waiting to complete my treatment in time and go for stage program, when the miracle will come

“I was a completely normal college scholar living a normal life, with normal routines,” says Subhashree Mohapatra, a professional Odishi Dancer in Odisha. But at 19, she was diagnosed with Multi drug-resistant TB (MDR-TB), a form of the disease that is resistant to at least four of the major anti-TB drugs.

“I was at a point in my life where I was beginning to pursue my dreams, but after going to the doctor for a routine test, I was diagnosed with TB,” she says. When the doctor told her she had just to take 18 months course of treatment, she "was heartbroken, and felt everything in my life was slipping away.”

India has the highest burden of TB in the world, and Subhashree had seen the devastating effects of the disease in hospital, one of her colleagues. “I didn't want my family to struggle even more because of me, so I tried not to show my pain. But people stopped coming to our house because I had TB, and they didn't understand that it wasn't my fault. I am not able to dance also as I have severe pain in my leg. I got very depressed said Subhashree.”

Today she is under treatment—and living life to the fullest, but till yet she has pain in her leg. Now her wish is to see the day when TB doesn't exist anymore—and she knows she has an integral part to play through advocacy with Dr Pradeepta Biswal and PMDT coordinator Lokanath Pradhan as she did not receive her sputum cultural report from capital Hospital. She gives the sputum sample three times but yet it is pending and time and again I have to visit the centre. TBC Sujata Pradhan visits subhashree and coordinate with Capital Hospital TU and RMRC that how Subhashree will receive the reports. Lastly with the effort of Sujata, RMRC forwarded the report to LT of NAAT side of capital TU and subhashree received the report which will support subhashree and to Dr. Pradeepta Biswal that to decide the dose and line of treatment. Now subhashree is in a good status of health and under treatment.

“I don't want this to happen to future generations,” she says. “It's very important, especially for girls, to end the stigma surrounding TB. In Bhubaneswar, particularly in city life, females receive less emotional support from family and friends because both the parents are going to outside for their work and neglected to receive their health services properly. But there is the system of follow up of clients and home visit to support their life. We need to speak up.”

One unintended side effect of Subhashree's experience with TB is that it changed the way she views her life style as a dancer.

“It's hard to describe, and people may think it's weird, but everything I see, and everything my dream sees, is a miracle. The fact that I survived was a miracle, so what I am seeing in every step of my performance, but am unable to perform.”

Vivek Agnihotri And Pallavi Joshi Pose For The Paps At 'The Kashmir Files Unreported' Special Screening, Pics Inside

Filmmaker Vivek Agnihotri got massive success from his last release The Kashmir Files which was based on the genocide of Kashmiri Pandits back in the late 80s and early 90s. The film collected over Rs 350 crore worldwide and became the highest-grossing Hindi film of 2022. The maker is now releasing a docuseries titled The Kashmir Files Unreported highlighting the events leading up to the mass exodus of Kashmiri Pandits during that time period. Tonight, Vivek Agnihotri and Pallavi Joshi were snapped by the paps at the special screening of 'The Kashmir Files Unreported.' The pictures from the screening are going viral on social media and fans are excited to experience The Kashmir Files Unreported on Zee5 soon.

Woven together through real life anecdotes, survivor testimonies and archived footages, 'The Kashmir Files Unreported' delves into the historical, ethnical, and geopolitical details, encapsulating the events, mistakes, crimes and circumstances that led to the massacre and mass exodus of Kashmiri Pandits from the valley in the 1990s. It goes on to portray the state of affairs which led to the abrogation of Article 370 and its repercussions on Kashmir today. The narrative is captured via conversations with historians, experts, real life victims and their families.

Despite The Kashmir Files being a massive hit there were polarizing views on the film and it was also called a propaganda film. Reacting to the same Vivek Agnihotri said, "Speaking about The Kashmir Files Unreported premiering on ZEE5 on 11th August, 2023, I feel whenever you make a film on victims, the persecutors generally get offended. For example, if you make a film on Dalit vs Upper cast kind of oppression then the upper cast gets offended. Directly and indirectly, people support terrorism in many ways and for many reasons, for ex: terrorism in Kashmir is supported by the enemies of India so when you expose them, they get offended. Similarly, if you make a film on ISIS, they will get offended and the countries and agencies who are supporting them will call it a propaganda film. So, it is fine. I am pretty okay with that because political films generally generate those kinds of extreme views." He also spoke about the extent of research that went into making The Kashmir Files and The Kashmir Files

Unreported. "The Kashmir Files is a product of what you will see in The Kashmir Files Unreported. Also, this series is only 10-20% of what we have researched because there are hundreds and hundreds of hours' of research. We cannot put everything in hence, we have taken the best part of it and have put it together. So, The Kashmir Files is a feature film portrayal of the same research. Now in The Kashmir Files Unreported, you will get to meet the real characters, see the real incidents the events and you will get to hear people who have felt and lived this reality. This series is the foundation on which The Kashmir Files was made," he added.

