams currently placed between 5th and 10th positions on the points table. New Zealand:New Zealand began the tournament with four wins on the bounce but lost to India and Australia thereafter. The Blackcaps will need at least two victories from their remaining three matches to advance into the semi-finals. New Zealand will take on South Africa in Pune on November 1. A win for the Kiwis will help them strengthen their chances of making it to the next round while also potentially opening it to a three-way battle for the second spot in the points table. On the other hand, the Blackcaps can also go through to the semis despite a defeat to the Proteas by beating Sri Lanka and Pakistan in their other two matches, which would also dent the qualification hopes for those two teams. Australia:Australia are in a similar situation as their trans-Tasman rivals New Zealand. Pat Cummins and Co. need two wins in three games to strengthen their chances of a spot in the ICC Cricket World Cup 2023 semi-finals. After defeats in their opening two games, Australia are on a four-match winning streak while boosting their net run rate after a 309-run success against the Netherlands. The five-time ODI World Cup winners will take on reigning champions England next. A win against England will put them one win away from the next round. However, if they lose to the Three Lions, Australia can still progress with victories against Afghanistan and Bangladesh. Two defeats, meanwhile, would not necessarily be the end of the road for Australia, courtesy of their net run rate. But they will have to depend on other results to advance to the semis. Afghanistan:Afghanistan bolstered their chances of making the World Cup semi-finals for the first time after beating Sri Lanka by seven wickets on October 30. They can achieve a maximum of 12 points, considering they beat the Netherlands, Australia and South Africa. However, Afghanistan will need either Australia or

New Zealand to lose at least one match by a massive margin or lose two while winning all three of their upcoming encounters in the tournament to stand a chance of progressing to the next stage. Sri Lanka:The 1996 World Cup champions Sri Lanka, too, are not mathematically ruled out of semi-final qualification in this edition. They currently have four points and with three matches to go, the Lankans can score a maximum of 10 points. Firstly, Sri Lanka would need to win all their remaining three games, which includes beating two of the current top four teams, India and New Zealand. Sri Lanka will also need at least two of the five teams currently above them to not notch more than 10 points. They would also need to hope that those teams end up with an inferior net run rate compared to them. Pakistan:Alike Sri Lanka, Pakistan can also notch a maximum of 10 points in the group stage. The Babar Azam-led outfit defeated Bangladesh to keep their campaign alive, but also need to win against New Zealand and England in their two remaining matches while also hoping that the current top four teams - India, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa - lose their remaining matches to stand a chance to qualify.

Mehidy rues lack of stable batting spot

Dhaka: Bangladesh's Mehidy Hasan Miraz has admitted on Tuesday that batting at different positions is difficult for him, and that he prefers a middle-order spot in the ODI set-up. Bangladesh team management have played Mehidy at five different positions in the ongoing OODI World Cup and it seemed to have taken a huge toll considering none of the batters could claim they had a fixed spot in the batting order. Mehidy, who is predominantly a lower middle-order batsman, scored a century against Afghanistan during the Asia Cup and since then team management looked adamant to promote him up instead of letting him play where he was groomed for years together. Bangladesh decided to put Mehidy at number eight during the game against Pakistan after trying him at number three, four, five, and seven in the previous six games and he managed to come up with 30-ball 25 that included one four and one six to help the team cross the 200 mark. "Look I always want to bat in the middle order and I am playing in different positions due to team combination and certainly it becomes difficult for me because you have to see for the last seven years I have played as a lower middle-order batter and I know how to play in that position," Mehidy told reporters after their seven-wicket loss to Pakistan at Eden Garden on Tuesday. "But I think rather than thinking about it if we want to prove as a batter I have to perform wherever I am given a chance and at that point team will have an expectation that I can perform wherever I bat," he said. "The thing that you said where I will bat in the next game it totally dependent on the team combination and, before the game, the decision is taken by team management who will bat where in the batting order and this is done for the sake of the team. Whoever can play, chances are given to him. It is just that we are not clicking and we don't want to blame anyone like one or two guys played badly because we all played badly and we are accepting it," he said. "We lost wickets quickly. Riyadh bhai batted up in the order because he is playing and is currently in a good shape and has the confidence. Considering all these things Riyadh bhai and Mushfiq bhai were promoted up in the order because they have the experience of playing in that position in lot of games. Liton da and Riyadh bhai got a good partnership but if it was a bit more it would have helped," he said. Mehidy added that they will be disappointed if they fail to qualify for the 2025 Champions Trophy. Bangladesh's chances of qualifying for the Champions Trophy are slim after winning just one game in seven outings thus far. According to the ICC, top-seven sides at the end of the league stage will qualify for the tournament along with hosts Pakistan. "If we cannot play Champions Trophy naturally it will hurt us," he said. "I think luck is not favoring us. The batters are playing shots and it is going straight into the hand of the fielders as catches and they are grabbing it and there is something going wrong with the bowling as well," he said. "This hasn't been the case before because we are playing one-day for last three years but somehow luck is not favouring us. Naturally after losing we will be disappointed but this is cricket and there will be wins and losses in matches and we must accept it," he concluded.

Ireland name Paul Stirling as permanent white-ball captain

New Delhi:Senior batter Paul Stirling has been named as the permanent white-ball captain of the men's Ireland team as the national selectors set their sights on the two T20 World Cups and one 50-over showpiece event to be played in the next four years. Andrew Balbirnie will hold onto Test captaincy. Stirling had been appointed as the interim skipper in the white-ball formats this July when Balbirnie stepped down, and has now been offered the role on a full-time basis. The 33-year-old swashbuckling opener has already led the side in 22 matches across the two formats (6 ODIs, 16 T20Is). "Playing for Ireland has always been a source of pride for me and to be confirmed the permanent white-ball captain is a recognition I don't take for granted," Stirling said of his appointment. "I have very much enjoyed working with Heinrich [Malan] and the coaching staff over the last few months as interim skipper, but we all know that we have potentially three world cup campaigns over the next four years and the work starts now. "I said recently that ODI cricket was my favourite format, and to watch on as the 50-over World Cup has been underway is actually been a great motivator for me to ensure we are there at the next event in 2027. I know this desire is a common feeling throughout the squad, and so we'll look to harness this drive into the next series scheduled for December," Stirling added. Head coach Heinrich Malan lauded the appointment and reckoned that Stirling, with his wealth of experience and knowledge, is an asset to the Irish team. Stirling has played in 376 games for Ireland across formats, just 13 short of Kevin O'Brien's record tally. Stirling is also Ireland's highest-ever run-scorer with 11,756 runs across formats. "The last few months of dealing so closely with Paul has confirmed that we have an asset of vast experience and knowledge within the playing group - experience and knowledge he has gained from his time with Ireland, in franchise cricket and formerly within county cricket," Malan said. "While fans may appreciate Paul's talent on the field, his leadership skills and ability to communicate within the squad is a much under-estimated attribute. He lives and breathes cricket and has a passion for Irish cricket that is plain for everyone to see.

New Delhi:"I've got 16 wickets, still no rhythm you think?" smirked Shaheen Afridi, currently the leading wicket-taker in ICC World Cup 2023 to a question about bowling rhythm. It was an answer laced with the attitude of a proud fast bowler, a list Afridi would find a high spot in. It is one amongst the many questions that have tailed Pakistan all along in the tournament. An attack without the presence of Naseem Shah was deemed to have lost a lot of teeth, including Afridi himself. It wasn't that he was lacking wickets, for even when he has been worse for against quality batting, Afridi has managed to sneak in wickets at some stage. Against India, he curtailed a rampaging Rohit Sharma, and against Australia he did enough at the death to leave his team with a chance, albeit a small one. Nevertheless, sneaking in wickets is not what Afridi and Co. had made their name out of. It was about setting the tone. So it did not come as much surprise that, Pakistan's most complete bowling performance of the tournament came on the day when Afridi struck early, and in trademark style in the first over. Tanzid Hasan had a working over with a few shaping away before one nipped in to trap him LBW. The 'Afridi eagle' was out early, and with it calling in all of his partners to join in. While Bangladesh switched up their batting order to recreate some old magic, Pakistan were now ticking. Usama Mir was inspirational inside the ring, first taking a smart low catch, and then making some good stops. On a pitch that wasn't pace-friendly, Afridi was standing out with an opening spell of 3-1-2-2. His replacement, Haris Rauf, threatened to release the pressure getting driven for boundaries thrice in his first five balls before getting it right to have Mushfiqur Rahim caught behind. And Pakistan were buzzing. That it took Pakistan's bowlers until the seventh match to hit their top mark begets the question of rhythm once again, as a collective if not Afridi's alone. The pacer admitted that bowling in India needed some adjustments to be made. "Not surprised," he answered when asked about the new ball not swinging as much. "We've seen a lot of IPL matches and in that there wasn't any swing early on. There's some difference in the ball as well, it's not swinging that much. And it is not just for me, even Mitchell Starc, Trent Boult...we're all trying for it but it's not swinging that much. I think length is the crucial factor." Length, and change of pace were Afridi's key mantras for Pakistan's success today on a "slow surface". "6-7m if you bowl it's difficult to hit early on. Our efforts have been towards bowling with variations. Haris has pace, Wasim has pace and our aim was to bowl in partnerships," explained the pacer who incidentally had become the quickest Pakistan bowler to get 100 ODI wickets. It's a stat that also serves as an indicator for Afridi's adaptability, alongside the wicket-taking ability. If not without the same success, Afridi believes that his team-mates are working towards making adjustments as well for the conditions that have been different in this World Cup. "Haris [Rauf] has a big role in white-ball cricket for Pakistan. The wickets are slow and you'll have to bowl according to that. You see [Lockie] Ferguson, he bowls with so much pace and that's becoming easy to hit. It's necessary to use variations. Haris is trying to do the same, and still he's picked 12 wickets and we'll try to continue that. Mohammad Wasim

Jr, who wrapped up the tail with three quick wickets, also earned the praise of the strike-bowler. "It's difficult to sit out and watch a few games, but Wasim has proven that he has worked on, he's put in some work length-wise. He's got results in the previous game, and now here as well." The trio accounted for 8 wickets and were instrumental in getting Bangladesh bowled out for 204, with the spinners providing an adequate supporting act. Pakistan's batters chased down the total with a vigorous aim towards upping their NRR, which improved from -0.387 to -0.024 eventually. It not only kept alive their hopes of making it to the semifinal but also of restoring some lost pride.