Court's Same Sex Marriage Decision: A Victory for Indian Culture

The issue of legal recognition to same sex marriage has been a topic of hot discussion in Indian life for a long time. The Supreme Court has given a truly historic decision by refusing to recognize same sex marriage under the Special Marriage Act. If seen, this decision by the five-judge bench of the Supreme Court is a victory for Indian culture, Indian traditions, life values, values, ideals and Indian-ness. The Supreme Court has also refused to give same-sex couples the right to adopt children. The court's decision not only re-affirms the sentiments and values of the Indian people, but also warns the foreign forces who are conspiring to spoil the social and family character of India by blurring and hurting Indian values, culture and ideals. Certainly, this commendable decision by the Supreme Court is a unique initiative to keep intact and strengthen India's past marriage tradition and culture. The Supreme Court has made it clear that it cannot make laws, it can only interpret them. It is the job of Parliament to make changes in the Special Marriage Act.

Certainly, this comment by the Supreme Court is worth noting. Respected and learned judges have accepted that persons having homosexual or lesbian tendencies should be given the rights that they have as citizens, and they should also be given equal fundamental rights, like other citizens in the social sphere, but as far as their relations with each other are concerned, if it is a matter of marriage, then this matter should be looked into by the elected representatives of the people sitting in the Parliament. By the way, those who stood or still stand in favour of legalizing same sex marriage should understand that marriage has a deeper meaning in Hinduism, marriage, also called marriage, is a social union between two people of opposite sex. Or a religiously recognized union that establishes rights and obligations between those people, as well as between them and any resulting in biological or adopted children and grandchildren. Marriage is a very important practice or sociological institution of human society. It is the core of the smallest unit that makes up society – the family. It is also the main biological means of maintaining the continuity of the human species. Marriage is not just an opportunity to enjoy sexual pleasure, but also a medium to carry forward the lineage. In Indian tradition and culture, through marriage, responsible tasks like maintaining physical relations, creating progeny, nurturing them properly, carrying forward the family tradition and making the progeny useful citizens of the society are also done. Whereas getting legal recognition of gay or lesbian marriages would mean attacking the ancient high and ideal values. It is not surprising that the support for such traditions has increased among the general public, as soon as it has entered the country like a storm from western countries, hence in reality there have been two types of perceptions regarding gay or lesbian marriages in the country. A large section of the country has been opposed to recognizing it at the legal and socio-religious level. That is also because such a free, unruly and arbitrary lifestyle is not allowed anywhere in Indian society. Anyway, wherever it that gay or lesbian marriages cannot be recognized, because husband and wife are defined biologically in the law. Accordingly, both of them also have legal rights. Legalizing gay or lesbian beliefs.

India is a country with unity in diversity. There is opposition to same-sex marriages in almost all religions and sects. Recently such clear voices have been heard in the Sikh community. Akal non-criminal act in 2018 itself; and inspired by this, many pro-gay organizations had filed petitions before the Supreme Court to legalize their marriages, which were opposed by the Central Government. How can the marriage of gays and lesbians be considered perfect? It may not be a marriage, it may be a mutual relationship, but how can it be given the recognition and all the rights of natural marriages? Therefore, considering the social structure of India, if the Central Government opposes the recognition of gay and lesbian marriages, then it cannot be held wrong in any way. Even though such examples have been found in ancient times in India itself or there are many such examples mentioned in religious texts which point towards h o m o s e x u a l relationships, Indian society has always considered such relationships to be sexual, against nature and against social norms, placed in the category of sexual disorder. The sexual relationship between man and woman keeps nature dynamic. The meaning of home and family is the broader form of the results arising from the relationship between man and woman. The relationship between man and woman is the great journey of love and the child born from sexual relationship between these two is the basis for taking the family and lineage forward. M a n - w o m a n relationships are not dependent on any religious belief rather they are a person's own scientific need. For new creation, union of opposite sex is natural, otherwise it is distortion. We cannot corrupt our culture and tradition in the name of blind imitation of the West. Even though times are changing, there are radical changes in traditions and new definitions of human relationships are being created, in India too two adult men and women live together without marriage in the form of live-in r e l a t i o n s h i p . Therefore, if two people of the same sex want to live together, then the society can allow it by respecting their privacy; and their civil rights can also be protected. But as far as the Special Marriage Act is concerned, it can happen only between two people of opposite sex. Amending it would mean changing the conditions of marriage as well as destroying the concept of family.

The art of staying fit during the festival season

Worried about your fitness goals during the festive season? You're not alone. This time of the year can be a minefield for even the most disciplined fitness enthusiasts. As the festive season a p p r o a c h e s , maintaining your fitness goals amidst tempting treats and busy schedules might seem challenging. The festive season means sleeping and waking up late, eating a lot of processed foods, and consuming a lot of sugar, and more alcohol than usual. These may result in gaining weight, having trouble sleeping, and feeling more stressed which can have a negative impact on your body.

While socializing is unavoidable, you do not need to compromise on your health and fitness. How can you do this? 1---Plan Balanced Meals ---

You don't want to get sick during the festive season, do you?

. Be mindful of what you eat Mindful eating means sticking to gluten-free meals as often as possible: This includes bread, roti, random snacks, bread dishes like pizza crackers, etc. Source sweets made from natural sweeteners like dates, honey, and raisins. This will not only benefit you, but also your guests. This will also help you control cravings and overindulgence as natural sugars don't create that addiction.

Opt for lean proteins, whole grains, and plenty of fruits and vegetables. This provides essential nutrients, keeping you energized and reducing the temptation for unhealthy snacks. If you cannot avoid snacking, choose nuts, seeds, fruits, or low-fat yogurt.

. A fistful of pistachios or peanuts will keep you satiated and your blood glucose levels stable.

. Protein-rich snacks also slow down the sugar spike in the body. Also, keep some salads/vegetables with a yogurt dip for healthy snacking. Including more fruits and vegetables in various dishes is a great way to compensate for the festive indulgence. Naturally available foods are rich in fibers, minerals, and nutrients and are fat-free; in short, they are the best way to ensure glowing skin, a healthy gut, and complete wellbeing 2--Stay Hydrated Amidst the festivities, don't forget to drink water. Drinking more water will flush out more toxins. It's that simple. The easiest way to limit your calorie intake is to follow this simple rule. Alcohol and sweets tend to make you dehydrated, which is the last thing you want during a party. Have a glass of water between every drink. Eat some carbohydrates 1 hour before you start drinking. Drinking a few glasses of water before a big party will make you feel fuller, eat less, and get your digestive system going at the same time. Adding a slice of lemon or a few mint leaves will give flavor

Proper hydration supports metabolism, aids digestion and keeps your energy levels up. Avoid excessive sugary drinks and opt for water, herbal teas, or infused water for a refreshing choice. Lime and warm water are a great way to detox your body after those heavy meals and alcohol. Green tea is also a great option to cleanse your body.

3---Exercise Exercise every day, at home or at the gym, for a minimum of 30 minutes to stay energetic and build resistance against diseases. Maintain your workout routine, even if it means shorter sessions. Just some movement, walking, running, dancing, and yoga can leave you feeling refreshed. Exercise can contribute to overall health and fitness by elevating the heart rate, improving blood circulation, and boosting metabolism. Consider festive activities like dancing or walking with family and friends. Physical activity not only burns calories but also boosts your mood. Walking to the nearby stores or to your hang-out spot instead of taking your two/four-wheeler is a healthier alternative. So make dancing a part of the Diwali party and get in some movement and dancercise. Put in your agenda / Decide on a time and stick to it. Many of the festival parties and dinners take place in the Night, So get ready to hit your exercise / yoga session in the Morning .

4--Get Your Quality Sleep From late-night gaming sessions to early-morning rituals, the holiday season can also disrupt the sleep cycle. Lack of sleep can lead to tiredness and several health problems. Getting a good night's sleep during the festive season is very difficult but also necessary. It is also one of the best ways to stay fit and healthy during this season. Make sure you plan your chores for the day accordingly and get at least six to eight hours of sleep Sleep also helps your digestive system recover and your brain to self-clean and organize your thoughts. Getting enough sleep helps to regulate the hormones that control appetite, so you're less likely to overeat if you're well-rested. 5---Learn to say 'No' It is common to push food onto each other's plates as a sign of love and care. It is fine to politely decline the kind gesture if you have already eaten enough. Accept that you can not eat everything in one sitting, so choose for yourself. See the item that will satisfy your stomach and heart at the same time . Select the drink that you like. If you find it hard to say 'no', try to say 'later' instead. This way, you don't seem impolite and hopefully, your host won't remember to press you to eat more

Bengal ready to celebrate Durga Puja

Kolkata (Ambar Mukherjee): The deities are arriving. The finishing touches of decorations of the mandaps are on full swing. Roads are dazzling with g o r g e o u s illuminations. Markets and shopping malls remain overcrowded all throughout the day as men, women and children do their last minute shopping with full spree. Kolkata--- Bengal is ready to host the home coming of Maa Durga, the biggest 4-day festival of the state, which is slated to begin on Saturday. Going by the custom, the Durga pujas start on "Saptami"- which falls on Saturday, though the invocation of the Goddess begins on the day of "Shashti" that is on Friday. And from today more than 30,000 men in uniform started managing the streets of the city every evening till the "B i s h o r j o n" (immersion) of the "Protimas" (idols) are over. There are about 43,000 thousand and community Durga Pujas in the state, including 3,000 in Kolkata alone. Like previous years the West Bengal government providing Rs 70,000 cash incentives to each of the registered clubs to arrange the puja. Thousands of revelers started thronging the mandaps from this afternoon fearing that they might not be able to do their annual "pandal hopping" if there is rain the next few days. But there is no such prediction from the weather office. "We do not feel the puja fever complete without visiting some of the best pujas when the organizers come out new themes in their decorations and illuminations", Anjana Banerjee, a housewife from Ballygunj in South

Kolkata said. "We do not want to take a chance and so we have planned to visit as many pandals as possible on Thursday", said Sajal Biswas of Howrah. In fact, the highest crowd pulling pujas are Mohammad Ali Park, College Square, Vivekananda Sporting Club, Sealdah Athelete, Baghbazar Sarbojanin, Ekdalia Evergreen, Sribhumi etc. Keeping in mind the huge crowds that congregate at various places across the city during the festive season, the city police are setting up watch towers on rooftops and balconies near major puja pandals to keep a close eye on the pandal hoppers. Total

8,000 policemen will be deployed during the festival in the city. Special arrangements have been made to manage the crowds during early morning prayer at Kalighat temple. Different organizations are holding puja contests the results of which will be declared on during the puja days. The police said, once the results are declared the pujas winning the prizes will draw more crowds. "We have made arrangements to provide extra security in these pujas" a senior city police official said.

Commercial primary energy consumption in India has grown by about 700% in the last four decades. The current per capita commercial primary energy consumption in India is nearly 350 kgoe/year. Driven by the rising population, expanding economy and a quest for improved quality of life, energy usage in India is expected to rise. Considering the limited reserve potentiality of petroleum & natural gas, eco-conservation restriction on hydro electric power projects and geo-political perception of nuclear power, coal will continue to occupy the centre-stage of India's energy scenario. Hard coal deposits are spread over 27 major coalfields in India - mainly confined to eastern and south central parts of the country.

On October 18th, just on the verge of the Durga Puja Vacation, he completed his 413th session at P. B. Academic School, Tollygunge, with a lot of fanfare from students of the 6th to 12th grade. This was his 2nd session in this school. As the school was observing 'Anti Bullying Week', the Principal Madhuparna Andrews and the coordinator Camelia Saha Das had specially requested Bobby to shed more light on the extremely harmful social trends of bullying and ragging, those are taking a serious toll on young lives, fatally.

The dedicated and hardworking official photographer of the session was Souryadeep Bhattacharya, assisted by Amit Kumar Mondal. Bobby took stage to start with the most easily available forms of addiction and trends of smoking and alcoholism, those are rampant in

BJP Moves Puri King

Bhubaneswar(KCN): Two days after Congress' massive protest in Puri, a delegation of State BJP today met Gajapati Dibyasingha Deb in his residence here and sought his intervention in opening of the Ratna Bhandar of Shree Jagannath Temple.

The delegation led by former President Samir Mohanty, comprising Puri MLA Jayant Sarangi, Bramhagiri MLA Lalitendu Bidyadhar Mohapatra and senior advocate and leader Pitambar Acharya. Team BJP said the Ratna Bhandar was opened for inventory 45 years ago in 1978. Though Shree Jagannath Temple Act, 1955 has provisioned the opening of the temple's treasury for inventory every three years, the BJD government has ignored it. During its 24-year tenure, the BJD Government always avoided inventory of the treasury. This has led to suspicion and public outcry among Lord Jagannath devotees across the country, they said. Since Gajapati Maharaja is also the Chairman of Shree Jagannath Temple Managing Committee, the BJP leaders sought his intervention to recommend the Government to open the Ratna Bhandar without delay. Shri Mohanty, who filed a PIL in Orissa High Court seeking an order to the government for reopening of the Ratna Bhandar for necessary repairs and inventory, said the State Administration was yet to form a high-level committee for the purpose. In the first week of August, the High Court had asked the Shree Jagannath Temple Administration (SJTA) to constitute a high-level committee within two months for the purpose. The High Court has clearly said that the State Government should reopen the Ratna Bhandar and make an inventory of the jewellery before two months from the day when the Srimandir Committee makes a formal request to the Government for the same, said Acharya. On the other hand, senior BJD leader Nrusingha Charan Sahu accused the opposition BJP of playing politics over the sensitive issue. The HC has given its order and the temple managing committee will take decision in this regard, he said.

“When the BJP-BJD coalition Government was ruling the state, a BJP leader was serving as Law Minister. Why didn't the BJP raise this issue during that period?” he asked. On October 16, Odisha

Pradesh Congress Committee (OPCC) had taken out a protest rally in Puri for reopening of the Ratna Bhandar for necessary repairs and inventory of ornaments and valuables.

SJTA Chief Administrator Ranjan Kumar Das said the Ratna Bhandar is safe and no one should worry about it. He said the matter regarding the special committee would be discussed in the Shree Jagannath Temple Managing Committee meeting and the high court would be duly apprised in this regard.

Drunk man kills wife for dancing at wedding party in Odisha

BALASORE(KCN): In a shocking incident, a man reportedly killed his wife for dancing in a wedding procession without taking his permission at Paikapada village within Oupada police limits in Balasore district on Saturday night. The accused is 43-year-old Ram Singh of Paikapada. The deceased was identified as Sharmila Singh (35). Ram is a driver by profession. Sources said a wedding ceremony was organised by Ram's neighbour on Saturday night. During the marriage procession, some women requested Sharmila to dance with them. Though she refused, the women forcibly dragged her to the middle of the procession and made her dance. Ram, who was also present at the spot, saw Sharmila shaking a leg and became angry. However, he did not express his displeasure and waited for the function to get over. In the meantime, he consumed alcohol with his friends and became completely drunk. After attending the wedding feast, the couple went home. At around 11 pm, a fight broke out between them as Ram yelled at Sharmila for dancing in the procession without his permission. When the woman protested, Ram became furious and in a fit of rage, assaulted her with a digging bar. The couple's two minor kids snatched away the iron bar from Ram's hands but the latter grabbed the handle of an axe and continued to assault Sharmila. The woman bled to death. On hearing the commotion, neighbours rushed to the spot and found Sharmila lying in a pool of blood. They immediately informed the police about the incident. The next morning, a team of Oupada police rushed to the village for investigation. Sub-divisional police officer (SDPO) of Soro Ritesh Kumar Mahapatra said the woman's body was sent for postmortem. Basing on the complaint of the deceased's parents, police registered a case under section 302 of the IPC and arrested the accused. Further investigation is underway.

Bitumen plant of Gopalpur MLA's aide sealed in Kukudakhandi

BERHAMPUR(KCN): An illegal bitumen mix plant at Baulajholi village in Kukudakhandi tehsil of Ganjam district was sealed by the administration on Saturday. Sources said the plant belonging to one Balyaram Dalai was being run by violating the pollution norms since the past many years. Dalai is reportedly a close associate of Gopalpur MLA Pradeep Panigrahi. Locals alleged the illegal plant polluted the area, causing diseases. They had also written to the Ganjam collector and sub-collector and Berhampur SP urging action against the plant several times in the past. Accordingly, basing on collector Dibyajyoti Parida's direction, an enforcement team led by Kukudakhandi tehsildar Kalyani Sanghamitra Devi along with officials from the pollution control board conducted a raid on the area. According to the sale deed, Balyaram's wife Priyanka had 2021 purchased around 750 decimal land in the village along with a stone crusher. The documents, however, reportedly had no mention of the bitumen plant being set up on the said piece of land. Since Dalai failed to produce requisite official permission for running the plant, it was sealed on the charge of being run in violation of environmental laws. However, the fact that the plant continued to operate and stayed out notice of the administration for so long has surprised many.

Mumbai: RELIANCE BRANDS LIMITED (RBL) and Plastic Legno SPA have signed a joint venture arrangement through which RBL will acquire a 40% stake in Plastic Legno SPA's toy manufacturing business in India. This investment by RBL serves a dual purpose, bringing in vertical integration for RBL's toy business and helping diversify the supply chain with a long-term strategic interest in building toy manufacturing in India. Plastic Legno SPA is owned by the Sunino group that boasts of more than 25 years of toy production experience in Europe. The group started its India business in 2009 out of a need to develop a strong production hub that would cater to global markets, but more importantly to the fast evolving and growing Indian market.

"Keeping with our honourable Prime Minister's vision of Atmanirbhar India, this collaboration with Plastic Legno's deep experience in world-class toy manufacturing coupled with our strong footing in the global toy retail industry would open new doors and unparalleled opportunities for toys manufactured in India. It is imperative for RBL to build design to shelf capability for a strategic advantage over the competition and to be an accelerator in building a robust toy manufacturing ecosystem in India not only for domestic consumption but also for global markets," said the spokesperson of Reliance Brands Limited. RBL has a strong play in the Toy industry with its portfolio of Hamleys, the British toy retailer and homegrown toy brand - Rowan, making RBL one of the leading toy distributors. Hamleys currently has a global footprint across 15 countries with 213 doors and is India's largest chain of toy stores. "We are very privileged to have RBL as a partner in this Joint Venture. We are confident that Plastic Legno's experience in Toys production and Hamley's commercial outreach, will complement one another to enable the JV Company to achieve greater heights and successes. We have important development plans to implement, always in the spirit of creating a cultural background in this specific sector in India. We are ready for the challenges of the future, but when there is a group like RBL alongside, we are sure that together we can do a great development," said Paolo Sunino, Co-owner, Sunino Group.

Honda Motorcycle and Scooter India registers 3, 53,188 unit sales

Gurugram: Noting a positive upward movement during the month, Honda Motorcycle and Scooter India today announced its sales numbers for May 2022.

The company's total sales for the month stood at 3,53,188 with 3,20,844 domestic sales and 32,344 exports compared to the subdued market performance for same period last year amidst multiple lockdowns owing to impact from second wave of pandemic.

Commenting on the sales performance in May '22, Mr. Atsushi Ogata, Managing Director, President & CEO, Honda Motorcycle & Scooter India said, "The market is gaining back strength as disturbances in terms of supply side are subsiding coupled with rise in physical presence at office and educational institutions. The sales figures this month remain incomparable from May '21 as frequent lockdowns in wake of second wave marred the performance during this period last year. Growth in domestic as well as international trade continues to complement each other as we approach an early monsoon."

Commissions India's Largest Fleet of Electric Lithium-Ion Forklifts

New Delhi: Vedanta Aluminium, India's largest producer of aluminium, has commissioned India's largest electric fleet of 27 forklifts, powered by lithium-ion batteries. Done in partnership with GEAR (Gemini Equipment and Rentals Private Limited) India, this sets the ball rolling on Vedanta Aluminium's plans to decarbonize its industrial vehicle fleet. All 27 forklifts arrived last month and are being operationalised at the company's aluminium smelter at Jharsuguda, in Odisha, which is the world's largest single-location aluminium smelter, ex-China. Further, as testimony to its endeavours towards increasing gender diversity in core manufacturing operations, Vedanta Aluminium is recruiting and training women to operate these top-of-the-line forklifts. The company has previously hired transgender employees as forklift operators in its aluminium operations at BALCO in Chhattisgarh. These electric forklifts make use of the cutting-edge 'Smart Fleet Management' system to help ensure the highest levels of safety at site. The Smart Fleet Management system uses IOT (Internet of Things) technology to integrate the data collected by intelligent terminals and provide Vedanta Aluminium insights on a real-time basis with respect to forklift speed, access to operate, collision avoidance, optimization analysis for operational efficiency and equipment maintenance, among others.

H&M revels in sunset colours and embellished details for The Festive Collection 2023

Bhubaneswar: H&M India invites you to the season of celebrations with a special collection personified by all things sparkle and shine. Featuring party-ready ensembles, the collection spotlights designs showcasing strong shoulders, cropped tops and draped details among the statement suiting, party dresses and matching sets. Rhinestones, sequins and high-shine fabrics bring sophistication and vibrancy to every piece, while a strong colour palette of hot pink, orange, red, sand, gold and black adds to the celebratory mood. For The Festive Collection, H&M wanted to create a special collection that draws upon beauty and merriment of the season. Draping along the waistline, shoulder lines and across the body accentuate the female form, while long trousers and skirts contrast with alluring cropped tops.

Tonal looks are vital, but the play of different fabrics and embellishment make it playful and modern. "The Festive Collection comes at such a special time of year and we're thrilled with the collection. We were really inspired by the importance of light - candles, lanterns and fireworks - and worked that into a vivid sunset colour palette, but also brought in a lot of sequins, rhinestones and satin.

Clear communication: How India have got non-playing squad members to buy in New Delhi: Thirteen members of India's World Cup squad have already received a gig in the tournament. Mohammed Shami and Suryakumar Yadav have yet to get a chance. R. Ashwin has played only one match while Ishan Kishan stepped in for two games during Shubman Gill's absence. This situation was somewhat inevitable, given that all the players are in exceptional form, and only 11 can be included in the starting lineup. However, it does pose a challenge in player management. How does the team management handle the situation of benching big players like Ashwin and Shami, who have been proven match-winners? "Communication and conversations," said Paras Mhambrey, the team's bowling coach. "Honestly, it is never an easy decision." Shami has been one of the most successful bowlers in white-ball cricket with a strike-rate matched by very few. He is also India's highest wicket-taker in the World Cup among active players. Ashwin has played 116 games and has over 700 international wickets. Then there's the question of Kishan, who has a double century and Suryakumar, the No.1 batter in T20Is and an x-factor in the middle-order. "We had a clear chat with him [them]," Mhambrey revealed. "Whenever we select a squad, the message from us is very clear. That we pick a squad we feel is the best for that wicket. And I think sometimes you will miss out," the bowling coach says, explaining the team's modus operandi. Shami has been overtaken by Mohammed Siraj, who has become second preference for pace bowler's position after Jasprit Bumrah while Ashwin is third in the pecking order of the spinners, after Ravindra Jadeja and Kuldeep Yadav. "Someone like him [Shami] is missing out, someone like Ash will miss out... And I think that's the communication that we have with him, we are very clear. Difficult decision, honestly, even with the quality that he brings to the team, new ball, death, it is difficult to take that decision. But you have to make that decision, you only have an XI on the field. That's a tough call, you have to take that tough call. But I think for us, the conversation has always been team centric, and what's all the decisions that we've taken, not only prior to this game, but the last few years." Shami, Ashwin, and Surya have consistently exhibited remarkable body language when they were not on the field, offering their best support to the XI. On one specific occasion during a game, Shami was seen engaging in a conversation with Siraj near the boundary line. In the very next over, Siraj managed to secure a crucial wicket. This exceptional camaraderie within the team has been fostered by coach Rahul Dravid, who believes in the importance of communication, even at the risk of criticism, as was seen with the Wriddhiman Saha episode. "He does not have to do that always but he does that always," says MSK Prasad, a former chief selector, who himself believed in communicating with players in selection or non-selection. There were many occasions in Indian cricket when many players came out openly stating that they were not told of their exclusion. But communication started in the previous regime of Ravi Shastri-Virat Kohli and the Dravid-Rohit duo has taken this to a new level. The skipper insists on the same philosophy of transparency and communication. "That's the challenge going forward for us as a team, depending on what kind of conditions we play in," Rohit said recently. "If there is a change or two, we need to make, we will be ready with that. And the guys have been informed very well in advance about these kinds of changes. So, I don't think there's going to be any issues with the players."

David Warner calls for umpire stats on big screen

New Delhi: Imagine seeing an umpire's stats about decisions they've got right or wrong through their career as they walk out to the middle during a World Cup game or a Test match. Maybe even very specific numbers about certain types of dismissals, say LBWs, that they're good at judging against some they're not. Well, this could become a thing if David Warner anyway had his way. For, a day after he left the Ekana Stadium in Lucknow in a very enraged state, slamming his bat on the pitch, and not holding back on his emotion, the veteran opener has asked for more accountability from match officials in the wake of a couple of decisions that have gone against Australia in this tournament so far. "I think in terms of what

I'd like to see, this probably won't get across but players' stats go up on the board as you walk out to bat. When they announce the umpires and they come up on the screen. I'd love to see their stats come up on the board as well. Because we see that in National Rugby League (NRL). I know this is a world game but NRL shows those stats. I think the NFL shows those stats. I think it's a great thing for the spectators to see that as well," said Warner. "I think over a period of time. You know, obviously players get dropped for poor performances. It's never explained to us about how what goes on with the panel as well. So it's just an indicator." "But it's just little things that show the spectator. It's not easy. So you know, you can explain where it's not easy, why it's not easy. And then when good decisions are made. And they can explain it. So I just think it's something that could be explored," he added. Warner was given out LBW on the field by umpire Joel Wilson after a delivery from left-arm fast bowler Dilshan Madhushanka struck him on the pad very close to his leg-stump. He reviewed it immediately and Hawk Eye showed that the ball had straightened enough to clip his leg-stump, leading to Warner's rather angry reaction in the middle. And Warner made it very clear that his angst in the moment was more with technology and not directed at umpire Wilson. "The technology provides information. From my perspective it's there to use probably I reckon for the howler not so much for you know, with lbw's these days if you are given out you probably don't really stand a chance. I asked Joel when I was out there just what happened like why did he give it out? He said the ball was swinging back. So, you know, to his credit, if he thinks that then that's why he's given that decision. But then when you see the replay of how it sort of unfolded you get a little bit annoyed. So that's out of our control. There's a lot to say," Warner explained. "I just sprayed out loud in frustration pretty much not just myself but it kept low and normally when something hits me on the leg on the outside, I know it's pretty much going down leg so, you know he said it was swinging back. And from my perspective on the replay, it wasn't."

New Delhi: Mahindra Singh Dhoni is among India's best cricket players that have ever played the game. The veteran is regarded as the greatest skipper to have worn the Indian cricket shirt in history. He led his country to victory in the World Cup twice. He recently met Rajasthan Royals and Kerala cricketer Sanju Samson and their picture together went viral. In addition, Dhoni was perfecting his signature long hair, which was a major asset to the former India captain when he first began playing internationally, nearly 20 years ago. On October 21, England captain Jos Buttler and his teammates will face South Africa. Sanju met his Rajasthan Royals teammate as well after he arrived in Mumbai for the Cricket World Cup 2023 match. England white ball head coach Matthew Mott is keeping his "fingers crossed" and is hoping star all-rounder Ben Stokes will make a full recovery for the ICC World Cup encounter against South Africa. Stokes has missed England's opening three World Cup games due to a hip complaint, and he stood on the sidelines while his teammates suffered crushing defeats to New Zealand and Afghanistan. "We've obviously been relatively conservative with him, but the medical staff were always confident that South Africa was a game we could target. I haven't had a report on him in the last 24 hours, but before that, he was on target," Matthew Mott was quoted as saying by ESPNcricinfo. "So fingers crossed, he can tick off all the things that need to be ticked off and he comes back into that side. He's like the spiritual leader of the group in many ways, and he certainly spoke really well after the game the other day, and spoke about that need to really assert ourselves," he added.

Hathurusingha urges Bangladesh to take inspiration from recent World Cup upsets

New Delhi: Bangladesh head coach Chandika Hathurusingha said on Wednesday that they are taking inspiration from the latest upsets in the ongoing ICC World Cup as they prepare to take on India. The World Cup came to life after Afghanistan beat England while Netherlands defeated New Zealand as it brought some excitement in the tournament and Bangladesh looks keen to join the party by bringing down high-flying India down to earth, who are yet to lose a game in the competition. Bangladesh announced their arrival in the international scene by beating India in the World Cup in 2007 but despite coming close lost their Asian neighbours in 2011, 2015 and 2019 but the tourist can take inspiration from the fact they have beaten India on three occasions in the ODIs during their last four meetings. "Because of what happened in the last week(in the game involving Afghanistan and Netherlands) World Cup is really opening. We are all inspired by that," Chandika Hathurusingha told reporters on Wednesday. "We have six games to go, we still think we can win those games. That's the motivation and inspiration for tomorrow," he said. "We had success in the recent past against India but it is a different ball game in the World Cup. We are hoping to have a complete performance. India, the in-form team in the World Cup, has a not-so-good game, and we play to our potential, it will serve us. We need to start well," he said. "I can only ask my team to do 100 per cent and to give our best. I have no little control of the outcome after that.

If we play to our potential, I think we can beat any team," he added. Hathurusingha said that they are waiting for a scan report of Shakib al Hasan for the quad tear that he sustained in the last game. Shakib, who suffered a slight quad tear during the match against New Zealand, skipped the optional training session on Wednesday at MCA but batted for 45 minutes in the nets on October 17 to see whether he can make him available for the game. "He(Shakib) had a good batting session yesterday. He did a bit of running between the wickets as well. We are waiting for the result of the scan we did today. We haven't tried his bowling yet. We will assess him tomorrow morning, and make a decision," said Hathurusingha. "If he is not ready to play, we won't risk it.

If he is ready, there's a chance of him playing tomorrow," he said adding that there is a process they follow before making a call to include a cricketer coming from injury. "Any injury situation, first, it's the medical staff. They give us their opinion. And either they're green light or red light. They give us education on what the players are, where the players are at. And then if they think that there's no risk and that the player get the choice of playing the game or not, then it comes to captain and the coach to think that is that a risk in terms of playing, in terms of tactically, whether if it is not 100% or you can do one discipline or both discipline. Yeah, that's how the process works," he said while hinted that they might for a change in their playing XI against India. "We have a different combination planned against India. It is according to the wicket and opposition," he said. "You need to have an extra bowling option. The wicket is going to be good. India has a very strong batting line-up. That's one consideration we are thinking of," he said. Despite frequent changes in their batting order, Hathurusingha insisted that they are not unsettled rather they are not performing as per expectation in the ongoing ICC World Cup. Bangladesh have lost three or more wickets inside 100 runs on nine occasions out of their last 11 ODIs, while in every game of the tournament they have come with a different batting line-up that hardly suggest that the batting unit is a settled, though Hathurusingha begs to differ. "We are not unsettled. We are not performing yet to our expectations. I know that the players want to do better. We haven't had a complete performance in the batting group," Hathurusingha told reporters on Wednesday. "The batting order goes by according to our strategy and what we think is our best combination for the game. Those things are communicated to the players well in advance. We have trained the way we want to play as well. No one complains. Sometimes we are successful and sometimes it doesn't work, so we are going to stick to our plan for this World Cup," he said. "Hopefully this game, as we are playing on a really good pitch, and we are expecting to have a complete batting performance tomorrow," he said. "This wicket is probably the best batting wicket we have come across so far. Even the practice wickets were similar. We had a really good net session yesterday. We haven't put up a complete performance with ball and bat. We are expected to do a complete performance. We know that we play as a team and perform to our capabilities, we have beaten big teams. We have done well in the past. I think we, fingers crossed, have one of those days," he added.
